THE TRUE WITNESS AND CATHOLIC CHRONICLE.

LORD ROSEBERY «IN ROME. -A most interesting paragraph appears in an English Catholic paper concerning the recent visit of Lord Rosebery to the Pope. What a contrast with the President of a supposed Catholic country who goes to Rome and ignores the Vicar of Christ, Here is the simple and edifying account

'The Earl of Rosebery requested : private audience of the Pontifi out of his regard for the person of the Holy Father, whom he had not yet seen He had no errand or commission, 1 ut mercly this quite personal desire. His audience was as satisfactory as his anticipations had been pleasant. reached the Vatican from the British Embassy at about midday on Wednesday, May 4. His audience lasted eight or ten minutes. Mgr. Prior, , who, introduced him to the Pope remained during the interview and acted as interpreter, for His Holiness spoke in Italian. After the Papal audience, the visitors left the Papal apartment from the Clementine Hall and passed out through the loggias, where were assembled upwards 0 seven hundred pilgrims from Palom bara Sabina, a poor village of the Roman Campagna, lying towards Tivoli. The assemblage was very striking, the country people being in characteristic costumes. It was also composed of persons of every age. from infants to greybeards. Lord Rosebery was much struck by the presence and evident freedom of these people in the Royal Vatican of their Father, and the memory of the sight and thought which the strange throng presented will remain among thk most vivid of the impressions of his present visit to the Eternal City. His Lordship then called on the Cardinal Secretary of State.

. . .

A CONVERT'S EXPLANATION. Mr. A. R. Cooper, of Leeds, Eng land, has written a beautiful letter to the press, telling of his conversion to the Catholic Church. About eighteen months ago, Mr. Cooper, then a doubt Protestant, began to have about his religion. Though not in Catholic yet, he was very sincere his desire to know the truth. Her is what he now writes to a Catholic organ, with which he had consider able correspondence before his conversion : "I was received into the Church on the evening of Good Friday, and as each day goes by, more and more do I realize the wonderful goodness of God and the benefits He has bestowed upon me. I owe my conversion partly to the books I to conversations have read, partly with Catholics, partly to correspondence with many of your readers, who were good enough to come to my aid, but principally to the Divine Grace of God." Here we see how much good books can do, and how Catholics should learn their ow religion in order to be able to teach it to others. Great is the responsibility of the Catholic.

. . .

A VERSATILE DOMINICAN. The Rev. Sabastian Gates, O.P., who is exhibiting pictures in the Royal Academy, London, this year, affords an example of genius in a particular branch of art asserting itself after the age of maturity is reached. Father Gates has explained to the a public reception tendered to in the Russell Theatre, Ottawa, last week, His Eminence Cardinal Ginbons of Baltimore, made the following dediaration in regard to the spirit of good-will and peace which should always exist between the United States and Canada. He said :

hin

"I earnestly hope that the pleasant and fraternal relations will always exist between these two great nations, and the more the increase of commerce and trade between one another, the more friendly will become, because we will understand one another better. Every rail that is placed across the from tier, every track that is laid, every track, I say, becomes a link binding the two nations together, becomes a living vein connecting the hearts Canada and the United States, and bringing them into closer, connection with one another and thereby bind ing them closer in sympathy and affection.

"I earnestly hope that if ever dispute should arise between these two nations, it will have no regard to war, but rather as to which shall surpass the other . in the fields of commerce and trade and of civiliza tion and of humanity. If any dispute should ever arise between the two nations, I earnestly hope that it shall always be settled by boards of arbitration; I earnestly hope that disputes, if any should arise will be settled, not on the battlefield but in the chamber of conciliation, not with the sword, but with the pen for the pen is mightier than the sword, especially when that pen is eminent peaceable wielded by such men and able statesmen as your chief executive officer in this country your illustrious Prime Minister, and other distinguished statesmen. "It is not surprising, however, that we should have these fraternal relations, because we have practically the same form of government, becaus we understand what liberty is. You in this country and we in our country have liberty without license, authority without despotism, and our respective countries hold the aegis of this protection over us without interfering with any man in the exer cise of his conscience and in pursuit of the religion which his conscience calls upon him to exercise.

LAW AND ITS LESSONS. -A correspondent of the London Daily News furnishes the following statistics to show the cost of litigation in England and Wales during recent years 'In the year 1902 no fewer than 1.410.484 proceedings were begun, ex cluding all criminal affairs. This is a record, and should be set against 1, 358,587 for 1901. If we reckon fiv to the family, we discover the cheerful fact that about one household in every four has been so enlightened as to appeal unto Caesar. The number of cases heard and determined. was 472,041 in 1902, as compared with 456,242 in 1901

Touching upon the financial aspec he says :

"Now the cost of all this quarrel ing is not to be measured in pounds shillings and pence. No sum of money adequately compensates worry, for it is nevertheless significant that the bill for 1902 rose to £1,561,975 10s 7d. Litigation is press that he did not try to draw till the ultimate outcome of the friction

Gibbons stated that he signed the etter of request. It is evident that the aim of the Cardinal and of the to induce the ex-actress to come out again, was to have her splendid ex-ample and great moral influence play a part in the continuation or egeneration of the stage. But it has all proven in vain. The following cablegram tells the story: 'James W. Morrissey, recently came to England with a letter to Mme De Navarro (Miss Mary Anderson) bearing the signatures of Cardinal Gib bons, Bishop Potter, W. K. Vanderbilt, George J. Gould and a score or more notable American citizens suggesting that she should undertake tour of the United States, giving readings from poets, per prospective manager, Mr. Nelson Roberts, agreeing that a part of the gross receipts be devoted to charity.

