TWELFTH YEAR. MONDAY MORNING, MARCH 9, 1891. ONE CENT

LONDON 'CHANGE EXCITED.

THE TONE OF THE MARKET DEPRESSED AND HEAVY.

The Air Full of Rumors That Positions of Certain Financial Houses are Critical—Suicide of a Member of the Coutts Banking House—Rumored Failure of a Liverpool Broker.

London Stock Exchange.

LONDON, March 8.—During the week past money was plentiful, owing to lessened revenue collections, large treasury disbursements and the reflux of cash recently sent to the provinces as railway dividends. On the Stock Exchange the tone was heavy. The air continues full of rumors that the positions of certain financial houses are critical. In American railway securities values steadily dwindle in response to the downward movement in New York, the depression here being further assisted by other sales owing to the rumored failure of a prominent Liverpool broker. Alarmist rumors appear to have been cabled to New York about the death of Mr. Antrobus. The evidence of the manager of the Coutts Bank at yesterday's inquest was clear upon the financial prosperity of the deceased.

At Paris during the week the Bourse was unsettled, closing weak yesterday on adverse news from Buenos Ayres. Late cables, however, reporting the financial panic over, strengthened prices.

At Berlin business on the Boerse during the week was quiet. Foreign securities were weak. The official details of the issue of the new 3 per cent. show that the Imperial loan was subscribed for 46 times over and the Prussian loan 29½ times over.

At Frankfort business was dull. Foreign securities lost an average of ½ per cent. yesterday.

The panic in financial circles at Buenos Ayres is over and business will be resumed to-morrow. The feeling in the gold market is more quiet and confidence is restored.

AN ENGLISH BANKER'S SUICIDE.

A Partner in Coutts & Co.'s Banking House in London Shoots Himself.

LONDON, March 8.—Mr. Robert Lindsay Antrobus, second son of Sir Edmund Antrobus, Bart., and a junior partner in the well-known banking house of Coutts & Co., London, was found dead in his bed this morning with a pistol by his side. It is believed that Mr. Antrobus committed suicide. The deceased banker was born Aug. 9, 1857, and was not married. The cause of Mr. Antrobus' suicide is not known. He is said to have had no business or social troubles. He was at business yesterday.

IRELAND'S POLITICAL SUNDAY.

What Parnell and the McCarthyites Had to Say Yesterday.

DUBLIN, March 8.—Messrs. Lane and Maurice Healy, members of Parliament, went to Middleton to-day to address an anti-Parnellite meeting. On arriving they were received by the town commissioners. Outside of the station a large crowd hooted at the visitors and a band which had been engaged to escort them to town refused to play, but followed mute. The subsequent meeting, however, was a success, being attended by contingents from every parish in East Cork, headed by priests. Canon Keller supported the meeting and Messrs. Lane and Healy secured a hearty reception. It was announced that Canon Keller would soon start for America on behalf of evicted tenants. The feeling in Middleton is shown by the fact that material required for the construction of the platform for to-day's meeting had been brought from a place six miles outside the town, the local builders refusing to do the work.

In several short speeches yesterday made by Mr. Parnell at stations where his train stopped on the way to Newry he said he was confident that Ulster was as sound for him as other provinces. He did not expect a general election for a year, but would be glad if it came to-morrow. Mr. Parnell was unable to speak at Dundalk where he encountered a hostile reception. On arriving at Newry, however, he was greeted by a friendly concourse of people and was escorted from the railway station to his hotel by a torchlight procession. In replying to-day to addresses from 15 branches of the National League, councils and other organizations, he dwelt on the significance of the presence of deputations "from districts where every dastardly means had been employed to stifle public opinion." He next attacked Justin McCarthy for traducing the memory of John Mitchell in his history. After his usual references to what should be the land and police provisions of the Home Rule bill, Mr. Parnell said that, owing to the comparative absence of industries in Ireland, Irishmen were precluded from a leading part in the great labor movement, but could join hands with British workmen to secure needed legislation and thus show that the "brotherhood of nations as regarded the working class was solid between England and Ireland." An open-air meeting, attended by crowds carrying banners and escorted by bands, followed. The meeting passed a resolution of confidence in Parnell. In the speech which he made in response to the honor done him, Mr. Parnell reminded his hearers that the Liberal party had been as active coercionists as others.

While a Belfast contingent returning from the Newry meeting was passing Tandreagee-street to-day two shots were fired from a carriage, wounding two persons seriously. The occupants of the carriage were detained at Belfast. No weapon was found upon any of them.

The Dublin Trades Council by a vote of 35 to 3 has decided not to take part in the proposed conference on Saturday, at which Parnell has promised to expound his views on the labor council.

The Monaco Murder.

LONDON, March 8.—Further facts brought to light concerning the murder of Dr. Leiderman of Manchester, near San Remo, show that he was killed by a pin similar to those used in pricking cards at the gaming tables at Monte Carlo. The woman who was arrested with her paramour for the murder is a reputed Polish countess. Deceased had been seen gambling in her company. The police believe he was afterwards led to the countess' room and murdered.

