Russell an opportunist

One thing that can't be said about Greg Russell is that he's not an opportunist.

The Mississauga Fairview Electronics Cycling Club member took advantage of an error by officials at the London Road Races Sunday to win the Senior C event.

"Greg is a Senior B rider," explained MCC coach Laurens Miltenburg.

"But they made a mistake and put him in Senior C. But he still rode very well. It was a hot day and the course was very hilly."

Russell completed the 69-mile course ahead of teammate Eric Murch, who placed third.

Don Zuck placed fourth in the 83-mile Senior B event and Glenn Darras was ninth in the 59-mile Junior event. They were the only Mississauga cyclists to complete the race.
