Proprietors of Barber Shops Like to Adopt Union By-Laws

Journeymen and Bosses to Meet on Sunday—Strike Probable if Demands Are Not Granted.

An enthusiastic meeting of the local branch of the journeymen barbers was held last evening in Oddfellows' Hall, when several important matters in reference to the by-laws regulating the barber shops, which have recently been drawn up by the union, were freely discussed.

The meeting was held in the rooms of the union with President Little in the chair. The chief purpose in calling together the members was to ascertain the attitude of the boss barbers regarding the request which the journeymen barbers have made so as to have an idea what stand will be taken next Monday, the time-limit which has been named for the receiving of a reply from the different proprietors.

At the meeting last evening it was decided to have such a meeting on Sunday afternoon next in their rooms in the Oddfellows' building. It is an understood fact that those proprietors who do not either express their communication or personally to their employees their willingness to adopt the by-laws or attend the meeting on Sunday will not have their union employees to work on Monday.

Some of the shops, however, are strongly opposed to meeting the demands and are inclined to ignore the by-laws which have been drawn up. It is an understood fact that those proprietors who do not either express their communication or personally to their employees their willingness to adopt the by-laws or attend the meeting on Sunday will not have their union employees to work on Monday.

TAKEN BY POLICE FOR ANNOYING YOUNG GIRL

Man Giving Name of Joseph Morrison Forced His Attention on Lady in a Street Car.

A young man who gave his name as Joseph Morrison was reported to the police last night for annoying a young lady on a street car running between Douglas avenue and the Suspension Bridge.

According to the story told the man had during the evening been following a young girl well known in Lancaster. The girl told that he followed her on the street car and interfered with her while she was going between the city and her home. The police were notified and Officer Barrett took the man in charge. On the way to the North End station he grabbed the officer by the throat and made a bold attempt at gaining his liberty.

The man was locked up about 10.45 last evening. He was under the influence of liquor, and on the police book the only charge against him is that of being drunk. Morrison is about thirty years old.

UMP. McNULTY BRINGS SUIT FOR INJURIES

St. Louis, July 24.—Umpire "Jack" McNulty brought suit against the Federal League Baseball Club of St. Louis and manager "Jack" O'Connor for $35,000 damages because of a punch in the face O'Connor gave him on the grounds of the club on June 23 last. According to the petition McNulty was present to officiate as umpire of the game when O'Connor "wrongfully and unlawfully assaulted him, permanently injuring him by breaking a bone on the right side of the face, inflicting such injuries as to render McNulty of his food extremely painful, and causing paralysis of the nerves of three teeth, besides injuring his nose, and right eye."

McNulty alleges that his injuries are such that he no longer will be able to earn a living as a baseball umpire.

NOTED PRISONERS MAY NOW BE RELEASED.

Washington, July 24.—Julian Hawthorne, and Dr. Adam J. Morton, serving a year's sentence in the Atlanta penitentiary for misuse of the mails, have been recommended for pardons by the parole board, and the question of their release is now under consideration by Attorney General McReynolds.

The board's action did not become definitely known until today. The prisoners are now eligible for release, having served one third of their sentences.

ST. JOSEPH'S SCHOOL WINS SIGNAL HONOR

Pupils of Sister Alphonsus' Class Get Lord Strathcona Prize for Efficiency in Physical Drill.

Word was received in the city yesterday that a signal honor had been won by the St. Joseph's school in that it had been determined the winner of the Strathcona prize for the most efficiently trained school in physical drill.

The prize has been won by Sister Alphonsus, teacher of Grade VIII, to whom much credit attaches for the careful and capable manner in which she has instructed her pupils.

To encourage physical training the Strathcona prize for perfection in this line was begun a few years ago and is given in each inspectional district throughout Canada. The distinction attached to the winning of this prize has called forth keen competition on the part of the teachers. The prize which is given yearly was carried off last year by Rex Cormier of the King Edward school.

From Captain S. A. Good, secretary of the local commission, Strathcona Trust, word has reached the city that Sister Alphonsus has received the prize for the best trained school in the school district under the jurisdiction of Inspector William McLean.

According to the rules laid down by the Strathcona Trust by which the prize is given annually, two-thirds of the prize, which is a cash donation, is to be given to the teacher for her own use, while the remaining portion is to be expended in securing for the school some trophy to signalize the winning of the honor.