THE SHEIKHS ARE HAPPY.

A General Amnesty Extended to All Who Surrendered in the Soudan.

SUAKIM, March 8.—Gen. Grenfell, commander of the Egyptian army, read to an assembly of sheikhs from all parts of the Soudan yesterday the Khedive's proclamation of general amnesty. The proclamation was read with fervent cries of loyalty by the sheikhs. General rejoicings followed and in the evening the town was illuminated.

General Booth Ill.

LONDON, March 8.—General Booth is quite ill, sufficiently so to be confined to his bed for the past few days. The illness is in consequence of an exhausting tour through the north of Europe, during which the General caught a severe cold. He has decided for the present to postpone the great meetings called for next Monday and Tuesday evenings at Exeter Hall.

Fair Trade in England.

LONDON, March 8.—Mr. Vincent's Fair Trade League has been joined by a considerable number of Members of the House of Commons. Among those who have consented to act as vice-presidents of the League are Mr. Galt of Canada, Mr. Spriggs of South Africa and Mr. Vogel of New Zealand.

Oppose the Police Spy System.

LONDON, March 8.—The Parnellites and anti-Parnellites are united in support of a bill in Parliament to put an end to the police spy system known as shadowing. It is provided that shadowing, except it be committed for the purpose of making an arrest with a warrant or upon a charge justifying apprehension without warrant, shall be punishable by a term of imprisonment not exceeding six months with hard labor. The bill also provides for the disarmament of the constabulary and its conversion from a semi-military into a civil force.

DOGS FED ON THE CORPSES.

An Awful Double Butchery in Tours, France.

PARIS, March 8.—The story of a terrible double murder comes from Tours. About a week ago a wealthy aged couple named Delhomais, residing in that city, mysteriously disappeared and their neighbors, thinking there was something wrong, notified the police, who forced the doors of the old couple's house, when the discovery was made that a horrible crime had been committed. Both the man and his wife had been brutally murdered and the house stripped of everything of value that could be conveniently carried away. The bodies of the aged victims presented a ghastly appearance, the household dogs having been driven by hunger to feed upon the corpses, large portions of which had been devoured by the animals. No arrests have as yet been made.

A FIGHT ON THE NIGER.

600 Natives, Including Their Leader, Killed by French Troops in Senegal.

PARIS, March 8.—A despatch from St. Louis, Senegal, says: The French expedition has had a severe battle with the natives at Diano on the Niger River. The French carried the native positions, 11 sharpshooters being killed and many wounded. Six hundred natives were killed, among them being the leader.

THE WAR SHADOW.

France Increasing Her Stock of Cartridges—M. Herbette Talks.

PARIS, March 8.—The Echo de Paris says that the utmost activity now prevails at the military works at Bourges, the Department of War having ordered the amount of cartridges ordinarily produced to be doubled.

The XIXme Siecle publishes an interview with M. Herbette, the Ambassador of France at Berlin, in which the minister says that he considers that in refusing to exhibit at Berlin the French artists obeyed the mandates of a few blusterers. It was, he said, illogical for artists who presented their works at Stuttgart and Munich to decline to do so at Berlin.

With regard to the recent visit of the ex-Empress to Paris, M. Herbette said that it was perhaps imprudent, and added that it was undertaken without anyone having been consulted thereto. The Minister denied that he had been sounded on the subject of the imperial journey, and asserted that the French Government had not been advised of the purpose of the ex-Empress until the day before she arrived in the capital.

THE GERMAN NAVY.

Vigorous Opposition in the Reichstag to the Proposed Increase.

BERLIN, March 8.—By his personal influence the Emperor William has succeeded in preventing the defeat in the Reichstag of the Government on the proposed addition to the navy, but this has only been done by inducing some of the members to abstain from voting. The debate on the subject disclosed the fact that both the Centre and Freisinnige parties were strongly opposed to conceding the amounts required for the construction of two or three gunboats, one ironclad and one despatch boat. The question itself, though not of striking import, became one of serious moment for the Government when the two parties combined to oppose the increase of the navy on general principles.

Emperor William is very much discontented over the defeat of his cherished idea of a grand navy. His Majesty lays the blame for the defeat on the indiscretion of Admiral Hollman in making his disclosures and Chancellor von Caprivi's want of parliamentary tact. Admiral Hollman has offered to resign the secretaryship of the admiralty. The position of Gen. von Caprivi is understood to be critical, although the Emperor ought not to blame the Chancellor for following his orders with a fair display of skill, or for the reverse in the Reichstag succeeding the episode of the Empress Frederick's visit to Paris and the menacing labor conflicts. Imperial circles think the Chancellor is unable to control the combination and prophesy his early downfall.

London Board of Trade Returns.

LONDON, March 8.—The board of trade returns for February last, as compared with those for the corresponding month of the preceding year, show an increase in imports of £2,290,000, and a decrease in exports of £590,000.

