

The Planet.

S. STEPHENSON - Proprietor.
Business Office 53A
Editorial Rooms 53B
THURSDAY, NOVEMBER 5.

HART AGAIN

If Dr. Hart—the beaten Muskoka candidate—does not soon let up on his remarks on the subject of the Man from Manitoulin, and that dreadful person's influence over the Muskoka electors, he will be getting himself seriously disliked by the Toronto Globe variety of Liberals. Their play is that Gagey had nothing whatever to do with the grand Tory victory in Muskoka, while honest Dr. Hart continues to affirm that it was Gagey who performed the trick. Interviewed by his local Grit paper, the Huntsville Forester, Dr. Hart said:

"Gagey has undoubtedly played a destructive part. Follow me through the vote in the different sub-divisions, and Gageyism has told strongly for Mahaffy wherever he has spoken. I have no hesitation in saying that even in Huntsville my majority was lessened by his appearance. In the southern part of the riding a similar result is apparent. At Bracebridge, Gravenhurst, Stephenson No. 1, Port Carling and McLean increased majorities were given for the Conservative candidate. Contrast this with the result in Morrison, Muskoka and Cardwell, where Gagey was billed, but did not appear. Each of these gave me a large majority. I do not think that the people generally will congratulate themselves upon the fact that Gageyism has played so prominent a part in the conflict."—Hamilton Spectator.

MR. AYLESWORTH

We have fought out fight, we have lost in the struggle. We must bow with as much graceful submission as possible to the inevitable result. It would be sad indeed if in any feeling of childish resentment of what we thought was an injustice we should say, "This is the end, or even this is the weakening of British connection. The ties that bind us to the motherland can stand the strain, if strain there be, of many Alaskan awards."

So said A. B. Aylesworth, K. C., Canadian representative on the Alaskan boundary commission, in a speech made in Toronto the other night—by reason of its loyalty to the empire, its British tone, and its true Canadianism ought to forever close the mouths of those volatile Canadians who have been making Mr. Aylesworth's alleged opinions and remarks the basis of some very foolish talk.

One Toronto paper particularly, has indulged in anti-British hysterics which are not creditable to a Canadian newspaper, comments the Hamilton Spectator. It went to the extreme of suggesting that the emblem of the empire—the British flag—be banished from the banquet hall, to which Mr. Aylesworth had been invited. Mr. Aylesworth's speech, and the manner in which it was received by the Canadian club, must have convinced that rather erratic and somewhat sensational-at-any-price newspaper that the British flag still floated over loyal British subjects in Canada.

In his speech Mr. Aylesworth made it perfectly clear that there had been no friction between himself and the other British commissioners; that he held a high opinion of Lord Alverstone; that, in refusing to sign the award, he and Sir Louis Jettie were actuated, not by irritation, but simply by a sense of duty. He attributed no motives to Lord Alverstone. He declared that the award—wrong as he believed it to be—must be accepted, and he earnestly repudiated the idea that Canada should harbor any resentment toward Great Britain.

Mr. Aylesworth's speech was that of a Canadian in the truest sense—a Canadian who firmly believes that the future greatness of Canada is irrevocably bound up with the greatness of the empire of which the Dominion is the first and greatest colony. And his loyal words will go far towards restoring reason to the unthinking people of this country who have allowed themselves to be unduly annoyed by a slight mishap which could not well have been avoided.

"The ties that bind us to the Motherland can stand the strain, if strain there be, of many Alaskan awards."

FIRE ALARMS

The following are the fire alarms for the month of October:
Oct. 3.—Telephone alarm to corner of Barthe and Kent streets. Residence of O. B. Hulin; loss $38.
Oct. 26, 11 a. m.—Drader's cooperage on Thames street. 4.40 p. m. Gray's factory; no damage.
Oct. 28, 3.30.—Gray's factory; inspector's alarm. Time, 2 1-2 minutes.

Shiloh's Consumption Cure

Do you catch cold easily?
Does the cold hang on? Try

It cures the most stubborn kind of coughs and colds.

