

The Address—Mr. Danson

get their hands dirty and to have their backs aching. They will not mind that. I am sure they will want the challenge. We have not been providing it for them. Mr. Speaker, I urge that my suggestions receive the most serious consideration by all members in the House. I see that it is ten o'clock.

Mr. Speaker: Order, please. It being ten o'clock, the House stands adjourned until eleven o'clock tomorrow morning.

At ten o'clock the House adjourned, without question put, pursuant to Standing Order.