AUSTRALIAN FEDERATION.

The Colony of Victoria is Anxious About Her Protective Tariff.

SYDNEY, N.S.W., March 8.—At yesterday's session of the Australian Federation Convention Mr. Munro advocated uniform duties between the federated colonies, but, he added, the interests of Victoria, the protectionist colony, must be guarded, and the conference would fail to do its duty if it allowed the important manufactures which had been created in the colony of Victoria to be ruthlessly dealt with.

Mr. McIlwraith said that if the resolutions in regard to the tariff were passed the federal government could readily be formed, even though all the colonies did not join the federation. The resolutions implied free trade within the federation and protection against the world. Absolute free trade was impossible, owing to the necessity of raising a revenue.

Mr. Deakin of Victoria said that the work of forming a common tariff was a question involving millions of pounds invested in industries built up by protection, and a guarantee must be obtained that the federation would preserve those interests. The constitution should require that existing tariffs should only be reduced a certain percentage in a certain number of years.

A NIHILIST MURDERER CAUGHT.

He Killed the Chief of the Secret Police in 1883.

ST. PETERSBURG, March 8.—Degajeff, the Nihilist leader and murderer of the chief of the secret police in 1883, has been arrested at Kostroma, the capital of the Government of Kostroma. When taken into custody Degajeff was found lodging under an assumed name in the house of a Government official. A reward of 10,000 roubles has for a long time been offered for the capture of Degajeff. The chief instructor at the Kostroma Gymnasium, who was suspected of being implicated with Degajeff either in the actual murder or in the conspiracy which led to it, committed suicide just as the police burst open the door of his room with the intention of arresting him. A number of other arrests have been made and sensational developments are expected.

A NEW M'CARTHYITE PAPER.

Parnell Leadership Fund—The National League Money on Deposit.

DUBLIN, March 8.—The first number of The National Press, the new daily paper devoted to the interests of the McCarthy faction of the Irish Parliamentary Party, was issued to-day. The National Press, in its leading editorial, announces that it will recommend that the policy of years past be pursued, as it resulted in a united Irish party. Further on the new paper characterizes the object of Mr. Parnell's appeal to the United States as not being for aid for the evicted tenants, but to bring grist to the Parnellite mill. It is the intention of the McCarthyites to use the new paper in pushing their campaign against Mr. Parnell, which begins in earnest to-morrow.

The Freeman's Journal to-day publishes the first list of the Parnell leadership fund, the total showing a subscription in one day of £550, and points with pride to this response, sent in a few hours by the subscribers.

The communications which have passed between Messrs. McCarthy and Parnell in relation to the funds of the National League which are in the hands of a banker in Paris were published in the second edition of The Times to-day. After several letters on the subject had passed between Mr. McCarthy and Mr. Parnell, the former offered to agree to an arrangement by which a sum necessary for the immediate wants of the evicted tenants could be released. An agreement of this kind was necessary, as the money was deposited in the joint names of Messrs. McCarthy and Parnell and the late Mr. Biggar. Mr. McCarthy proposed that the sum thus withdrawn should be intrusted to James F. Xavier O'Brien and J. J. Clancy for distribution. In the concluding letter of the series Mr. Parnell, who does not appear to have agreed to Mr. McCarthy's proposition, says that, until some definite plan in regard to the funds is agreed upon, there are sufficient funds in hand to render the sale of any of the securities deposited in Paris unnecessary. He expresses the hope that a permanent plan for the release of the funds will be agreed upon.

CUBAN ANNEXATION.

A Spanish Paper States That Spain Will Have a Say About That.

MADRID, March 8.—The Heraldo, in an article protesting against a supposed scheme of the United States Government to annex the Island of Cuba, says Mr. Blaine ought to recollect that the Congress of American nations plainly proved that Spanish-Americans are not disposed to allow themselves to be absorbed by the great northern republic. The people of Cuba, it says, are strongly Spanish and are equally opposed to becoming a part of the United States. Probably with the exception of a few tradesmen there is no one in the island who is at all desirous of annexation. Spain, The Heraldo continues, would shed her last drop of blood in resisting any attempt to deprive her of her colony, fearing neither a Cuban revolution nor a war with the United States.

The Government Relief Fund.

DUBLIN, March 8.—The Earl of Zetland, Lord-Lieutenant of Ireland, in the course of an address on Saturday, giving a detailed account of the Government relief works, said that 10,000 persons in Clare, Cork, Donegal, Kerry and Mayo were receiving weekly grants of meal, that £10,000 sterling had been set apart to feed school children, and that 5000 suits of clothes had been given out.

The Imperial Family Witness Thermidor.

ST. PETERSBURG, March 8.—Sardou's "Thermidor," which was recently suppressed in Paris, was performed in the French theatre last evening before a large audience which included the Imperial family. The play is regarded here as a failure.

THE DELEGATES SET SAIL.

A Ruction Between the Opposing Parties on the Wharf.

