

more deserving of prominence than any other the beauty of its homes. At our request, the owners of a number of Hamilton's fine homes have generously co-operated with us in its production.

In arranging this booklet no attempt has been made to classify the various periods and schemes of furnishings, or the styles of architecture, other than to group all views from one home together when possible, and to show as many different ideas in thoughtful home-furnishing as is possible in a limited space.

It is interesting to note, incidentally, that in every view shown the decorating or furnishing has been done with the co-operation of our home-furnishing service.

THOMAS C. WATKINS, Limited
The Right House.

HAMILTON, ONT.

1914

Price One Dollar