

CHAPTER X.

En route for Lake Simcoe—Advice on the purchasing of land—Travellers' notes not always to be depended on—Canadian Stage coaches—Yonge Street—Great rise of land in some parts of Canada—Beautiful farms—Life "below-stairs"—Delays at Taverns—Emigrants warned against intemperance—Reflections on "teetotalism"—Churchmen affectionately urged to watchfulness—Combination of Dissenters against the Church . 98

CHAPTER XI.

Swamp and muddy river—Good snipe shooting—Conveyance to steamer from Holland landing—Fever and ague—Groundless alarm to emigrants—Much depends on locality—Quotation from Chambers' Information for the people—Partial failure of the settlement there described—Dissatisfaction of the settlers—Reasons of their failure—Capital too hastily sunk—An "overgrown" establishment—Barrie—Comfortable hotel—Attempt at self-acting saw-mill—Prettily situated rectory-house . 111

CHAPTER XII.

Narrows and upper lake—Indian village—Picturesque scene—Orillia—Proposed water communication by lake Simcoe between lake Huron and the St. Lawrence—Pretty farm for sale—The author visits a lot near Orillia—Bewildering effect of "the bush" at first—Experience teachers—Report of a bear—Dread of bears and wolves incidental to settlers at first—Scarcely any real danger—One fatal instance—Bear fight on lake Simcoe—intrep-idity of a settler's daughter—Desperate fight with three wolves on the Ottawa—Return to Toronto—The "Sharon" settlement —David Wilson and the Davidites—The meeting-house and
"Temple"—Mode of performing services—The annual feast—The nunnery—David's moral character called in question . 118

Visit
from the
—A
terr
men
of E imm
—W
the
imp
rap
stea
plat
case whir
its volu
water
catic

The o
in t whin
Wh
seer
—V
look
and