QUEENSTOWN, March 8.—The steamer Etruria, which sailed from here to-day for New York, had among her passengers Messrs. James O'Reilly, John Redmond, John O'Connor and Henry Harrison, members of Parliament, who go to America to raise money as representatives of Mr. Parnell. Thousands of persons came here by train from Cork to express their farewells and good wishes to the delegates, among the visitors being the Mayor and councilmen of Cork, who accompanied the delegates on board the steamer. The Parnellite crowd met with a hostile reception from anti-Parnellites here. The efforts of the former encountered so much resistance that four attempts which they made to present an address to the delegates proved ineffectual. The disorder culminated in the Parnellites attacking their opponents with blackthorns. Police interfered and the Parnellites were finally enabled to present their address. Delegate O'Connor's speech of thanks for the address was interrupted throughout.

Pacific Coast Excursions.

A party of 117 passengers left by the C.P.R. at 11 p.m. Friday for points on the Pacific Coast. For the accommodation of the party the C.P.R. had three of their newly-fitted colonist cars, which have an outfit of bedding furnished similar to the ordinary first-class sleepers. A colored porter accompanied each car. Two baggage cars filled with passengers' luggage went on same train. To see that everything possible was done for the comfort of the passengers, Mr. Dockrell and Mr. Dransfield, from the C.P.R. city ticket office, 24 York-street, accompanied the party part of the way. For dates of the next of these excursions see our advertising columns.

He was about 25 years of age and unmarried and for some years was engaged in Halton as a public school teacher, in which profession he was successful. He was also a non-commissioned officer in 20th Batt.

A Ballot Box Missing.

HAMILTON, March 8.—It is rumored that a ballot box of one of the divisions of the township of Caistor has been stolen. If this is true it will make it difficult to ascertain whether Carpenter or Middleton was elected. Returning Officer Fletcher was in the city yesterday. The ballot boxes from Caistor have not been returned yet, but he had not heard that one of them was stolen. He thinks that all the boxes will be returned to him in time for the count on Tuesday.

LATEST NEWS FROM LONDON.

RENEWED TROUBLE OVER ARGENTINE SECURITIES.

Great Financial Houses Helping Each Other—Not Ready to Give Up Plural Voting — Energy of Parnell's Campaign—Colonial Federation and Tariffs—Sir Charles Dilke and the Purists.

LONDON, March 7.—There has been a revival this week of bear rumors in the Stock Exchange, which are evidently the reflex of the newly aggravated situation in the Argentine. Several houses found it necessary to give each other friendly assistance. The Muriettas have almost ceased to be talked about, because they are now generally admitted to have surmounted their difficulties. Though not customers of the Bank of England, the latter has lent them £500,000 sterling. They have obtained other assistance elsewhere, and their position is now considered stronger than it has been for months past. Three of the largest financial houses of the city were rudely shaken by these bear attacks, but there is no substantial ground for believing that any of them is seriously affected or that we shall witness any big disaster. The suicide of Antrobus, junior partner of Coutts', will not affect that bank.

One interesting topic has been summarily disposed of during the week. I refer to the one man, one vote resolution. The Radicals desire to deprive all the propertied classes of duplicate qualifications and to reduce the period of residence from twelve to three months. Mr. Gladstone took part in the debate, denying any compact of 1885, when the last Reform bill was carried, that such a measure should be regarded as a finality. Mr. Chamberlain's criticism of Mr. Gladstone's speech was one of the ablest efforts of that rival statesman. Mr. Chamberlain was as anxious as Mr. Gladstone for a further extension of the suffrage, but denied its opportuneness. The substantial element of his objection to the Radical proposal was that the resolution only touched the fringe of the grievance. It was useless to nibble at plural voting while Parliament suffered from the remarkable anomalies of the present ratio of representation. The main point of this argument was, of course, leveled against the disproportionate numbers of the Irish representatives. The Gladstonian party were intensely annoyed at the large majority against them on the division, mainly owing to the absence of the Irish members. Mr. Gladstone had counted on substantial support from the McCarthyites, but his wing showed as much indifference as the Parnellites, with the result that the Government secured over 100 majority.

Great interest is felt just now over the new developments in the colonial policy witnessed in South Africa, Canada and Australia. A convention in Sydney is aiming at the confederation of the Australian peoples, the chief obstacle to which lies in tariff arrangements involving less than £500,000 sterling. Actually the outcome of Mr. Rhodes' interviews with Lord Salisbury is of less importance as regards Portugal than in their effect upon federal development in South Africa.

The Canadian election has touched the still greater question of separation. Englishmen are beginning to ask themselves: What will happen should the federalized items of the empire, while indulging in free trade within their borders, nevertheless set up tariff barriers against the Mother Country? Lord Salisbury's speech this week contains some of the strongest declarations ever made on the Conservative side against the British Government departing from free trade conditions. This attitude might have been expected from Mr. Gladstone or the Liberal leaders, but the Conservative party contains many advocates of fair trade, some even demanding protection, and a large number favoring the imposition of differential duties if, thereby, the British colonial "Zollverein" could be secured. This last-named opinion, notwithstanding Lord Salisbury's declaration, is undoubtedly spreading. Scores of Cobdenites have abandoned, or are ready to abandon, their flag now that it has been revealed that no other country besides England is prepared to carry out free trade.