If it doesn't cure you, your money will be refunded.

Prices 25c., 50c. and $1.00

S. C. WELLS & CO.
Toronto, Can. LeRoy, N.Y.

THE LOCAL BUDGET

Miss Gertrude Somerville is visiting in Detroit.

F. Mayhew, of Ridgetown, was in the city yesterday.

J. C. Marshall, of Sarnia, was in the city yesterday.

John Coutta, of Thamesville, was in the city yesterday.

W. J. Hanna, M. P. P., of Sarnia, was in the city yesterday.

W. A. F. Campbell, of Ridgetown, was in the city yesterday.

Miss Flossie Bogart, Cross street, spent yesterday in Detroit.

H. E. Stiles, of Thamesville, was a visitor in the city yesterday.

Miss Steel, of Brookville, is visiting Mrs. W. E. Rispin, Lacroix street.

O'Brien Bros. shipped 5,000 Quail on Toast cigars to Woodstock today.

Park Bros. have the contract for a bridge over the Government Drain No. 1, Raleigh.

Mrs. Bennett and son R. Bennett, of Coburg, were visitors in the city yesterday.

Father Boubet, of Ridgetown, has entered St. Joseph's Hospital for surgical treatment.

R. F. White, of Leamington, and H. Ellis, of Dresden, were Chatham visitors yesterday.

A number of fine mangolds, grown by Wm. Pratt, Raleigh, are in S. Glenn & Sons window.

Mrs. and Mrs. Gus Taylor and Mrs. Ed. Taylor spent yesterday with friends in Thamesville.

The south end brick pavement being put down by Blight & Fielder will be completed the early part of next week.

Samuel Fleming, of Kent Bridge, yesterday sold by auction all of his farm stock and implements. McOg & Harrington were the auctioneers.

Park Bros. shipped one of their centrifugal pumps to Mount Clemens, Mich., where they are erecting a pumping station on the J. E. Mantz estate.

Will Turner and Mr. Clark have returned from a couple of days shooting near Merlin. Rumor has it that they shot 35 partridges and 65 quail.

All reading notices of local announcements must be received at this office not later than noon of the day on which it is desired that they appear in The Planet.

"The merchants on Queen street intend to inform on those who do fast driving on their fine pavement," said a business man on that much used thoroughfare this morning to a Planet reporter. "It is a most dangerous practice and should be stopped. Little children are often sent to us with notes ordering things and it is very dangerous. I suppose as soon as the street is completed the practice will be greatly increased. The police should interfere."

Nov. 4.—Miss L. Armstrong, of London, is visiting her sister, Mrs. Elias Graves.

Mr. John Howat was in Glenora today.

Mr. Irwin attended the Glenora live stock show.

Wm. Miller, traveller of the Hobbs Hardware Co., is in town today.

Edward Charlesworth, of Windsor, is spending a week hunting with Mr. Justice Henderson.

Mrs. McAlpine, of Toronto, is in town.

Mrs. Richardson has returned home from visiting her daughter in London.

Mrs. E. W. Smith and little daughter have returned home.

Evangelist Kerr is drawing large crowds at his meetings in the Methodist Church.

Nov. 5.—Miss May Miller entertained her young lady friends last evening, in honor of Miss Eva Blackburn, who leaves next week to enter one of the London hospitals.

Miss Beulah Mercer, of St. Clair, Mich., is the guest of Miss E. Sharpe.

Just how Captain Davidson, the Bay City millionaire, owner of the Dresden Sugar Factory, made his fifteen millions, is well illustrated by the following story. The Captain was a Dresden visitor recently and, as usual, rode up from the station in one of the local busses. At the Clifford House he alighted from the bus and offered the driver ten cents as his fare. Now, quite lately the fare has been advanced to fifteen cents, and the millionaire ship-owner was positively informed of this fact by the bus-owner. He hesitated not a minute, but retorted, "Ten cents is all it's worth to bring a man up town, and ten cents is all I will give you." The charitable bus man thought he would not be too hard on the poor man, so he did not try to stop him; he made a hurried entrance into the hotel. Young men anxious to get on in the world would do well (?) to copy the saving methods of this Yankee millionaire.

