

SIMPLE HOME RECIPE.

Get from any prescription pharmacist the following:

Fluid Extract Dandelion, one-half ounce; Compound Kargon, one ounce; Compound Syrup Sarsaparilla, three ounces.

Shake well in a bottle, and take a tea-spoonful dose after each meal and at bedtime.

The above is considered by an eminent authority, who writes in a New York daily paper, as the finest prescription ever written to relieve Backache, Kidney Trouble, Weak Bladder and all forms of Urinary difficulties. This mixture acts promptly on the eliminative tissues of the Kidneys, enabling them to filter and strain the uric acid and other waste matter from the blood, which causes Rheumatism.

Some persons who suffer with the afflictions may not feel inclined to place much confidence in this simple mixture, yet those who have tried it say the results are simply surprising: the relief being effected without the slightest injury to the stomach or other organs.

Mix some and give it a trial. It certainly comes highly recommended. It is the prescription of an eminent authority, whose entire reputation, it is said, was established by it.

A druggist here at home when asked stated that he could either supply the ingredients or mix the prescription for our readers, also recommends it as harmless.

NEGRO GALLANTRY.

"When I was preaching at Wallawalla, Washington," said a Kansas clergyman, "there was no negro preacher in town, and I was often called upon to perform a ceremony between negroes. One afternoon, after I had married a young negro couple, the groom asked the price of the service.

"Oh, well," said I, "you can pay me whatever you think it is worth to you."

"The negro turned and silently looked his bride over from head to foot, then slowly rolling up the whites of his eyes said:

"Lawd, sah, you has done ruined me for life; you has, for sure."—Chicago Inter-Ocean.

ON FISHING.

Mr. Angell, in Our Dumb Animals, has this to say about fishing:

Always kill fish as soon as they are taken from the water by a sharp blow with a baton or stick on the back of the head.

They keep better, eat better, and are in all respects better than those that suffer just before dying.

The best fishermen in Europe and America know this—the suffering of any animal just before dying always tends to make the meat unwholesome and sometimes poisonous.

The writer recalls well when he was a boy a Welshman and his family in the same village plied fishing as his business. He and his boys each carried a wooden mallet, and as fast as fish were drawn in each was killed at once. Another fisherman asked why he did it. He answered, "Would you eat cows' meat that died a natural death?"

"Of course not."
"Neither would I eat a fish's meat that died a natural death."

Veterinary.

INAPPETENCE.

Brood mare has poor appetite, and does not drink much, and has failed in flesh. I had her teeth dressed. J. E. K.

Ans.—Take three ounces each of sulphate of iron, gentian, ginger, nuxvomica and bicarbonate of soda. Mix, and make into 24 powders. Give a powder three times daily. Repeat prescription as often as necessary. V.

INDIGESTION IN HORSE.

Could you give me a prescription for indigestion in horses? E. L.

Ans.—Acute attacks are frequently brought on by excessive feeding. In ordinary cases, a purge is advised with 6 to 8 ounces of raw linseed oil, followed with a half dram of ginger and gentian in damp food night and morning. Feed small quantities of good clean clover hay, and scalded, chopped oats and bran. Give exercise.

ENTERITIS.

Filly, three months old, was lying down in pasture, and did not want to rise one morning. I brought her to the stable, and she would lie down, roll over on her back, get up, repeat the actions, etc., etc. I gave her a cupful of raw oil, and injections of warm water. She got worse and died the next morning. A post-mortem revealed the bowels black.

J. A. G.

Ans.—The filly died from inflammation of the bowels (enteritis). It is probable a veterinarian could have saved her, if he had been called at first. He would have given about four ounces tincture of opium, every three or four hours, in order to relieve pain and allay inflammation. In these cases, the bowels should be soothed, and their action temporarily checked, instead of which you increased the action by giving a brisk purgative. Cases of enteritis are surely fatal unless properly treated in the early stages. V.

RECURRENT DIARRHEA.

Horse took diarrhea two weeks ago. I treated him, and he got better; but the trouble recurred in a few days, and continues to recur. He is getting thin. M. D.

Ans.—Get your veterinarian to dress his teeth. Give him a pint of raw linseed oil. In 24 hours after giving the oil, give two drams powdered opium and four drams each of catechu and prepared chalk in a pint of cold water as a drench every four hours until diarrhea ceases. To his drinking water, add one-quarter of its bulk of lime water. To improve appetite, give two drams each of gentian, ginger and nuxvomica, three times daily. Feed on good hay and oats. V.
