

SPRING'S HERE

TO A DEBATE WITH LANDRY

But Promises Senator That La Patrie Will Give a Fair Hearing to His Arguments on Questions at Issue.

Montreal, April 27.—(Special).—Hon. Mr. Tarte has declined Senator Landry's challenge to meet him on the platform and discuss the school question.

The senator wrote him: "Sir Willard will have to be satisfied to deliver all his people before judgment is rendered in the Valley of Jehoshaphat. Why not have an immediate judgment in providing that of the electorate? Let us open the eyes of our countrymen before it is too late and make these good people who do not understand the first word of the question feel that it is a question of saving sacred rights or keeping Laurier in power."

It is a question of a race or a man. You are for the man, we are for the race. If you are so disposed you may have with you Laurier and Fitzpatrick while I will have the right to select equally two companions in arms."

And now, dear senator, I do not feel the least inclined to play a role in the political game which you propose. I consider that it is urgent for the salvation of our race that your voice should be heard at Quebec, Sherbrooke and Montreal then transport your person to those towns, open your mouth and speak for the people. Invite our fellow citizens and speak.

La Patrie will give to your harangues that publicity which they deserve. Believe me, my dear senator, yours faithfully.

J. Israel Tarte.

TRUBLE BREWS OVER SOME WORK AT DUNDURN—THIEVES AT SMALLPOX HOSPITAL.

Hamilton, April 27.—(Special).—At this evening session of the senate, A. A. Lee threatened to resign because, after he had given an order to have some plumbing done at the Dundurn Castle, Superintendent Weaver countermanded the order, and sent Mr. Ald. Wallace to get a man to do the work. Chairman Walker and Geo. Wild upheld the superintendent, the chairman declaring that Ald. Wallace was the best plumber in the city. Lee said that he would see that Ald. Wallace's bill was not paid, as it was not legal for a member to take money for city work. P. Thompson was given the contract of painting the exterior of Dundurn Castle at $28.

Senator Kennedy, Pittsburg, and his solicitor, General Taylor, who will support the money for the Hamilton, Brantford and Hamilton Rivers and Guelph Electric Railways, arrived in this morning. Building operations on both roads will be commenced as soon as possible.

By his country and order had to be taken to the City Hospital with dentonitis.

Burglars at Smallpox Hospital.

A bold gang of thieves broke into the smallpox hospital and stole the provisions sent for the patients.

James Burgess, proprietor of the Union Hotel, had a stroke of paralysis this evening, and is not expected to recover.

Stuart Strathay addressed the Hamilton Scientific Association this evening on the "Origin of Banking in England."

The finance committee and the hospital governors met this afternoon to see if the cost of the proposed hospital wing could not be cut down to the estimate. The aldermen turned it over to the governors, who will meet again, this week.

This was the finding of the jury this evening in the inquiry held by Coroner Philip on the death of James Bradd, the youth who was electrocuted on the stage of the Grand Opera House last Friday evening. The deceased came to his death by electricity through the neglect of some person we are not to say whom. Manager Lounsbury said that Bradd was not employed by him, but was engaged by the company.

Walter Noyes, a clergyman, addressed this evening in the school room of the Church of the Ascension to the Brotherhood of St. Andrew of the death of the brotherhood men. He said that he used to smoke ten or fifteen cigars a day, but he gave up smoking when he came to the church.

James A. Reding, proprietor of the Simcoe Hotel, was fined $20 this morning for a technical breach of the license act. It was shown that one of the hotel employees drank a glass of beer for himself after hours. Mr. Reding will appeal.

Rice Carson, jr., was this morning committed for trial on the charge of theft. He is charged with having stolen a watch from a man who had come to try him, but his worship declined, saying that he was prejudiced against the prisoner.

Repairs to the asphalt pavement will be commenced next Monday.

Owing to atrocious bricks contractors will not undertake any new jobs until June 1.

The members of the St. Highlanders who will go to New York City have been chosen. Major Bruce and Adjutant Bell will have charge of the contingent.