Irvine Wallace has made an assignment of his confectionery business. It is to be regretted that Mr. Wallace could not make a success of the business, as he is one of the most popular and deserving young men in our town.

The merchants and business men of Dresden are making daily complaints

of the manner in which the difficulties with the Sugar factory management are being handled by the councilmen. Now, a new council will be elected in two months, and it behooves these merchants and business men to see that next year's council is made up of men from among themselves, then we can have business methods applied to our civic government.

Mr. and Mrs. Frank Wells entertained a number of friends last evening.

Nov. 5.—Miss Ethel Walsh, of Chatham, is the guest of Mrs. Wm. McNair for a few days.

Division Court met in the Eare Hall yesterday.

A number of young people drove to Sniderville, near Wilkesport, Tuesday evening, where a tea-meeting and concert was held.

At the Calvin anniversary tea and entertainment on Monday evening last Rev. and Mrs. J. M. Nicol were presented with $50 in gold as a wedding gift from the congregation.

Two basket ball contests will be put on in the Town Hall to-morrow evening. The first game will be between the Collegiate team and six of the outside girls. The next game will be between the team of the Chatham Bugle Band and the local young men's team. A number of supporters are expected to accompany the Chatham boys.

Nov. 5.—Miss L. Armstrong, of London, is visiting her sister, Mrs. Elias Graves.

Mr. John Howat was in Glenora today.

Mr. Irwin attended the Glenora live stock show.

Wm. Miller, traveller of the Hobbs Hardware Co., is in town today.

Edward Charlesworth, of Windsor, is spending a week hunting with Mr. Justice Henderson.

Mrs. McAlpine, of Toronto, is in town.

Mrs. Richardson has returned home from visiting her daughter in London.

Mrs. E. W. Smith and little daughter have returned home.

Evangelist Kerr is drawing large crowds at his meetings in the Methodist Church.

Nov. 5.—Miss May Miller entertained her young lady friends last evening, in honor of Miss Eva Blackburn, who leaves next week to enter one of the London hospitals.

Miss Beulah Mercer, of St. Clair, Mich., is the guest of Miss E. Sharpe.

Just how Captain Davidson, the Bay City millionaire, owner of the Dresden Sugar Factory, made his fifteen millions, is well illustrated by the following story. The Captain was a Dresden visitor recently and, as usual, rode up from the station in one of the local busses. At the Clifford House he alighted from the bus and offered the driver ten cents as his fare. Now, quite lately the fare has been advanced to fifteen cents, and the millionaire ship-owner was positively informed of this fact by the bus-owner. He hesitated not a minute, but retorted, "Ten cents is all it's worth to bring a man up town, and ten cents is all I will give you." The charitable bus man thought he would not be too hard on the poor man, so he did not try to stop him; he made a hurried entrance into the hotel. Young men anxious to get on in the world would do well (?) to copy the saving methods of this Yankee millionaire.

Irvine Wallace has made an assignment of his confectionery business. It is to be regretted that Mr. Wallace could not make a success of the business, as he is one of the most popular and deserving young men in our town.

The merchants and business men of Dresden are making daily complaints

of the manner in which the difficulties with the Sugar factory management are being handled by the councilmen. Now, a new council will be elected in two months, and it behooves these merchants and business men to see that next year's council is made up of men from among themselves, then we can have business methods applied to our civic government.

Mr. and Mrs. Frank Wells entertained a number of friends last evening.

Nov. 5.—Miss Ethel Walsh, of Chatham, is the guest of Mrs. Wm. McNair for a few days.

Division Court met in the Eare Hall yesterday.

A number of young people drove to Sniderville, near Wilkesport, Tuesday evening, where a tea-meeting and concert was held.

At the Calvin anniversary tea and entertainment on Monday evening last Rev. and Mrs. J. M. Nicol were presented with $50 in gold as a wedding gift from the congregation.

