General Wolfe finding no farther Resistance to be made, took Possession of the Heights to the Lest of the Falls of Montmorency, and which commanded all the Country to the Right; there fixed his own Camp, and fortified it with Entrenchments towards the Wood; he erected likewise a strong Battery, which enfiladed and raked the Camp of the Chevalier De Levy, and would have reduced him to the Necesfity of quitting it, had he not thrown up Traverses' to secure it from the Cannon. General Wolfe being Master of the Shore Side to the Left of the Falls of Montmorency, made no farther Advances, the Object he had in View was, to make an Attack upon our Camp , but the opposite Banks of the River where he was obliged to cross, were so high and steep, and the little Safety there was in passing a Ford he had but a flender Knowledge of, together with the Number of thick Woods which covered the Country round, presented such a Variety of Difficulties to him, as were not eafily to be furmounted; however by drawing our Attention another Way, and obliging us to " divide our Forces, he flattered himself, he should in the End accomplish his Design.

With this View, he caused * two Ships to pass above the Town of 18th. Quebec. This Movement did not much alarm us at first, but others soon after taking the same Route, and this little Fleet increasing every Day, Banks of Earth thrown perpendicularly across a Line to intercept the Enemy's Shot, and to prevent its being raked. These Traverses are sometimes six or seven Feet high, especially if the Line is commanded by any Eminence, and about 12 or 18 Feet thick, so as to be Cannon Proof; a Communication is preserved at one End of the Traverse, by leaving a Passage five or fix Feet wide.

" I had Hopes that possibly Means might be found of passing the River above, so as to fight the Marquis De Montealm upon Terms of less Disadvantage, than directly attacking his Entrenchments. Wolfe.

" In reconnoitring the River Montmorency, we found it fordable at a Place about three Miles up, but the opposite Bank was intrenched, and so sleep and woody, that it was to no Purpose to attempt a Passage there." Wolfe.

w " However to divide the Enemy's Force, &c." Wolfe.

x " On the 17th, I ordered Captain Rous of the Sutherland to proceed with the first " fair Wind and Night-Tide above the Town of Quebec, and to take with him his Ma-" jesty's Ships Diana and Squirrel with two armed Sloops, and two Catts loaded with Pro-
