TOLD OF THE CHIEF JUSTICE.

AMONG a number of amusing scenes and incidents that have occurred at various times during the Supreme Court sitting, it is related that, not many years ago, an Ottawa barrister, who was, as he supposed, on rather familiar terms with the present Chief-Justice, was arguing a habeas corpus case. The judges were not inclined to hear him, when the lawyer remarked that the Statute imposed certain duties upon Supreme Court

Judges which they could not endeavor to shirk. "I am not going to sit here and listen to language of that sort," remarked Mr. Justice Strong, in a rather angry tone. "What is that, Mr. Strong?" queried the lawyer, who had not apparently heard his lordship's remark. "Mr. Strong!" roared the judge, now thoroughly enraged. "Is that the way to address a Judge of the Supreme Court? I leave the bench." And with these words he left for the library. The lawyer tried to go on, but as there had only been five judges sitting, there was no quorum. At last Mr. Strong was sent for, and when he took his seat the lawyer apologized for his faux pas.—Canadian Green Bay.