Two basket ball contests will be put on in the Town Hall to-morrow evening. The first game will be between the Collegiate team and six of the outside girls. The next game will be between the team of the Chatham Bugle Band and the local young men's team. A number of supporters are expected to accompany the Chatham boys.

Nov. 5.—Miss L. Armstrong, of London, is visiting her sister, Mrs. Elias Graves.

Mr. John Howat was in Glenora today.

Mr. Irwin attended the Glenora live stock show.

Wm. Miller, traveller of the Hobbs Hardware Co., is in town today.

Edward Charlesworth, of Windsor, is spending a week hunting with Mr. Justice Henderson.

Mrs. McAlpine, of Toronto, is in town.

Mrs. Richardson has returned home from visiting her daughter in London.

Mrs. E. W. Smith and little daughter have returned home.

Evangelist Kerr is drawing large crowds at his meetings in the Methodist Church.

Nov. 5.—Miss May Miller entertained her young lady friends last evening, in honor of Miss Eva Blackburn, who leaves next week to enter one of the London hospitals.

Miss Beulah Mercer, of St. Clair, Mich., is the guest of Miss E. Sharpe.

Just how Captain Davidson, the Bay City millionaire, owner of the Dresden Sugar Factory, made his fifteen millions, is well illustrated by the following story. The Captain was a Dresden visitor recently and, as usual, rode up from the station in one of the local busses. At the Clifford House he alighted from the bus and offered the driver ten cents as his fare. Now, quite lately the fare has been advanced to fifteen cents, and the millionaire ship-owner was positively informed of this fact by the bus-owner. He hesitated not a minute, but retorted, "Ten cents is all it's worth to bring a man up town, and ten cents is all I will give you." The charitable bus man thought he would not be too hard on the poor man, so he did not try to stop him; he made a hurried entrance into the hotel. Young men anxious to get on in the world would do well (?) to copy the saving methods of this Yankee millionaire.

Irvine Wallace has made an assignment of his confectionery business. It is to be regretted that Mr. Wallace could not make a success of the business, as he is one of the most popular and deserving young men in our town.

The merchants and business men of Dresden are making daily complaints

of the manner in which the difficulties with the Sugar factory management are being handled by the councilmen. Now, a new council will be elected in two months, and it behooves these merchants and business men to see that next year's council is made up of men from among themselves, then we can have business methods applied to our civic government.

Mr. and Mrs. Frank Wells entertained a number of friends last evening.

Nov. 5.—Miss Ethel Walsh, of Chatham, is the guest of Mrs. Wm. McNair for a few days.

Division Court met in the Eare Hall yesterday.

A number of young people drove to Sniderville, near Wilkesport, Tuesday evening, where a tea-meeting and concert was held.

At the Calvin anniversary tea and entertainment on Monday evening last Rev. and Mrs. J. M. Nicol were presented with $50 in gold as a wedding gift from the congregation.

Two basket ball contests will be put on in the Town Hall to-morrow evening. The first game will be between the Collegiate team and six of the outside girls. The next game will be between the team of the Chatham Bugle Band and the local young men's team. A number of supporters are expected to accompany the Chatham boys.

Nov. 5.—Miss L. Armstrong, of London, is visiting her sister, Mrs. Elias Graves.

Mr. John Howat was in Glenora today.

Mr. Irwin attended the Glenora live stock show.

Wm. Miller, traveller of the Hobbs Hardware Co., is in town today.

Edward Charlesworth, of Windsor, is spending a week hunting with Mr. Justice Henderson.

Mrs. McAlpine, of Toronto, is in town.

Mrs. Richardson has returned home from visiting her daughter in London.

Mrs. E. W. Smith and little daughter have returned home.

Evangelist Kerr is drawing large crowds at his meetings in the Methodist Church.

Nov. 5.—Miss May Miller entertained her young lady friends last evening, in honor of Miss Eva Blackburn, who leaves next week to enter one of the London hospitals.

Miss Beulah Mercer, of St. Clair, Mich., is the guest of Miss E. Sharpe.