"Mme De Navarro has written letter expressing a sense of her worthiness of the honor bestowed by so many of America's most distin guished men, and regretting that she is impelled to decline their request, not wishing to return to the stage. . . .

CHURCH MUSIC. - Some time ago it was widely circulated that a protest was sent to Rome by American Bishops, representing that New would not be possible in the World to enforce the rules laid down by Pius X. in regard to Church mu sic. At the time we paid no attention to the rumor, nor did we even mention it. Now it turns out that the Vatican authorities deny having received objections from American Archbishops and Bishops regarding the subject of the Gregorian Chant. It is pointed out in this connection that the decree did not call for the exclusive use of the Gregorian chant, nor did it forbid congregational sing ing, including naturally female voices Hence we see what small amount of reliance is to be placed in those fabricated rumors concerning the doings of Rome and of the Church, abroad . . .

KAISER AND THE POPE. - The Emperor of Germany has again manifested his friendship for the Holy See by the presentation to the Pope of a beautifully bound copy of the first volume of the important work. on the Sistine Chapel, which is being edited by Dr. Steinman. On receiving the book from the Prussian Envoy, Pius X. expressed himself warmly appreciation of the lriendship of Emperor William, speaking not only of this most recent evidence, but also of previous actions of deference on the part of the German Emperor. To all he world the contrast between the Protestant head of a thoroughly Protestant State with that of the SC called Catholic head of a so-called Catholic State, is so pronounced that it is not necessary to draw attention to it . . .

A CATHOLIC MUSICIAN. -Anton Dvorak, the Catholic musical com poser, died the other day at Prague He was in his sixty-second year, and succumbed to a fit of apopleptic chaacter. Like so many who have riser to fame, Dvorak was a self-made man the son of a Bohemian innkeeper. The great merit of his "Stabat Mater" has been acknowledged by the whole world. His mastery over the mo dern orchestra and his power emotional expression enabled him to reach a high mark in his art, and wherever he went he excited admira tion in an unusual degree. But though popular everywhere, naturally the greatest admiration was felt for him. own countrymen, and his by his death they mourn as a national loss. It is to be noted that he was not made Bishop Lavert of Kwang-si mandaria of the second degree on ac count of his devotion to the people other Catholic prelates who sought of that Province during a recent famine. . . .

> CARDINALS IN GERMANY. -Honors pour in on Catholic prelates from Pagan and Protestant sources while the heads of a Catholic country re prosecuting them. Cardinal F she Archbishop of Cologne, has been cre ated by Emperor William a member of the Prussian House of Lords. Car dinal Kopp of Breslau, and the Bishop of Hildeshuin are already members of that body.

the same air.

a great many hours at the

As I moved on I re-

sam

(SWIFT'S WORK.)

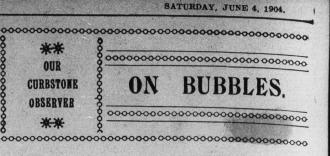

(By a Regular Contributor.) Among the occasional contributor and his game brought it all back to the "Tatler" Swift has been men. most vividly to my memory. And as It is not improbable that tioned. I grew older I began to blow other he frequently gave hints, but there inds of hubbles that have all vanishis not much that can be assigned to ed like those I had made from soap. his pen. His wit was so licentious cred, and that no.subject, however no character, however amiable, were MY FIRST BUBBLES. -I could safe; his invective had more of malignity than virtuous indignation; his vividly recall those long holidays then home from school, characters are drawn in hideous diswalk, all alone, and for hours around tortion, and perhaps no man even my father's farm, and make bright attempted to ridicule vice or folly and airy bubbles. with less of the salutary and gentle spirit of correction. reers: I saw myself at one time roll. It would be unnecessary to give a detailed account of his life here. It philanthropist, at other times holdhas been written by Lord Orrey, by Hawkesworth, by Delany, by Johnson, and lastly by Sheridan. In these then believed I possessed. As I look writers considerable discordance back over the desert space of opinion occures. It is with truth that Johnson has stated that "he long intervening years, I can thos seems to have wasted life in discontent, by the rage of neglected pride, and the languishment of unsatisfied desire. He is querulous and fastidious, arrogant and malignant; me. In years that followed, as scarcely speaks of himself but with indignant lamentations, or of others but with insolent superiority when he is gay, and with angry contempt when he is gloomy.' Sheridan, indeed, has published should be of pure and unmixed ex cellence, he has plunged into a series of inconsistencies from which he never knows how to extracate himself. The truth is that Sheridan was proud of the original information and materials which he had been able to collect and did not perceive that although they might furnish an impartial life

