MONCTON.

[Progress is for sale in Moncton at the book-store of J. E. McCoy.]

The month of roses has not been living up to her reputation lately, at least in Moncton, and the days have been very "rare" indeed, much more so than we could have wished, if we had been consulted by the ladies of the city.

Yesterday was cool, Monday was cooler, and the first of a fine would have been a luxury if the grades had not been so steep, so that their owners were compelled to rely on the warmth of their own hands to prevent them from catching a cold, and yet the ladies of the "middle classes" will remain in town, and a much better time than some middle class individuals will have had the other week when they might be enjoying all the pleasures of the city.

All the probabilities seem to indicate a very quiet summer, without even a wedding to break the monotony, and after the constant round of excitement we had last summer, with one nearly every week, we are now in a very quiet state.

I have heard of, in which Moncton is to be represented, and which is to take place today, but, alas! Y. M. C. A., which is to take place today, but, alas! the ceremony is to take place in Picton! Mr. McLeod, no doubt, the recipient of heavy congratulations on his return, and it is not too much to say that he is a very popular man, and his return to the city is a very welcome one.

The many friends of Mr. Wm. Morrison regret to hear that he is so ill.

The news of the death of Mrs. Samuel Raymond of Springfield, the mother of Dr. C. H. Raymond of Sussex, was received with deep regret by all who knew and loved her.

She had been ill for some time, and her death was a great loss to her family and to the community.