Just how Captain Davidson, the Bay City millionaire, owner of the Dresden Sugar Factory, made his fifteen millions, is well illustrated by the following story. The Captain was a Dresden visitor recently and, as usual, rode up from the station in one of the local busses. At the Clifford House he alighted from the bus and offered the driver ten cents as his fare. Now, quite lately the fare has been advanced to fifteen cents, and the millionaire ship-owner was positively informed of this fact by the bus-owner. He hesitated not a minute, but retorted, "Ten cents is all it's worth to bring a man up town, and ten cents is all I will give you." The charitable bus man thought he would not be too hard on the poor man, so he did not try to stop him; he made a hurried entrance into the hotel. Young men anxious to get on in the world would do well (?) to copy the saving methods of this Yankee millionaire.

Irvine Wallace has made an assignment of his confectionery business. It is to be regretted that Mr. Wallace could not make a success of the business, as he is one of the most popular and deserving young men in our town.

The merchants and business men of Dresden are making daily complaints

of the manner in which the difficulties with the Sugar factory management are being handled by the councilmen. Now, a new council will be elected in two months, and it behooves these merchants and business men to see that next year's council is made up of men from among themselves, then we can have business methods applied to our civic government.

Mr. and Mrs. Frank Wells entertained a number of friends last evening.

Nov. 5.—Miss Ethel Walsh, of Chatham, is the guest of Mrs. Wm. McNair for a few days.

Division Court met in the Eare Hall yesterday.

A number of young people drove to Sniderville, near Wilkesport, Tuesday evening, where a tea-meeting and concert was held.

At the Calvin anniversary tea and entertainment on Monday evening last Rev. and Mrs. J. M. Nicol were presented with $50 in gold as a wedding gift from the congregation.

Two basket ball contests will be put on in the Town Hall to-morrow evening. The first game will be between the Collegiate team and six of the outside girls. The next game will be between the team of the Chatham Bugle Band and the local young men's team. A number of supporters are expected to accompany the Chatham boys.

Nov. 5.—Miss L. Armstrong, of London, is visiting her sister, Mrs. Elias Graves.

Mr. John Howat was in Glenora today.

Mr. Irwin attended the Glenora live stock show.

Wm. Miller, traveller of the Hobbs Hardware Co., is in town today.

Edward Charlesworth, of Windsor, is spending a week hunting with Mr. Justice Henderson.

Mrs. McAlpine, of Toronto, is in town.

Mrs. Richardson has returned home from visiting her daughter in London.

Mrs. E. W. Smith and little daughter have returned home.

Evangelist Kerr is drawing large crowds at his meetings in the Methodist Church.

Nov. 5.—Miss May Miller entertained her young lady friends last evening, in honor of Miss Eva Blackburn, who leaves next week to enter one of the London hospitals.

Miss Beulah Mercer, of St. Clair, Mich., is the guest of Miss E. Sharpe.

Just how Captain Davidson, the Bay City millionaire, owner of the Dresden Sugar Factory, made his fifteen millions, is well illustrated by the following story. The Captain was a Dresden visitor recently and, as usual, rode up from the station in one of the local busses. At the Clifford House he alighted from the bus and offered the driver ten cents as his fare. Now, quite lately the fare has been advanced to fifteen cents, and the millionaire ship-owner was positively informed of this fact by the bus-owner. He hesitated not a minute, but retorted, "Ten cents is all it's worth to bring a man up town, and ten cents is all I will give you." The charitable bus man thought he would not be too hard on the poor man, so he did not try to stop him; he made a hurried entrance into the hotel. Young men anxious to get on in the world would do well (?) to copy the saving methods of this Yankee millionaire.

Irvine Wallace has made an assignment of his confectionery business. It is to be regretted that Mr. Wallace could not make a success of the business, as he is one of the most popular and deserving young men in our town.