Sir Charles Dilke's determination to stand for the Forest of Dean has revived the hostility of the purist party by reason of his conduct toward Mrs. Crawford. The story that the famous Fanny has been induced to make a statutory declaration against the truth of Mrs. Crawford's statements, denying her own familiarity with Sir Charles and the report of the private committee who are working in order to secure his "whitewashing," have not sufficed to check the action of Mr. Stead and his friends. These gentlemen take their stand chiefly on Sir Charles Dilke's declaration that he would not attempt to enter Parliament until he established his innocence. Mr. Stead declares that if nobody else opposes Sir Charles he will himself take the field against him. If Sir Charles continues his candidature this contest will attract enormous interest, but the belief prevails that at the last moment Sir Charles Dilke will not persist. Defeat would mean absolute destruction to his aspirations, and if his committee of friends have really secured the proofs which they now allege there will be ample time to convince the public of Sir Charles' innocence before the next general election.

They Want to Settle.

HAMILTON, March 8.—Rich and Robinson of Bradford, Pa., the absconding shoe dealers who are confined in jail here, have offered their creditors 40 cents on the dollar as a basis of settlement. This offer has been refused, but it is likely arrangements will be made by which creditors will take about 45 cents. Rich and Robinson, who are both of Jewish persuasion, are getting very tired of jail life. Their wives board in the vicinity of the jail and pay visits to their husbands every afternoon.

VOTED, THEN KILLED HIMSELF.

Sensational Suicide of a Dereham Township Farmer.

BROWNSVILLE, March 8.—Thursday afternoon George Prentice, a well-to-do farmer of that section, went out to his barn and deliberately shot himself through the heart with a revolver. Prentice went out and voted in the morning, and was not thought to be any way deranged. He recently rented his farm and purchased a residence in Brownsville intending to take things easy for the future.

FROZEN TO DEATH.

While Driving to a Neighbor's Two People Drive Into a Gully.

HALIFAX, March 8.—Frederick Squires of Broad Cove and his servant, Lizzie Nöseworthy, were frozen to death near their home at Broad Cove. They were driving to a neighbor's when they missed their way in a storm and drove into a gully and were unable to extricate themselves. The horse was also frozen to death. The girl was 24 and the man 67 years of age.

IMPORTANT WITNESS MISSING.

Particulars of the Arrest of Suspected Murderer Goodwin.

OTTAWA, March 8.—George Goodwin, whose arrest for the murder of old Richard Langford in his barn in Huntley township on Dec. 7 last was telegraphed Friday, was yesterday remanded for a week. Goodwin affects almost complete forgetfulness as to his whereabouts during the first and second weeks in December. "You know a poor fellow like me," he said, "who wanders all over the country without a home is in so many different places in a week or two that he can't always remember where he was at any particular time." His last place of employment, he says, was at Hagarside, a small station on the C.P.R. above Mattawa. Goodwin says that having left Hagarside he took the cars down to Arnprior, and yesterday morning hired a horse and cutter there to drive to Bristol Corners on the opposite side of the Ottawa. According to his own story he lost the road, however, and found himself on the way to Ottawa.

An unwilling witness at the Langford murder inquest was Robert Cassells, whose house was searched the night after the murder. Most reluctantly he admitted that Goodwin had spent the night at his house, and in the course of his evidence told how next morning he ordered Goodwin to go away and never be seen around his house again. Robert Cassells, if reports be true, will never testify in court again; for early in January he disappeared from Sharbot Lake, and is said to have suicided by throwing himself into the river. No trace of the body has been discovered, and the only evidence of the supposed self-murder was the finding of a bundle of his clothes on the ice, and the report that he was seen going in the direction of the river, and was never seen or heard of after.

Medical Education in the United States and Canada.

[The Canadian Practitioner.]

We have received the admirable report on medical education in the different medical colleges of the United States and Canada for the session 1889-90, published by Dr. John H. Rauch, secretary of the Illinois State Board of Health. It contains a vast amount of information about all the colleges, including their requirements, number in attendance for the last ten years, number of graduates, etc.

There are still grand opportunities for raising the standard in some parts of the Union; for instance, we find such records as the following from certain medical schools: "Requirements for admission, none; for graduation, (1) 21 years of age; (2) good moral character; (3) two full courses of lectures; (4) satisfactory examination." We believe that in such the examinations are generally satisfactory. The great republic surely makes a farce of its boasted freedom when it allows such atrocities as these two-year mills to grind out ignorant incompetents to prey on its credulous and gullible citizens.

