WEDDINGS.

Palmer-Wesley.

One of the prettiest weddings of the season took place on Wednesday, June 10th, at three o'clock, at the residence of Mr. and Mrs. Charles L. Wesley, 6 Grafton avenue, Toronto, when their daughter Miss Irene Lillian Wesley was married to T. Russell Palmer, Toronto, son of William Palmer. The ceremony took place in the drawing room which was transformed into a bower of flowers. To the strains of Lohengrin's wedding march, played by an orchestra, the bride was brought in and given away by her father. She was wearing a gown of sapphire blue with pearl trimmings, and carried a showy bouquet of orchids and lilies of the valley. The ceremony was performed by Rev. Canon Bryan, rector of the Church of the Epiphany. After the wedding a reception was held by the bride's mother, and Mr. and Mrs. Palmer left for a trip to Detroit and Cleveland. On their return they will reside in Sydney street, Toronto.

The wedding is of special interest to St. John people, as Miss Wesley is a sister of F. C. Wesley, and who visited in St. John, and has many friends here.

FRIENDS OF "MAN'S FRIEND" AGGRESSIVE IN OPINIONS

Commissioner Potts' decision to "go after" Dogs draws warning letters from correspondents of The Standard.

A "DOG" HEARD FROM.

To the Editor of The Standard.

Sir,—I notice that my friend Commissioner Potts says "there are a number of worthless curs that ought to be destroyed." I presume he means dogs, but we all can't be thoroughbreds any more than all men can be commissioners. Do you know of any lawyer with the reputation that the late Senator Vest had who would get up in court and make a plea for any of the commissioners like the following taken from a newspaper:

"One of the most eloquent tributes ever paid to the dog was delivered by Senator Vest, of Missouri, some years ago. He was attending court in a country town, and while waiting for the trial of a case in which he was interested he was urged by the attorneys in a dog case to help them. He was paid a fee of $250 by the plaintiff. "Voluminous evidence was introduced to show that the defendant had shot the dog in malice, while other evidence went to show that the dog had attacked the defendant. Vest took no part in the trial and was not disposed to speak. The attorneys, however, urged upon him to make a speech, else their client would not think he had earned his fee. Being thus urged, he arose, scanned the face of each juror for a moment and said:

"Gentlemen of the jury: The best friend a man has in the world may turn against him and become his enemy. His son or daughter that he has reared with loving care may prove ungrateful. Those who are nearest and dearest to us, those whom we trust with our happiness and our good name, may become traitors to their faith. The money that a man has he may lose, it flies away from him, perhaps when he needs it most. A man's reputation may be sacrificed in a moment of ill-considered action. The people who are prone to go on their knees to do us honor when success is with us may be the first to throw the stone of malice when failure settles its cloud upon our heads;—the one absolutely unselfish friend, the one that never deserts him, the one that never proves ungrateful or treacherous, is his dog. A man's dog stands by him in prosperity and in poverty, in health and in sickness. He will sleep on the cold ground, where the wintry winds blow, and the snow drives fiercely, if only he may be near his master's side. He will kiss the hand that has no food to offer; he will lick the wounds and sores that come in encounter with the roughness of the world. He guards the sleep of his pauper master as if he were a prince. When all other friends desert, he remains. When riches take wings and reputation falls to pieces he is as constant in his love as the sun in his journey through the heavens. If fortune drives the master forth an outcast in the world, friendless and homeless, the faithful dog asks no higher privilege than that of accompanying him, to guard against danger, to fight against his enemies. And when the last scene of all comes, and death takes the master in its embrace, and his body is laid away in the cold ground, no matter if all other friends pursue their way, there by the grave-side will be the noble dog found, his head between his paws, his eyes sad, but open in alert watchfulness, faithful and true even in death."

"Then Vest sat down. He had spoken in a low voice, without a gesture. He made no reference to the evidence of the merits of the case. When he finished Judge and jury were wiping their eyes. The jury filed out but soon entered with a verdict in favor of the plaintiff for $500. He had sued for $200. It is even said that some of the jurors wanted to hang the defendant."

"Thanking you for the space, I remain yours truly,
P.S.—My master says the more he sees of some men the better he likes dogs.—Jags."

AN ATTACK UPON

THE COMMISSIONER.

St. John, June 16th, 1914.

To the Editor of The Standard.
Sir—I have noticed in recent issues of the city papers, regarding the freedom of dogs, I should like to ask Mr. Commissioner if this new law comes in force why should dogs be licensed? I presume it would be a good way to raise money to provide civic autos, etc. There are probably 800 to at least 1200 dog fanciers in the city who are voters.

This particular commissioner not

COMPLETELY BROKEN DOWN

Another Lady Thinks "Fruit-a-tives" Greatest Tonic in the World.

Hagerstown, Ont., Aug. 28th, 1913.
I can highly recommend "Fruit-a-tives" because they did me an awful lot of good. About four years ago, I commenced taking "Fruit-a-tives" for a general break-down and they did me a world of good. We bought a good many dollars' worth, but they did all that your advertising claims for them, and as I said before, I cannot speak too highly for them. Their action is so pleasant, compared with other medicines, that I am glad to say so and I trust that some other woman may start taking "Fruit-a-tives" for I know the results will be all that you claim."

polling an overly heavy vote it would not take much to put him out of public office for all time.

I cannot understand what harm a licensed dog does, as a rule they are well taken care of. I notice the dogs that are not licensed are the dogs that cause the trouble and are seldom bothered, perhaps never bothered. I understand Mr. Commissioner gained his election on a tax reform proposition, also open door at City Hall.

But I am afraid making war on dogs will be a very poor substitute. Previous to the election we heard nothing about dogs.

I presume tax reform has been shelved till coming near next election, and then it will require at least another term to complete the reform, making it an excuse for another term in office.

Thanking you for your space, I am yours very truly,

VOTER.

Just Out

In an Arkansas hotel in one of the smaller towns a new colored clerk stood behind the desk. A travelling man entered and registered. "Sam, give me a call for six o'clock," he ordered.

The clerk ran his eye down the call sheet and saw that all the spaces in that column were taken. "Ah is sure sorry, boss, but all de six o'clock calls done been taken. Ah can give you a call for seven o'clock."

NEW BANK PREMISES GREATLY ADIMED

B.N.A. Now at Corner of Market Square and Dock Streets.

There were many visitors at the Bank of British North America yesterday and all were delighted with the new premises and warmly complimented Manager Skelton and his staff on the change. The new premises are certainly most attractive and convenient.

The steel fittings for the bank vault were supplied by Estey and Co., agents of structural steel and builders supplies. This contract was quite an elaborate one, as the material, ready to install, weighed upwards of three tons. The shelves are adjustable, and closet doors are covered with special steel doors, fitted with Panentric keys and running on ball bearings. The trimming of drawers are solid metal nickel plated. All the account books of the bank are placed in this vault, which is reached by a special elevator from the bank office floor. Messrs. Estey and Co. also furnished for this modern bank building kalemets doors, which are now an important item in fireproof buildings, also "Masters Builders" Hardner for the concrete floors, and expanded metal for the reinforcement.

GOLD DUST
does more than clean

Gold Dust sterilizes and leaves your kitchen things sanitarly safe. The ordinary soap-washed utensil is not fit to eat from, because soap does not cleanse as thoroughly as it should—does not kill germs of decay which are bound to lurk in oft-used utensils.

Gold Dust does most of the cleaning without your assistance, and does it, too, in a quicker and more thorough manner than will soap or other cleansers.

Gold Dust makes pot and pan spick and span.
