

The congregation of Balderson, Ont., of which Rev. J. S. MacIlraith is pastor, are contemplating building a new church.

Rev. W. J. Dey, M.A., who graduated in 1875, has completed the tenth year of his pastorate in St. Paul's Church, Simcoe.

It is with deep regret that we learn of the death of Robert, eldest son of Rev. R. MacNab, B.A., of Beechburg, Ont., who died quite suddenly a few days ago.

Rev. H. C. Sutherland, B.A., B.D., of Carman, Man., is delivering a course of lectures on the Pilgrim's Progress to his congregation. The course will run throughout the winter.

Rev. D. Currie, M.A., B.D., of Perth, Ont., recently preached annual missionary addresses in Middleville and on the following Monday evening he lectured in the New Hall, on "A Trip through Great Britain," to a large and delighted audience.

Rev. A. Mahaffy, B.A., of Milton, has accepted a call to Port Elgin, Ont. The salary promised is $850 and a manse, with four weeks' holidays. The JOURNAL congratulates Mr. Mahaffy on his recent marriage. This item of news escaped our notice last month.

Rev. N. A. MacLeod, B.D., of New Edinburgh, Que., was presented with a gold headed cane by the people of Apple Hill. This was to show Mr. MacLeod their appreciation of his services during the two weeks in which he assisted Rev. D. D. MacLennan with revival services.

The congregation of East Gloucester has decided to give a call to Rev. D. D. Millar, their former pastor, if he is willing to accept when he leaves college in the spring. This speaks well for Mr. Millar's labour in that place. We understand that he has also received a call to Hemmingford, Que.

Rev. J. R. MacLeod, of St. Andrew's Church, Three Rivers was presented on Christmas eve with a rich Geneva pulpit gown and cassock, by his congregation as a token of their esteem and love. Other members of the family were also given evidence of the congregation's interest in them.