North America surpasses the world in its machinery for manufacturing doctors. Whence come they and whither do they go? Will the supply soon meet the demand? In Canada there were, last year, 1564 medical students, with 361 graduates. In the United States there were 14,884 students and 4492 graduates. These figures should be encouraging to those who feel nervous about the supply.

Our medical schools are certainly doing good work as far as quantity goes. They are working with heroic patriotism to meet the demand before mentioned. Some of them have still vacant seats, especially for those who wish to take full courses of didactic lectures, frequently repeated. There is a positive charm about lecturing to large classes and raking in proportionate heaps of shekels. Laboratory and bedside work is somewhat slow, difficult and expensive. Modern ideas on these points should be repressed. Those schools which are trying to keep abreast of the times are likely to interfere with vested rights. We are told that such interference would be a monstrous injustice and will not be tolerated in this province at all events.

Some of these matters will shortly be considered by the Ontario Medical Council in revising the curriculum. The divine right of lecturing ad infinitum et ad nauseam is being endangered. Medical students are begging for short intervals between daylight and dark for work in the laboratory, dissecting room, mortuary, hospital and dispensary. But some of our most experienced teachers say that such radicalism should not be encouraged; they have their didactic lectures, carefully prepared many long years ago; let the students attend these courses twice—and thrice, if they wish. A little dissecting and hospital work will be thrown in, but not enough to interfere with the crowning glories of didactic lecturing.

Why bother about new-fangled and useless notions respecting biology, chemistry, pathology and bacteriology? Recent advances in these branches necessitate an amount of study, a division of labor and a vast expenditure which are highly objectionable. If, perchance, the costly appliances for the demonstration of these subjects be brought into the country, and if suitable and well-equipped laboratories be erected, there is a feeling in certain quarters that medical students should be prevented from participating in the benefits to be derived therefrom. We say, however, that such views do not meet with the enthusiastic approval of the profession of Ontario.

INCENDIARIES' FELL WORK.

TERRIBLE REVENGE OF MASKED MEN AT LISTOWEL.

They Gag the Watchman at the Hess Factory After Cutting the Fire Alarm Wire and Tampering With the Water works Pumps—$50,000 Damage Occasioned.

LISTOWEL, March 8.—About 2 o'clock this morning two masked men seized the nightwatchman at Hess Bros.' factory here, tied his hands behind his back, filled his mouth with cotton and tied a wooden gag in his mouth, threw him to the ground and one held him there while the other proceeded to fire the premises in several places. When the watchman was liberated he made his way to the nearest dwelling and by kicking at the door aroused the inmates, when he was freed and the alarm was given. It was found the whole premises were burning beyond control that the pumps in connection with the water works had been tampered with and were useless and also that the wire in connection with the alarm had been cut. Oils used in the factory had been turned on the floor and everything done to make the work of destruction complete. The whole premises are in ruins, with several dwellings and other places damaged. There is about $31,000 insurance on buildings and machinery besides a large amount on the contents. The only companies interested as far as known at present are: Western, $5000; Lancashire, $5000; National of Ireland, $2100.

Liberty Must Wear a Gown.

CHEYENNE, Wyo., March 8.—The members of the lower house of the Wyoming Legislature have entered a protest against the new State seal upon which the figure of Liberty appears as a nude female, instead of the conventional draped figure of the old seal.

The bill adopting this device as the great seal of the State was signed by the governor, but the members of the house have protested so warmly against the nude figure that the governor has signified his intention of using the old or draped seal until the new or nude device can be formally disowned by the next Legislature.

To Purify the Billboards.

MANKATO, Minn., March 8.—After a lively discussion the city council decided yesterday by a vote of 4 to 3 to direct the police to tear down all obscene pictures that may be found in the city, and to keep the billboards free from them.

Particular objection was made to marching Amazons in tights and ballet girls whose dresses didn't reach to the knees.

All such pictures were placed under the ban, and to-day the officers of the law will carry out the order.

Residents on the island will be well supplied with butchers and grocers for the coming season. Mrs. Durnan has rented her Centre Island store to a well-known butcher and grocer in the city. We have good authority that William Ward's house has been taken for the same purpose and there is a report of a butcher and grocer in opposition to Clark at Hanlan's Point.

The boot and shoe manufacturers of the city held a meeting at Cooper & Smith's Saturday afternoon. Struck by an Ice Train.

SARNIA, March 8.—John Brash was on Saturday struck by an ice train at the tunnel yards and badly injured. One leg was cut off and he sustained other injuries which make it almost impossible that he will live. He is about 50 years of age and has a wife and three children.

A MOTHER'S HEROISM.

Her Gallant Rescue of Her Babes From a Burning House.

