One Cause of Canada's Development

If there are a million more people in the West today than there were twelve years ago, the major credit is due to Mr. Sifton. When he went to Ottawa as Minister of the Interior he knew what the West wanted, and he set about getting it. The West had had plenty of eloquent prophecy, but it was without the population through whom alone the prophecies could be realized. His work was to get them. He got them. And on getting them and putting them on the prairies, he gave old Canada what, in Mr. Blake's famous phrase were Canada's great needs—men, money and markets. A million people on 200,000 Western farms have given steadiness and stability to the Eastern industry, and money has poured into Canada to aid in every development made urgent by the new conditions.—Montreal Herald.

Life Will be Shortened

Those who fail to observe the fundamental rules of health, especially those who neglect constipation, will have short lives. Costiveness ruins health, destroys vitality, weakens the blood, causes dyspepsia, nervousness and insomnia. Why not use Dr. Hamilton's Pills and be cured. Take one or two pills before retiring and you're well next morning. No grip or pain, no headache and nausea when you use Dr. Hamilton's Pills—they cure scientifically. Positively the best laxative known, 25c. at all dealers.

They Knew It Was Loaded

Maxim was showing his gun recently to a group of skeptics. A pile of civildirectories was stacked up against the wall. He aimed the gun and pulled the trigger. "Why didn't it go off?" asked one of the skeptics. "Look at the directories," was the reply of the inventor. Two of them had been pierced. Now, if you will stop to consider the possibilities of a weapon of this sort, you will have food for thought for some time. A few weeks later an Army Board tested the Maxim rifle at Springfield, Mass. Mr. Maxim, in an automobile circled the rifle butts, discharging his gun at various points. In not one single case could the board agree when the shots came. And even at the distance of 250 yards they could judge the direction only from a guess based on the whir of the bullet. Not satisfied with these improvements, inventors the world over are still seeking to advance by some new principle so that they can make guns not only smokeless, flashless and noiseless, but also recoilless.—Hampton's Broadway Magazine for November.

Of Interest to Women

The question of a wife's duty to the parents of her husband is hard to settle, because there are so many circumstances to be taken into consideration. In countries where the position of widow is clearly defined, where a wife becomes a sort of slave to her parents in law, there is no question to discuss. The woman has to face hard facts, and generally does it with becoming humility. In this country a wife is supposed to stand at the head of her own home, and if the members of her husband's family desire that she is always as a guest that they remain. When they are wise enough to grasp that fact life becomes pleasant to them; when they seek to rule the household they are likely to meet obstacles unless a wife happens to be good-natured and tolerant. There really ought not to be any cause for friction under any one roof.

It ought not to be hard to stand on neutral grounds, to keep aloof from quarrels and live a rather pleasant life. A woman ought to be glad to have the comfort of a home without the expense of responsibility of maintaining. To my mind it is an ideal condition that makes a mother an honored and loved member of the family with the privilege of ordering her own life according to her tastes, always provided that she does not clash with the comfort of the others, to go out and come in when she pleases, to keep to her apartment when she desires and join the others at will. A mother, by ties of blood or law, can be of immeasurable assistance to any woman. She has met and conquered obstacles which a young wife must face for the first time, and, if necessary, can do their share of the work of keeping a home in order. But she must never forget that the home belongs to her son and wife, and that only when she is called upon to decide questions of moment is interference permissible.

I know scores of women who are thankful for good fortune of this kind and their absence, even for a short time is regretted. I know some others who are a nuisance to patient and long-suffering daughters in law. The sons escape a deal by being forced to go out into the business world through the day. These women try to rule where they have no rights and serve as awful examples to the unmarried friends of the women they badger. It is no wonder that young couples prefer to be by themselves, and submit to long engagements rather than tempt fate in the form of a mother in law in the house. No mother ever really thought that any wife was good enough for her boy, and when she does not have the fact to hide the fact there is likely to be trouble. Fundamentally there should be no divided house, for large families are natural. The begetting of a young man has been the cause which has made it unpopular, and the only remedy is a changed attitude on the part of mothers. There would be no trouble if older women would gently slip into second place.

Pelt of the Rare Black Fox

Edmonton, Nov. In the estimation of trappers of the Canadian northland, as well as in the eyes of the nobility of Russia, there is only one king of beasts the highly prized black fox differ from the red fox, felt pelt of this rare fur bearer are brought down from the northland each year, and in rare years as many as ten or twelve, though each year thousands of men make a living trapping and the yearly catch of fox skins amounts to over 100,000 from Canada alone.

