A LOVELY SATIN.

A stunning frock in tango satin made with blouse bodice and skirt, having an upper section rounded away at the front. The Japanese collar is of plain silk.

The beautiful tango shades of satin are among the most fashionable materials for summer frocks. Not very many yards are required to make this effective model, as most of the new satins are double width.

The skirt has an upper section that is rounded away at the front and made in full effect at the sides. The waist has a vest of its own material, but the satin is laid in very fine tucks. Chiffon trills outline the front and sleeves. The turn-down collar may be of white silk or satin.

The waist is made with a lining, and as it requires quite a little work to-day's lesson will be devoted to its cutting and construction. Five yards of satin will be needed for the dress. In cutting out the waist, the outer front, back and cap sleeve, marked (H) and indicated by triple "TIT" perforations, are laid on a lengthwise fold of the satin. The Japanese collar and collar sections are also arranged in this way. The vest and neck ruffle are placed on a lengthwise thread of the satin. If short sleeves are used, cut off the lower part of the pattern, and the neck may be cut in either square, round or V-shaped outline by following the perforations made for this purpose.

The lining and sleeves are made first. These do not differ from any of the directions that have been given in this series of articles recently. In making the satin overdress, however, the under-arm seams are first closed; then the lower edge is gathered to fit into the waist-line comfortably. The cut seams are then closed and turned back and the Japanese collar added. "TIT" perforations, sew to front and under-neck collar as notches. Arrange outside on lining, center-back and under-arm seams even; stitch gathers to position, bringing lower front edge to double "O" perforation at lower edge of lining. Bring single large "O" perforations in lining and outer fronts together and tack. Center-front of solum indicated by large "O" perforations. Close back seam, sew to lower edge of waist, centers even.

The belt can be of the same material with very good effect and finished with a plain bow at the back or in any desired way.

AMUSEMENTS

THEY ALL LIKED THE RED ROSE AT OPERA HOUSE

Big Fisher Production Greeted By Great Audience and Scores Hit With All.

It was apparent from the heartiness of the reception accorded John C. Fisher's big company in "The Red Rose" at the Opera House last night, that the dainty, charming, fascinating music festival had lost none of its popularity won on a former visit—in fact if anything it seemed to have increased. St. John theatre-goers have been musically hungry, and this wonderful account in part for the particularly large audience last evening.

And how they relished the pretty, tuneful, jingling songs and arias! The various numbers were given a most enthusiastic reception and they well deserved it. Mention must be made of several of the numbers which are outstanding as "Men, Men, Men," in which the prima donna, Miss Lottie Kendall, who last appeared in St. John with "The Gay Musician" scored a distinct hit, aided by the male members of the company. Another pretty number in which she shone was "Queen of the Vanity Fair," while Al Ruah, who last played in St. John with "The Alaskan" shared honors with her in the singing of a haunting fixture "Come Along, My Cherie."

There were other pleasing hits and the solos of Henri LaBonté were a delightful treat. He was several times encored. The scenic mountings and fixtures were in harmony with the setting of act second in the baron's castle, being of rare excellence. Of the company, it may be said that they are very nicely balanced, have excellent voices, are clever in the "light fantastic" and the ladies are pretty, while all enter into the spirit of the piece with vigor and zest. ## Hints for the Cook

Coconut Cake.

Two beaten eggs, two tablespoonsful of butter, one cup sugar, half cup milk, two cups flour, one cup coconut soaked in milk, half teaspoonful soda, one teaspoonful cream of tartar.

Brown Bread.

Three gills of water, one gill of molasses, two teaspoons of saleratus, dissolved in water, one teaspoon salt, and a half cups of cornmeal, two cups of rye or Graham meal, or enough to make thick batter. Steam three hours.

Prune Tapioca Pudding

Soak separately over night 1 1/2 cup of tapioca, 1-2 pound prunes, in about 2 cups of water each. In the morning add 1 1/2 cups of water to the tapioca and boil till clear and transparent. Boil the prunes till soft, then remove the stones and cut in small pieces and add to the tapioca and the juice also. Add 1 1/2 cups of sugar and boil together 1/2 hour. Before pouring into mold, add a little lemon extract. Serve cold with plain or whipped cream.

Had Nervous Prostration and Frequent Headaches

After Two Doctors Had Failed She Began Using Dr. Chase's Nerve Food and Was Completely Cured Two Years Ago

Most doctors feel helpless when brought face to face with nervous prostration. They do not understand diseases of the nerves very well, and recovery is often so slow that both doctor and patient lose patience.

For this reason the results accomplished by Dr. Chase's Nerve Food are almost beyond belief. And yet this treatment does not perform miracles, but works in the most natural way imaginable to produce health and strength.

Here is described a case of three years' standing which was thoroughly cured a year ago by Dr. Chase's Nerve Food. It is like thousands of other cases which are being brought about by this great nerve restorative.

Mrs. H. C. Jones, Scotch Lake, C. B., writes: "I suffered from nervous prostration for nearly three years. I had frequent headaches, had no appetite and was troubled with my heart. After consulting two doctors without obtaining satisfactory results I began the use of Dr. Chase's Nerve Food, and was completely cured by this treatment. It is nearly a year since I was cured, and I want others to know of this splendid medicine. I now attend to my household work with pleasure and comfort, and am glad to have the opportunity of recommending Dr. Chase's Nerve Food."

By noting your increase in weight you can prove beyond question the benefit that your system is obtaining from the use of this great food cure. Dr. Chase's Nerve Food, 50 cents a box, 6 for $2.50, all dealers, or Edmondson, Bates & Co., Ltd., Toronto.