ST. JOHN'S, Nfld., March 8.—A house at Bay Roberts, occupied by John and George Babcock, was burned a few nights since. The fire originated in the kitchen of the end belonging to John, and the whole down stairs part and the stairs leading to the second floor were in flames before the sleepers had had the least warning of danger. Escape by the stairs was cut off and John, after alarming George, whose end of the house was now on fire, dropped from the second story window to the ground and his wife passed the children out, going from the window to the sleeping room through the flames until she had all except one, when her own night clothing and that of the child she held in her arms took fire and to save herself she had to jump, still retaining her hold of the babe. She had to leave the remaining child to be burned to death. The heroic mother in leaping from the burning house broke one of her legs at the knee joint. All the children are more or less injured by the fire; one of them so much that its life is despaired of. Mrs. Babcock passed through the burning house six times, each time bringing a child in her arms.

Joseph Brothers of Milton Will be Brought Back.

MILTON, March 8.—Government Detective Murray has been here a few days, having been instructed by the Ontario Government to enquire into the circumstances of the Brothers alleged forgery case near here about a year ago, with a view to commencing extradition proceedings. He is satisfied that the charge against Joseph Brothers is fully justified. The case will be pushed, and Brothers will probably be on his way back to Canada very soon. He is now living in California.

A New Cash Register.

This is pre-eminently the age of invention. Labor-saving devices are being sought in every direction. The latest development in this line promises to be one of the most useful and satisfactory in its particular sphere. It is the joint product of the inventive talent of Messrs. John Sharpe and R. H. Reid, both residents of this city. It is a Cash Register and Adding Machine, to be known as the Universal Cash Register, and will be manufactured by the above-named gentlemen under the title of Universal Cash Register Co., at their premises, corner of George and Britain-streets. The machine is a very handsome one, being enclosed in an embossed nickel case of chaste design, with ebony keys and the legend "Your Purchase is Registered Here" engraved upon a handsome top piece. But the external beauty of the machine is secondary to its utility.

The mercantile public is more or less familiar with the machines now on the market, and knowing their defects will readily appreciate the peculiar advantages possessed by the Universal. At a single glance are seen the total sales from 1 cent up to $1,000,000, or to higher figures if desired, without the process of adding as required in other machines. This, the inventors claim, is the only machine that will positively and accurately register four columns of figures simultaneously and at the same time add them to the previous sales, and this by one operation. Thus suppose the previous sales were registered at $213.14 and a purchase amounting to $15.32 is made, by one operation the purchase will be registered and the total sales shown to be $228.46. At the end of the day's business in a few seconds the register can be turned back to zero, or the succeeding day's sales may be registered and added to those gone before until the machine has exhausted itself. Nor can the machine be operated to defraud the proprietor in his absence, as every time the shaft carrying the register desk is revolved that part is shown by a separate register or tell-tale, so that the proprietor may safely go away on his vacation assured that his "cashier" will closely watch his interests. Withal the machine is a marvel of simplicity, as will be seen from the following comparison. Other machines have from 1400 to 1500 pieces, while the Universal has less than 350 all told. Then, as all the working parts are cut from solid steel, its durability is assured. The machine will very shortly be placed upon the market, and intending purchasers would do well to wait for it.

The British Flag O'er All.

A tabulation for the year 1890 shows the decadence of the United States transatlantic shipping trade and the rapidity with which the sailing vessel has been supplanted by steam as a freight carrier. Of the 1006 vessels sailed from New York only five carried the American flag. Only 22 sailing vessels carried grain, and not one of these carried the American flag. Of 44,593,559 bushels of grain shipped only 494,023 bushels were carried by sailing vessels.

British vessels carried the enormous aggregate of 30,455,226 bushels in 625 ship loads. This is within 14,000,000 bushels of the entire trade. Next in order is Germany with 4,210,167 bushels. There are only two nations in the world which had less of the American grain-carrying trade than America. Statistics show that New York no longer sends out the great bulk of grain exported from the western continent.

A Cyclone in Mississippi.

DURANT, Miss., March 8.—News has reached here of a cyclone which struck the region of Newport, Attala county, yesterday. Information is meagre, but it is learned that the cyclone made a clean sweep of houses, barns and trees and two colored people were killed.

The Dead.

William A. Dart, formerly consul-general at Montreal, and one of the most prominent men in Northern New York, died suddenly at his home in Potsdam, N.Y., yesterday of apoplexy at the age of 75.

John Walsh, the noted Fenian, who was selected by the Irish Nationalists of Ireland and England for the task of rescuing the military Fenian prisoners in Western Australia and who, it is said, was wanted by the British Government for suspected complicity in the Phœnix Park affair, died on Wednesday last in an insane asylum in one of New York's suburbs.

The funeral of James Hughes, the late fireman attached to No. 8 hose station, whose death occurred on Friday morning, will take place at 2 o'clock from his father's residence, St. Andrew's Market. Two men from each station will be detailed to attend the funeral. He was highly esteemed by his comrades, and out of respect to his memory the flags at the various fire halls were at half-mast Saturday and yesterday. Hughes, who was unmarried, had been a member of the brigade for five years.