In no way except in color does the black fox differ from the red fox, whose pelt sells for about $2, or from the grey fox, whose winter coat is valued at from $150 to $400 but whenever a hunter can secure a black fox and remove its skin without marring the fur he is sure of receiving from $800 to 1,500 for his trophy. Not only is every black fox pelt bought as soon as taken, but a dozen Russian noblemen have paid agents travelling in North America all through the winter seeking out remote hillside farms and abandoned logging camps where it is possible that a shy and elusive black fox may have been seen.

Within the last twenty years a number of wealthy men who have owned fenced game preserves have spent vast sums of money in buying young foxes alive and turning them loose within private enclosures. By and by it may be that some skilled or fortunate breeder will produce a black pup or perhaps a pair of black foxes may be captured alive, and from these a new breed of black foxes will arise and cause a great panic among the men who hunt for black foxes. He who can wrest the secret of breeding black foxes from nature is assured of riches past counting and can command the worshipful homage of the Russian nobility and aristocracy, who seem willing to sacrifice untold wealth for the pleasure of wearing overcoats made from the pelts of American black foxes.

It isn't so difficult to strengthen a weak stomach if one goes at it correctly. And this is true of the Heart and Kidneys. The old-fashioned way of dosing the Stomach or stimulating the Heart or Kidneys is surely wrong. Dr. Shoop first pointed out this error. "Go to the weak or ailing nerves of these organs," said he. Each inside organ has its controlling or "inside nerve." When these nerves fall then those organs must surely fail. This vital truth is leading druggists everywhere to dispense and recommend Dr. Shoop's Restorative. A few days test will surely tell! Sold by all dealers.

What Selfishness Does

Selfishness in some form is at the foundation of most of our unhappiness and misery. It may be selfishness of a special kind, but under whatever form it appears it has practically the same results. There may be a difference in kind, but results are merely a question of degree.

Most of us are possessed and governed by selfish motives in life. What we speak of as ambitious ends are more than likely dictated by a certain form of selfishness. What is one person's gain is too often another's loss. The woman who shines socially is sure to create envy and heart-burning in another. Jealousy is created in every sphere of human action, whether of business or pleasure. Much of our unhappiness is the result of selfishness on the part of those who suffer. We long to succeed in some particular line, and the attainments of another in this direction make us jealous because the element of selfishness begeth the rewards of just and honest work because we crave the same success.

NOT DEAD BUT SLEEPING

With a flash like a meteor, along the quiet horizon of St. George, old "Red Granite Division," No. 270 asserted itself as "not dead but sleeping," for these eight or nine years, and if the pronounced temperance sentiment and practical settling down to business, at the temperance meeting in the Forester's Hall last Wednesday evening means anything, it means that "the hour has struck," the neep is felt, the call has been heard and a new era has begun.

Eighty-eight people with good strong earnest faces, lined up at this meeting, to do battle with a common foe in the victorious power of organization, and "a wayfaring man though a fool," could not fail to discern something more than a fleeting enthusiasm pervading the assembly.

The hall was filled at an early hour with an intelligent and expectant crowd of people, and after a good temperance selection by the choir, Mr. E. D. Harvey acting chairman, stated the purpose of the meeting, and introduced Mr. E. S. Hennigar, G. W. P., of the Sons of Temperance, who gave a most earnest address and appeal to temperance people to rally to the support of the cause.

Mr. Sullivan of the G. W. A. made a stirring and convincing appeal to the Young People, which brought home to all present, the importance of juvenile temperance work. Both the grand officers have been in the ranks for years and their evident devotion to the cause was a strong factor in the success of one of the best temperance meetings ever held in St. George, and that, Mr. Editor, is saying a good deal.

Mr. K. B. Wathen's speech was genial well illustrated with witty anecdotes, very much to the point, and well received. Mr. A. H. Chipman of St. John, made a good practical temperance speech, as bright as a new silver dollar, and carried his hearers along with him from start to finish.

Mr. H. V. Dewar spoke briefly in encouragement of the reorganized society, and pledged the same support to the order as in the past. At the close of the public meeting the choir, helped greatly in brightening the evening, and a solo by Miss Carrie Gillmor was well rendered and well received.

In closing Mr. E. D. Harvey referred in an interesting way to the past of "Red Granite Division," and prophesied success in its future work. Resolutions of thanks were passed to the Grand officers present, also to Rev. C. Flemming, P. C. W. P., Rev. C. W. Hamilton, G. S., and Rev. Mr. Stafford, all of whom expected to be present, but were unavoidably detained. Most cordial and appreciative thanks were also tendered to the choir.

