My dear Willie:

We were delighted with your speech in the house last week. Everyone was wondering when you were going to break your long silence! Your read the whole speech in harvard and said it was splendid. D. Stott was speaking to me on Saturday about - the way R. D. had been attacking you in the house and said he was glad you stood up to him as he always was a bully. Any one who tries to brow beat him in the west, has no good words for him, but at the same time they vote for him! I only hope he will still be leader when the elections come on. It is too bad Agnes McNeil has so much to say. You would be surprised at the number of farmers who believe everything she says from say. They don't put much faith in Vincent Harvey, reasoning that
