FUTURE WAR HORRORS

Shelled From Distance of 300 Miles.

March 23.—Speaking at St. John, George Barnes, M. P., visualized the pace in the next twenty years, time, supposing made the same march forward the past twenty years. Each of great nations would have, tens of thousands of aircraft, much bigger and more formidable than those used in the late war. Paris, which had been shelled from a distance of seventy miles, might be shelled in the next war from a distance of 300 to 400 miles. That war must be prevented, otherwise it would be the end of civilization. It would be prevented only by the League of Nations. Once he thought that democracy could prevent war, but they found that today democracy was just as selfish and just as contentious as autocracy, and that working people took a narrow and selfish view of their interests.

THINK MEMBERS' EXPENSES SHOULD BE FURNISHED

Committee on British M. P.'s Salaries Recommend Free Postage and Traveling Costs.

London, March 23.—(By mail, Canadian Associated Press.)—Some interesting reading is furnished in the report of the committee which has been enquiring into the expenses of members of the British House of Commons. Members receive at present £400 a year as salary, or seasonal allowance, and there is no relief at present in the way of free traveling allowance or free postage. The committee agree that if £400 was necessary in 1914 it is inadequate today, but they do not recommend at present any alteration in the figure, although they advocate the grant of free postage, and free first-class travel to members' constituencies.

Dan Irving, Socialist M. P. for Burnley, told the committee that out of his £400 he pays £105 for a third-class railway pass.

"I cannot afford to give up my home," he explained. "An M. P.'s situation is very precarious, it may last some years. It may not last even months—you never know. Therefore I have to keep two homes. It is not that I elect to keep two homes going, it is because I must."

His home at Burnley, he said, costs £2 a week, and in London it costs him about £55, or 55s. a week for single-room lodging, food, postage.

"These items alone," he proceeded, "bring me up to £270 a year. That does not give me a penny piece for clothing either for myself or my wife."

Mr. W. Adamson, M. P. (until recently chairman of the labor party), expressed the opinion that the salary should be £800, in addition to an open railway pass.

His first-class railway pass, he said, cost him £180 a year, and that did not provide for extras. If he used a sleeper, for instance, it would cost him another £2 a week.

There were also hotel expenses, and keeping those down to bedrock figures it meant another £100. Postage he put at £15 a year. The figures totalled £375.

Mr. Adamson proceeded:

To a working man, with no knowledge of the way money goes when living in London and traveling about the country, as a member of parliament has to do, £400 a year may seem a large sum, but when he begins to try and divide that up he very quickly realizes where he is.

RAID JAIL, HANG, NEGRO.

Party of Mississippians Hang Alleged Slayer of Negro Woman.

Hattiesburg, Miss., March 23.—Held on a charge of killing a negro woman, Arthur Jennings, a negro, was taken from the county jail here by armed men. Later his body was found hanging in a tree on the outskirts of the city. Jennings before submitting to arrest fired several shots at policemen and feeling against him has been bitter.

According to Deputy Jailor Herrington, fifteen men came to the jail about 1:30 o'clock this morning, covered Jailer McKenzie with guns, ordered him to turn out the jail lights and taking his keys, proceeded to the negro ward and informed Jennings they were "from Columbia and had come for him." They placed him in an automobile and quietly proceeded to the spot where his body was found.

SPENDING ONE-THIRD OF HER INCOME ON NAVY CONSTRUCTION

London, March 23.—Japan in 1927 will have a fleet equal to that of America and this will relegate the British navy to third place, says a Tokyo despatch to the Daily Express today.

The Tokyo government, it is added, is spending one-third of the national income on the Japanese navy with the 1927 programme calling for eight battleships and eight cruisers not more than eight years old.

The Japanese navy, it is pointed out, was never that of the American than the German was to the British in 1914, and Japan today is spending five times as much on her navy as Germany did in the pre-war days.

The supposition, the Express correspondent adds, is that Japan wants to be able to resist any possible pressure from America in her Far East programme.