At the close of the public meeting the Grand Officers proceeded to reorganize the Division, and the following officers were elected:

W. P., William Seely; W. A. Mrs. H. R. O'Brien; R. S., K. B. Wathen; A. R. S., Miss J. Meeting; F. S., E. D. Harvey; Treasurer, R. McIntyre; Chaplain, F. Gamble; con., A. Goss; A. C., Miss E. O'Brien; I. S., E. Johnston; O. S., James Meating; G. S. of Y. P. W., Miss M. P. Russell; F. W. P., H. V. Dewar. After the installation of these officers the Division was declared open and a good earnest speech from Mr. Will Seely, the newly elected Worthy Patriarch, launched the new "Red Granite Division" into the work of the coming year.

First on the programme of proposed work is the forming of other Divisions at Pemmelfield, Second Falls and other nearby points, and juvenile temperance work will be immediately started by the officers elected to care for this department of the work. The Division will meet on Wednesday evening of each week, in the Forester's Hall, and a cordial invitation is extended to all to come and fall into line. COM.

The Girls Velv

A little girl once wrote this composition on boys: "Boys are men that have got bag as their papas, and girls are women that will be young ladies by and bye. Men were made before women. When God looked at Adam he said: Well I think I can do better if I try again, and then he made Eve. God liked Eve so much better than Adam that there have been more women than men ever since. "Boys are a trouble. They wear out everything but soap. If I had my way half of the boys in the world would be girls and the rest would be dolls. My papa is so nice that I think he must have been a little girl when he was a little boy."

The Country Editor

It is a well established fact in no other vocation of life are more business fact, more knowledge of human nature, more push and energy and more firmness required than in the successful management of a country newspaper, and in no other business is philanthropy so systematically cultivated and practiced. Ordinary a country editor is a man of limited means, and in the very nature of things the highest degree of business sagacity is required to make both ends meet. The gathering of news and the writing of editorials are essential requisites in getting out a paper, but they constitute only a small part of the duties devolving upon a country editor. He must of course produce a good editorial page and present the happenings of the community in an attractive shape, but above all he must be a business man and never lose any opportunity for getting a new subscriber, an advertisement or a piece of jobwork.

While the business and the editorial departments of the big dailies are separate and distinct, the country editor must of necessity take care of both, and he almost always acquires himself of the task successfully and with becoming pride and dignity. Unlike his colleague of the wealthy city paper, who, with all his ability and brilliant attainments, is, after all, but a cog in a large wheel driven by a power over which he has not the slightest control, the country editor is the whole thing. But in order to be successful he must be familiar with the affairs of his paper to its smallest detail, sweep out the office, build the fire, solicit business, collect bills, report a big fire or a sermon.—Annapolis (Md.) Examiner.

A Successful Marriage

An old farmer was once asked the question, "Is marriage a failure?" and his reply was, "My mussus minds the house, tends the children, milks the cow feeds the poultry, looks after the pigs, makes the bread, churns the butter, and does other odd jobs, and all for nothing a week, and what could be cheaper than that? No, marriage isn't a failure down my way."—London Socialist Review.

QUEEN OF ACTRESSES PRAISES PE-RU-NA.

MISS JULIA MARLOWE.

"I Am Glad To Write My Endorsement Of The Great Remedy Pe-ru-na. I Do So Most Heartily." Julia Marlowe.

ANY remedy that benefits digestion strengthens the nerves.

The nerve centers require nutrition. If the digestion is impaired, the nerve centers become anemic, and indigestion is the result.

Pe-ru-na is not a narcotic nor a stimulant. It benefits the nerves by benefiting digestion.

Pe-ru-na frees the stomach of catarrhal congestions and normal digestion is the result.

In other words, Pe-ru-na goes to the bottom of the whole difficulty, when the agreeable symptoms disappear. J. C. Jamison, 61 Marchant street, Bayville, Cal., writes:

"I was troubled with my stomach for six years. I tried many kinds of medicine, also was treated by three doctors. They said that I had nervous dyspepsia. I was put on a liquid diet for three months.

"I improved under the treatment, but as soon as I stopped taking the medicine, I got bad again.

"I took the medicine for two years, then I got sick again and gave up all hopes of getting cured.

"I saw a testimonial of a man whose case was similar to mine being cured by Pe-ru-na, so I thought I would give it a trial.

"I procured a bottle at once and commenced taking it. I have taken several bottles and am entirely cured.

"I have gained in strength and feel like a different person. I believe Pe-ru-na is all that is claimed for it."

Nervines, such as coal tar preparations, are doing a great deal of harm. Sleep medicine and headache powders are all alike,—heart depressants, and should not be used. The nerves would be all right, if the digestion were good. Pe-ru-na corrects the digestion.