STEEL WORK COMMENCED

A. K. Beauvais, Foreman for Dominion Bridge Company, here to Erect Superstructure of Sugar Refinery.

A. K. Beauvais, foreman for the Dominion Bridge Company, Montreal, which has the contract for the steel superstructure of the building of the Atlantic Sugar Refineries, Ltd., arrived in the city on Wednesday to make arrangements for a start on the big job. One car containing the bases for the steel columns, was placed on the Ballast wharf late in the afternoon of the same day, and yesterday morning they were being hauled into position at the heads of the several piers.

Mr. Beauvais said he expected to be able to start the real work of construction on Tuesday or Wednesday of next week, and if the steel came to hand as he wanted it, would probably finish the first of the buildings in thirty days from that time. Six more carloads of structural steel were shipped from Montreal for St. John on the 18th inst. Mr. Beauvais said he would employ about thirty-five men on the job, of whom thirty would be brought from Montreal.

All parts of the big steel frame are cut and punched ready for fitting together before it leaves the shop in Montreal. The reason for this is that if any holes are missed or if any cutting has to be done on the job it costs no much more.

Mr. Beauvais, although yet a young man, has had an adventurous career. He is one of the survivors of the Quebec bridge disaster, August 30, 1907, from which he emerged with a broken ankle and a deep cut in his nose. But he makes light of the perils and nerve-racking experiences of his chosen vocation. When asked if there were many accidents in connection with it, he replied that he had had charge of gangs for six years and had never lost a man. "Of course," he added, "that is nothing to boast about, for you don't know what may happen any minute."

It must take a good deal of steady nerve for a man to work high up on a swinging beam, does it not?" "Oh, I don't know; they start from the ground and work up gradually. It is like everything else. Take handling dynamite. I would sooner climb a thousand feet than do that."

If suppose all the men you are bringing from Montreal are expert bridge builders?"

"Yes, they are all Indians."

"All Indians, are they as good as white men in that position?"

"Well, you shall judge for yourself. On the Quebec bridge we had seventy-nine men working. Of these forty were from the little Indian village. And there was keen competition for a job on the Quebec bridge, as it meant $5 a day."

Continuing his chat, Mr. Beauvais said that the Dominion Bridge Company and the St. Lawrence Bridge Company, an English concern, are building the new Quebec bridge between them. None of the superstructure has yet been laid, although all the caissons have been placed in position and they are ready to start the bridge proper. It will probably be four or five years before it can be finished, as it is a very big job.

The contract for the Atlantic Sugar Refineries here, he said, is a big one. The building on which the men will be working first is the smallest of the lot. A railroad track will be laid between the two buildings along the wharf. This will facilitate the handling of the steel to both places where it will be required, and will later be utilized as a permanent track to haul coal and other supplies to the refinery. Mr. Beauvais will soon have the large steel derrick in place for hoisting the heavy beams into position where they are required.

FRANK JAMES, THE NOTORIOUS OUTLAW, NEAR DEATH.

The lives of Jesse and Frank James, those notorious outlaws, read like some five cent thriller. Jesse James was killed by members of his own band and Frank is now at the point of death.

Their father was Robert James, a Baptist preacher, who was persecuted by his Union neighbors during the civil war because his sympathies were with the South. In order to get revenge Jesse and Frank joined the guerrillas and they soon earned a name for reckless daring.

In 1893 Jesse was outlawed and with his brother attained a world wide notoriety by the crimes they committed, by their romantic adventures, and their almost invulnerable success. A reward of $10,000 was offered for the capture of Jesse and, tempted by the bribe, two of his band killed him. A short time after Jesse's death Frank gave himself up. Now Frank is dying and the history of the "James boys" will soon be ended.

LT.-COL. McLEOD TO GO WITH HON. SAM HUGHES

Provincial Secretary Invited to be One of Minister of Militia's Party at Army Manoeuvres.

Special to The Standard. Fredericton, July 24.—Lt. Col. H. F. McLeod is to be one of a party of Canadian militia officers accompanying Col. the Hon. Sam Hughes, Minister of Militia and Defence, to the Divisional and Army Manoeuvres in England this fall.

