

Possible Further Action

Possible further action given South Africa's vulnerability in particular areas.

Time-Frame and Modalities

An initial study concluded within a period of, say, not more than six months could be followed up by updating and extending the enquiry to further areas, as the situation evolves, at periodic intervals. The Secretary-General in consultation with the Chairman will arrange for the study to be undertaken in a manner that would inter alia permit the issue of interim reports or segments of the study to members of the Committee from time to time.