The address of Mr. Hamilton was particularly directed to the degradation of the drunkard, and the only man who has ever been elected to the position of mayor of this city is a drunkard.

Brooklyn Eagle: It seems strange at first thought that this region north from the metropolis than Louisiana is south of it should at this late period remain largely unexplored. We have mapped Africa, from the Mediterranean to the Cape; we have explored the coasts behind the almost impenetrable ice barrier of the Antarctic; we have nearly circumnavigated Greenland and crossed the continent in some several directions; Australia, with an area larger than that of the United States, has been explored by the geographer, and there are no more islands inhabited by Lilliputians. Hoynas and the few secretaries, lying beyond the 32nd parallel, is mapped provisionally rather than in accordance with close and accurate surveys.

Within recent years the mystery of Labrador has been a lure to adventurous spirits, and lives have been lost in the endeavor to reach the north. The accumulation of perils and difficulties has never been other than a deterrent to the explorer, who has sought to overcome them. Hence it is not surprising that Dillon Wallace, the Brooklyn lawyer, who has already made some efforts to penetrate the forbidding country, should have resolved on another expedition, which he is about to undertake in company with a couple of young scientists and an Indian guide. He expects to reach the head of the George River, to subsist mostly on pemican, each of the party receiving 15 pounds of pemican per day, and to reach home in November.

Trail breaking is a hard pursuit, but the distances to be covered are not so small relatively to those covered by such explorers as Lewis and Clarke, Pike, Long, Fremont, and especially by the early Spanish explorers in the southwest, that they can be undertaken with a certain confidence. The rocks and scrub of the north are not more baffling than are the waterless deserts with their convulsions and their scarcity of living things. Earlier attempts to enlarge our knowledge of this region often came to a quick and fruitless end because of the giving out of supplies. The exploring party carries heavier loads and make slower progress. Game is not so plentiful in Labrador as it is on the other side of the continent, and the explorer must prepare against starvation.

It is not likely that other results will come of the endeavor to penetrate the wilds than the addition to our fund of knowledge; for men will never rest content until they know the earth on which fortune has cast them, nor should they do so; yet it is not impossible that in the geological survey which will be attempted, cursory as it must be, mineral resources will be developed. We know that there is gold just across the straits in Newfoundland, and coal in several adjacent sections, iron, tin, nickel, and mica, and asbestos; and should any of these be found in paying quantities we shall see the opening of the new strange country, the piercing of it with roads and railways, the deepening of its harbors, the sprinkling of it with towns and trading stations. In half a century it may seem as strange that Labrador should have been unknown in 1905 as now seems strange to us that the Great Basin of the West was unknown a century ago. Success to Mr. Wallace and his associates.

Increasing His Capacity.

An east side youngster, who is much more conversant with the business of the day, was shocked by his mother's painful cry. He had eaten with his desert, a large piece of cake, and the hostess, when he had finished, asked if he could not eat another piece of plum cake. Little Johnny looked slyly out of the corner of his eye at his mother, then disregarding her warning, turned to the hostess and said: "Perhaps I could, if I stood up."

FEVERISH PHASE 'SQUAWMAN' ONE OF SEASON'S SUCCESSSES

New Four Act Comedy Drama Pleases Shows New Phases of American Life.

Despite its anything but attractive name, "The Squawman," presented at the Princess last night, resulted in one of the most pronounced of the season's successes. It is a four-act comedy-drama, by Edwin Milton Royle, and was produced on Monday in Buffalo by the trust property of the theatre.

The play was specially written for the Princess, and is a comedy-drama, when the hero, Capt. James Wynne, in order to save the honor of his family, takes upon himself the guilt of his cousin, the Earl of Korhili, who is a water-lark station on the Union Pacific Railroad, and a shipping agent, and becomes involved in a quarrel with "Cash" Hawkins, described as a hustler and a bad man. He is eventually rescued by Nat-rich, the daughter of Tabby-wana, peace chief of the Ute Indians.
