

University School

VICTORIA, B. C.

THIS SCHOOL has been founded by the amalgamation of the Queen's School, which was established in Vancouver in 1898, with the University School, which originated under the Rev. W. W. Bolton in Victoria in the same year.

The intention of the founders is to establish in this Province a school which shall maintain the best traditions of the English Public Schools, at the same time keeping in view the special needs of Colonial life.

School Buildings

A handsome and commodious brick building, with every modern appliance, and playing-fields fifteen acres in extent, is about to be erected in a thoroughly healthy position, about two miles and a half from the city.

This building will be ready for occupation in January, 1909.

The School is at present conducted in three separate houses, each with its qualified matron and staff of masters.

The Upper School, on Oak Bay Avenue, for boys over fifteen years of age.

The Middle School, on Rockland Avenue, for boys between twelve and fifteen years of age.

The Lower School, at 1157 Belcher Street, for boys under twelve years of age.

There is a fourth house on Belcher Street, equipped to give isolation in cases of infectious illness, and reserved for this purpose.