Another figure in the early history of Toronto has been removed, in the person of Billy Gray, who died at his residence, Todmorden, Friday last. Forty years ago, when Toronto was little better than a mud hole, Mr. Gray was one of the leading butchers in the city. His place of business was in St. Lawrence Market, which at that time was surrounded by a stockade similar to that still to be seen at the Old Fort. Billy in his day was famous as the purveyor of the best class of meat in the market, particularly calves, for which he had quite a penchant, it being a by-word that if there was a good calf in the country round about he would be sure to get it. For some years he has lived in retirement. His demise is regretted by a large circle of friends. It is fifty years since he came to Toronto from his native place, Malton, Yorkshire.

MARRIAGES.

BENNETT-TAYLOR—March 7, by the Rev. W. A. Hunter of Erskine Church, Archibald Bennett to Bertha Taylor, both of this city.

PROTESTS IN MANY RIDINGS.

EVERY CLOSE CONSTITUENCY WILL BE RE-OPENED.

The Cabinet Will Meet To-day or To-morrow to Open Negotiations with Washington Respecting Trade and Other Matters—As Many Frontier Counties to be Thrown Open as Possible.

OTTAWA, March 8.—Sir John Macdonald was in bed to-day, but did not deny himself to his friends. He is a little hoarse, but rapidly recovering, and will probably call a Cabinet council either on Monday or Tuesday. He is quite satisfied with the result and determined to fight every constituency where there was a small majority against the Government candidate.

There is a report current here to-day that Hon. Mr. Colby is returned for Stanstead by 30 majority, but it is not yet confirmed.

Sir John will insist on Mr. Carling contesting the result in London and remaining in the Cabinet. There will be no reconstruction of the Government.

All the frontier counties that went against the Government will be re-opened, if the election courts will admit of it, and the fight be made over again. Sir John expects to win a number of these back again.

As to negotiations with Washington in regard to trade and other matters in dispute the Government have not yet come to a decision. That will be the first thing considered at the forthcoming Cabinet meetings.

WHITE TO WIMAN

And Wiman to White—A Tale of Two Telegrams.

NEW YORK, March 8.—"Have you heard the news from Canada?" was the watchword yesterday of the Canadian colony which centres about Erastus Wiman's office. Mr. Wiman's views on the result of the Canadian elections cannot be better expressed than by the answer sent to the following sarcastic telegram from Richard White, a Tory newspaper man of Montreal. Mr. White has exhausted the Canadian vocabulary of bad words on Mr. Wiman's devoted head during the campaign, and yesterday telegraphed him:

MONTREAL, Que., March 6.

To Erastus Wiman, New York:

Have you heard from Canada? We are feeling very happy. RICHARD WHITE.

At Mr. Wiman's direction his private secretary wrote out and sent over the wire the following despatch:

To Richard White, Gazette Office, Montreal, Quebec:

Only the truly good could be happy under such adversity. As the Duke of Wellington said at Waterloo, "The butcher's bill is large." Two Ministers killed, the survivors desperately wounded and the majority cut down at least one-half. I congratulate you on feeling jolly and coming out strong, under the circumstances. ERASTUS WIMAN.

WHAT THEY SAY IN ENGLAND.

The British Press on the Canadian Elections.

LONDON, March 8.—The Post says: Sir John Macdonald's majority is reduced, but his majority is unequivocal, and that is the only vital point to be considered. As her age increases England must either find her strength in the Empire generally or retire from her position as a world-power. The strengthening of the Canadians' loyalty is a sign of vast welcome and import.

The Daily News says: Considering the retirement of Mr. Blake and the mud thrown at the Opposition leaders we are only surprised that Sir John Macdonald's majority was not doubled. The Liberals have reason to look with confidence to the future.

The Telegraph says: We cannot call it a glorious victory, but it is enough and the talk about annexation will not assist Sir John Macdonald's negotiations with the United States, but rather prove a hindrance, and, in fact, the situation that now confronts him is fraught with formidable difficulties.

The Chronicle says: It is shown conclusively that annexation is repugnant to the Canadians. Past experience warrants the belief that Sir John Macdonald will be able to maintain himself in power.

The Standard thinks the success of the loyalists in Canada is as remarkable as it is satisfactory.

Remarking the fact that the border provinces, which are hardest hit by the McKinley act, have returned Liberals, most of the newspapers here canvass the ultimate repeal or modification of the act to strengthen Sir John Macdonald's position.

The Times says the zeal of the American friends of the Canadian Liberals will probably cool when it is discovered that no practical result has crowned their efforts. Whatever may be the elements of weakness in Sir John Macdonald's present position, there seem to be others equally dangerous among the Liberals.

The Majority Still Remains 35.

Later returns have made a few more changes in the composition of each party. Mr. Dawson (Lib.) has been elected in Addington instead of Mr. Bell (Con.) and Hon. Thomas McGreevy (Con.) has been elected in Quebec West, instead of Mr. Hearn (Lib.) as at first reported. The elections in Algoma in Ontario and Huntingdon in Quebec have not yet been held, but granting the former to the Conservatives and the latter to the Liberals, the majority of the Government will remain the same as on Saturday, 35.