Yesterday Lt. Col. McLeod received an invitation from Col. Hughes to make the trip, and this afternoon he is forwarding his acceptance. It is expected that the party will leave about the month of September and will be absent about a month. The selection of Lt. Col. McLeod as one of the officers to make the trip is a deserved honor for the commander of the 71st York Regt.

Last year Col. Hughes made the trip to attend the manoeuvres at Aldershot with a party of officers, and they afterwards visited Germany.

MECKLENBURG.

The first Duke of Mecklenburg and the founder of the ruling house was Generie the Yarnal, who lived in the western empire in the 5th century, and who was born, according to ancient records, just fifteen centuries ago today and died in 477. Mecklenburg, in North Germany, is now divided into the two grand duchies of Mecklenburg-Schwerin and Mecklenburg-Strelitz, this division having been made in 1701. In 1815 the dukes were made grand dukes.

Two marriages have taken place between members of the royal family of England and the house of Mecklenburg. King George III. married Charlotte, a daughter of the Duke of Mecklenburg-Strelitz, in 1761, and their son, the Duke of Cumberland, afterward the King of Hanover, married Princess Frederica, a daughter of another Duke of Mecklenburg-Strelitz.

FACTS VERSUS HISTORY AND FORMER WINS

Reasons Why all Local Girls Haven't Fellows Fully Explained by Commercial Traveller.

"What's the reason the young men and maidens of St. John keep separate? In the streets or parks it is a rare thing to see a young man and a girl walking together."

A group of tourists were sitting in the lobby of a local hotel watching the passing show from the windows, when one of them made the above observation. The archaeologist of the party remarked that St. John was a rather old-fashioned city, and that perhaps the disposition of the sexes to keep apart was due to the persistence of an ancient custom.

"When your sentimental novelist wants to draw a moving picture of the power of love he tells you how the cave man and his mate stood shoulder to shoulder against some terrible menaces."

"It does not require a lecture on anthropology to explain why the young men and maidens of this burg don't walk together as they do in many other cities," interrupted the commercial traveller. "The great trouble is the young men don't get wages enough to treat the girls as often as they would like to."

EXPLANATION FROM THE NICKEL.

The Nickel is receiving requests from various people to hold over the Metropolitan Trio for another week or more, but this is impossible. The fine vocalists are booked ahead for a considerable time, and furthermore the Nickel is bound to fresh contracts with two other fine features. One is Miss Gertrude Townsend, prima donna soprano, who has been making a great hit in the new Imperial Theatre, and the other is the Lubin motion picture company's eastern players. He has been seen at different times in picture plays at the Nickel. This explanation will serve to notify others who may other wise send communications to Nickel about "holders" and such.

LIQUOR CASE DEALT WITH

Daniel Collins of North End Fined $50 for Selling Beer Last Saturday Night—Much Evidence.

Daniel Collins, who conducts a shoe shine and beer shop in the North End, was before the police magistrate yesterday afternoon having been charged by Police Sgt. Kilpatrick with having sold beer on Saturday night last without a license.

Sgt. Kilpatrick stated that on Saturday night last he saw two men enter the Collins shop, and saw them served with beer. He had asked Collins if he had a license and Collins told him to go and find out.

Robert Elliot was called on the stand, and he stated that he could not remember if he had been served with beer in the shop on Saturday night last.

Collins pleaded not guilty and said that the charge was made against him through spite. He, however, acknowledged having sold the beer last Saturday night, and stated that then he had no license but he said that he had procured a beer license yesterday morning.

Inspector Jones was in court and the magistrate asked him if he had anything to say on the matter but the former had nothing to say. The magistrate then asked the Inspector how he could account for Collins receiving a beer license in the morning when the case had been postponed against him for selling without a license.

Inspector Jones did not make any reply. The magistrate said that as the defendant had acknowledged to the court that he had sold the beer without having a license there was nothing left for the court to do but to find him guilty. The penalty was not more than one hundred dollars and not less than fifty dollars and in default of payment not less than three months in jail.

The magistrate said that every morning as he drove down Main street he saw the saloon bars with scores of men standing in front of them, being served with liquor and not looking after the welfare of their families. No steps were taken by the officials to see if it is Tom, Dick or Harry that is drinking, but this man, Collins, who is a cripple, is brought to court for selling beer without a license, while the big strong men are never brought here. In this case there is nothing left for me to do but to impose the penalty on this poor man. A fine of $50 was imposed or three months' jail.
