A pretty place certainly for poor afflicted creatures who cannot speak for themselves. This is Ministerial philanthropy—the erection of a slaughter house for the poor deaf and dumb of the Province. The money paid for such a site should be looked upon as the price of blood and the bargain denounced by every man, woman and child in the country.

By the bye, we recollect that the Hon.
George Sherwood, during the canvas of last

He was sly enough not to commit himself as to the particular kind of public building it was to be, but that something great would be erected, he stoutly affirmed. If Mr. Sherwood had the asylum say. But on the other hand, there is delicacy or difficulty whatever in saying for the deaf and dumb in view, the game is Sir Allan has gained the prize, and Brockville must sing dumb. BADBY SCALDED.—Two men named Twome, and Hickey, residing at Maidstone Cross, have been at fend for some time on account of a pending law suit and political destitution, and are a burthen upon the differences. A few days ago Hickey was coming into town and got off at the toll-gate for the purpose of paying his toll. Here he found Twomey, who, after a few words had passed between them, ran at him with a kettle of boiling water and poured a quantity of it upon his face and down his breast, scalding him very seriously. While Hickey was trying to ease himself by holding his clothes away from his akin, Twomey ran at him again with the intention of pouring more water on him when Hickney put up one hand to protect himself, and with the other struck his assailant, knocking him down and causing the contents of the kettle down and causing the contents of the kettle to fall upon his face. CANADIAN PATRIOTISM.

That "Every man has his price," has become a proverb, and Canada is not wanting in specimens to prove its truth. Everybody is aware of the antagonism which existed between Sir Allan McNab and the Hon. John A. Macdonald, from the time the Knight of Dundura was chisselled out of the ministry by his more youthful and cunning collegue. But everybody is not aware that the hatchet is now buried; that the pipe of peace has been prepared, and that, as a consequence, Allan sits as speaker of the Legislative Council. How has this been brought about? Listen and hear.

Asselstine, a watchmaker of Gananoque, was robbed of $50 in $10 bills, which had been taken from the pocket of his coat, hanging up in his shop. Suspicion and the authorities were deservedly congratulated upon an example of efficient administration, contrasting happily with some of the short comings in former days. We are glad to say that on the other side of the Atlantic the arrangements to meet the difficulties opposed to the transport of troops that he had again left for Gananoque.
