If Public Were Polite, They Would be Reciprocated -Central Speaks Her Mind in

A St. John man was "if you pleased" and "yes-sired" so politely by a telephone operator that he called up the manager and said a good word for he girl. It was so very unusual, he polite as the public will permit her to be.

She knows you never think of her service except when it goes wrong, and never speak of her except to krock. Yet she patiently does the best she can for you, through long hours and for not large pay.

Don't imagine that you are distinguishing yourself by complaining against her. Thousands have been ahead of you.

But say a word in her favor at the right place, and you stand almost alone with an approving conscience.

A Somerville, Mass., hello girl tells her troubles in verse as follows:

Call me not with scornful numbers,
Like "two-seven-O-ring-three!"
Snapped out in disdainful accents—
Pray be courteous to me!
Would you like to sit here with a
Telephone strapped on your head,
All day long to answer summons?
Wouldn't you wish that you were dead?

Be polite. I will not hurt you,
Even though I'm in a box,
I am human—although hidden—
And am sensitive to knocks,
Be polite. Do unto others
As you'd have them to do to you,
It's a good rule to observe—and
You'll get better service, too.

New York, Feb. 15.—Despite a conviction in some influential circles that in the nature of things an upward reaction was due and in the face of some very bullish advices from the South relating to the interior markets, prices ralled but feebly during the early session today and later on developed weakness bordering on demoralization. It would seem that one long line after another is being liquidated and that each new low level established upcovers a fresh line of vulnerable speculative accounts. There was an unusual dearth of specific influential news and it is thought that a general modification of views as to the size of the crop is a greater factor in the general weakness than anything else. Thus far the Southern spot markets have not followed the decline here and there are many who adhere to the opinion that statistics henceforth will justify this attitude on the part of the holders of the actual staple. It cannot be denied that the heavy liquidation of the past fortnight has vastly improved. Any concession in the Southern spot markets have not character and there are many who adhere to the opinion that statistics henceforth will justify this attitude on the part of the holders of the actual staple. A TOAST TO LLOYD-GEORGE.

Drinking the health of the Chancellor at a little festival where 300 old men and women, just out of the poorhouse, were entertained at tea. All the old folks seen in the picture are past eighty-nine, but starting life again with renewed zest.

London, Feb. 14.—January 1st was a great day for over two hundred thou sand old people in the poorhouses of Great Britain. On that day the pau-per disqualification of old age pen-sioners was removed. Tens of thou-sands of old folks are leaving the poorhouses, each to begin life over again on a pension of $1.25 a week. Henceforth, even though they have received "outdoor relief" or have been in the poorhouse, old folks may draw

All this is now ended. The tiny pension of five shillings—$1.25makes all the difference. An old man and his wife now can struggle along on the combined allowance. It may even be that with a triffe or so received from a grown-up child, they can live in comparative comfort. At any rate they have poured out of the workhouses in their tens of thousands.