The merchants and business men of Dresden are making daily complaints

of the manner in which the difficulties with the Sugar factory management are being handled by the councilmen. Now, a new council will be elected in two months, and it behooves these merchants and business men to see that next year's council is made up of men from among themselves, then we can have business methods applied to our civic government.

Mr. and Mrs. Frank Wells entertained a number of friends last evening.

Nov. 5.—Miss Ethel Walsh, of Chatham, is the guest of Mrs. Wm. McNair for a few days.

Division Court met in the Eare Hall yesterday.

A number of young people drove to Sniderville, near Wilkesport, Tuesday evening, where a tea-meeting and concert was held.

At the Calvin anniversary tea and entertainment on Monday evening last Rev. and Mrs. J. M. Nicol were presented with $50 in gold as a wedding gift from the congregation.

Two basket ball contests will be put on in the Town Hall to-morrow evening. The first game will be between the Collegiate team and six of the outside girls. The next game will be between the team of the Chatham Bugle Band and the local young men's team. A number of supporters are expected to accompany the Chatham boys.

Nov. 5.—Miss L. Armstrong, of London, is visiting her sister, Mrs. Elias Graves.

Mr. John Howat was in Glenora today.

Mr. Irwin attended the Glenora live stock show.

Wm. Miller, traveller of the Hobbs Hardware Co., is in town today.

Edward Charlesworth, of Windsor, is spending a week hunting with Mr. Justice Henderson.

Mrs. McAlpine, of Toronto, is in town.

Mrs. Richardson has returned home from visiting her daughter in London.

Mrs. E. W. Smith and little daughter have returned home.

Evangelist Kerr is drawing large crowds at his meetings in the Methodist Church.

Nov. 5.—Miss May Miller entertained her young lady friends last evening, in honor of Miss Eva Blackburn, who leaves next week to enter one of the London hospitals.

Miss Beulah Mercer, of St. Clair, Mich., is the guest of Miss E. Sharpe.

Just how Captain Davidson, the Bay City millionaire, owner of the Dresden Sugar Factory, made his fifteen millions, is well illustrated by the following story. The Captain was a Dresden visitor recently and, as usual, rode up from the station in one of the local busses. At the Clifford House he alighted from the bus and offered the driver ten cents as his fare. Now, quite lately the fare has been advanced to fifteen cents, and the millionaire ship-owner was positively informed of this fact by the bus-owner. He hesitated not a minute, but retorted, "Ten cents is all it's worth to bring a man up town, and ten cents is all I will give you." The charitable bus man thought he would not be too hard on the poor man, so he did not try to stop him; he made a hurried entrance into the hotel. Young men anxious to get on in the world would do well (?) to copy the saving methods of this Yankee millionaire.

Irvine Wallace has made an assignment of his confectionery business. It is to be regretted that Mr. Wallace could not make a success of the business, as he is one of the most popular and deserving young men in our town.

The merchants and business men of Dresden are making daily complaints

of the manner in which the difficulties with the Sugar factory management are being handled by the councilmen. Now, a new council will be elected in two months, and it behooves these merchants and business men to see that next year's council is made up of men from among themselves, then we can have business methods applied to our civic government.

Mr. and Mrs. Frank Wells entertained a number of friends last evening.

Nov. 5.—Miss Ethel Walsh, of Chatham, is the guest of Mrs. Wm. McNair for a few days.

Division Court met in the Eare Hall yesterday.

A number of young people drove to Sniderville, near Wilkesport, Tuesday evening, where a tea-meeting and concert was held.

At the Calvin anniversary tea and entertainment on Monday evening last Rev. and Mrs. J. M. Nicol were presented with $50 in gold as a wedding gift from the congregation.

Two basket ball contests will be put on in the Town Hall to-morrow evening. The first game will be between the Collegiate team and six of the outside girls. The next game will be between the team of the Chatham Bugle Band and the local young men's team. A number of supporters are expected to accompany the Chatham boys.

Nov. 5.—Miss L. Armstrong, of London, is visiting her sister, Mrs. Elias Graves.

Mr. John Howat was in Glenora today.

Mr. Irwin attended the Glenora live stock show.