A great many people ruin their ability to see good in others by con-stantly holding their defects in mind. It is impossible to develop the bet

It is impossible to develop the better side of one's nature, that which appreciates the good, the beautiful and the true, while the mind is filled with thoughts of an opposite kind. How heatifully, for instance, a child develops under the loving thought of a sweet-tempered, sunshing mother! Not alone are its best qualities encouraged and nourished, but their rapid development kills the best of the growth of antagon. possibility of the growth of antagonistic qualities, just as the rapid maturing of cultivated plants checks the weeds which might otherwise strangle them. Encouragement of one dis-them. Encouragement of one dis-curages the other.

By way of contrast, notice a child who is constantly scolded, criticised and found fault with by its mother. You will find that the child's worst qualities are rapidly developed. The thought the mother holds toward it discourages the unfoldment of the better side of its nature, and eventually destroys it.

In the same way, a teacher who holds thought in regard to a pupil, discour-

As a rule, children need the sunshine of merited praise. They require appreciation and encouragement to aid their normal development.

Nothing so chills and discourages a pupil, so quickly robs him of spon-taneity and enthusiasm, as a faultfinding, critical attitude on the part the teacher.

Whatever you do, don't ruin your Whatever you do, don't ruin your canacity for appreciating the good and the beautiful in others, for so-ing the better cide of human nature. Don't burrow in the mire of dis-content, fretting and fault-finds on that you cannot appreciate moral

There are men living in worse dungeons than that which was occupied by Kasper Hauser. Voluntary prischers, they have, by the current of their thoughts, abut themselves off from all that is lovely, healthful and in piring in life.

. . . Storage of Meat

Meat used while fresh is more nutriticus and palatable than salted or cured meats. It is therefore de-sirable to use as much of it uncured as possible. It is very difficult to keep meat fresh during the summer months without the use of ice, and even then but little can be handled at one time on the ordinary farm. at one time on the ordinary farm. Where a room or family refrigerator can be kept at a temperature of 40 degrees or less, with good ventilation and circulation of air, fresh mest can be kept for a week or 10 days.