Yet for this Swift is not account able. His conduct, measured by his own principles, is seldom mysterious, and becomes so only when attempts are thus made to render it consistent with a character which he did not Doubts have been justly entertained of his religion; and there are many proofs that it was a religion which did little honor to the church of which he was a member His notions of what became the dig nity of a ministerial or clerical fice appear to have been very lax. Although Swift professed to make the Lord Keeper give livings to person whom he could not mention without contempt, his biographer in forms us that he was most circumspect in matters withih his own "He was extremely exact and onscientious in promoting the members of the choir according to their not merit, and never advanced any per-

The other day as I was walking vanished after a brief space and are Aong one of the streets in the north now amongst the persons and things that belong to the past. I end of the city I saw a lad of some alo servive them all, and I count nine or ten years, seated on a door the tep, with a bowel of suds and a bubbles on life's ocean that I have clay pipe, and amusing himself mak- seen, and I realize what a very ing bubbles. It was a real enjoysignificant bubble I must be Of ment to watch the keen pleasure course 1 am not alone in these periments. Every one else has had the lad, as he would blow a string them, but possibly everyone else does of bubbles from the pipe, and then watch them floating off in the , air not reflect upon them. till they disappeared or vanished into

A LESSON IN BUBBLES. -A few flected on all the bubbles I have nights ago business brought me blown in my life, and I wondered, as the capital, and having little to do, did the lad, where they had all gone to while away the time, I went to to. When I was a tiny boy I spent the House to hear the big debate on the great Transcontinental railway. I amusement, and the sight of the boy sat in the gallery and looked down at the scores of eager members awaiting a momentous vote. I noted them all from the Premier, all along the lines behind him, to the Leader the Opposition and the men who support him. But my thoughts were far from the subject of debate. Thirty one years ago I sat in that same gallery, in that same seat, and I I would looked down on that same House

There was then the question of the first great transcontinental line under I built up imagifiery discussion. Where the Premier nary castles; I carved out great caof to-day sits, then sat Sir John A. Macdonald; where Hon. Mr. Borden ing in wealth and becoming a great now sits, then sat Hou, Alex. Mackenzie. In all that assembly ing listening thousands entranced by could count only three men who were the magic of a fiery eloquence that I there on the former occasion - Sir W. Laurier, Hon. Mr. Haggart and the Hon. Mr. Costigan. All the rest. See old as the oldest may be, are very again, delight my ecent introductions. Since then fancy's eye with all their variety of Mackenzie has occupied the Premiercolor, and finally disappear forever ship; then Sir John Macdonald; then They melted into air, and I was left Sir John Abbott; than Sir John with the sad realities of life before Thompson; then Sir M. Bowell; then Sir Charles Tupper. And the two progressed through school, came out, last mentioned are out of that House entered upon the study of a profesforever, while all the others have sion, and finally graduated into its gone as the bubbles of my youth, ranks, I sat many a night making and their names are not even recallbubbles for the future. I saw them ed. This was a grave lesson for me in the matter of bubbles, and it taught me most potently how small atand unimportant we all are. In this connection I came upon some lines that appeared in the Indianapolis News, a short time ago, but with out any signaturel These lines added to my own reflections, will complete my observations and remarks upon bubbles.

LINES ON BUBBLES. -

Where are the snows of yesteryear? Where are the names we once dear ? Where, oh where is all the radiant race

Whose names once thronged the headline space 1 Where's Madame Humbert and Oom Paul ? Where's Funston and Hobson ? Where ah, me. The names each morning we joyed to see ?

There's all the scintillating mob? Where's Leiter ? Sully ? Where is Schwab ?

ere's Croker, Dick ? and Debs, Eugene ? The Wł throng .

Where's Thomas Lipton ? Where's the craft

That Langley built, and while the others laughed is all the glorious Where, where public or non-Cathol are the principles men "There is a God, ' His hand, Who gave also take it when an Him. He has made ject to certain laws man a certain limit which to regulate h The will of God is should live at peace and this can only be only be

SATURDAY, JU

0000000000000

RELIGIO

00000000000

There is an article

signed -"H. V. Weisse important subject of intention to analyze, article. I have good doing so, because it

Catholic readers and rect manner. Take t

"A short time ago colleague that I was over the manner in gion of the schoolboy cussed with profit, and with the unexpected nse, "Has he any bected, for my col

Holy Orders. This w

fice me as a justificat not seriously offend, i that the religion tau rage boy at the aver practically a negligit ordinary life. In so

I do not for one mo

a view to fostering d cept the view that s without religion; on hold that every boy code, which controls generally colors his 1

There is a doubt upon the existence of gion in the schoolb what his teaching m a further explanation

der any Protestant

Jewish or other form is excellent. The bea of obedience to Divin ab egation, of moral corporal purity, is e attainment to a high practice of these virt aim of surpassing im the rejection of the c duty, the failure to punishable here and n the eternal hereaft

I quote this, becaus the subject and in cludes everything exc ligious and moral i are, therefore, placed the author, with Pro

Judaeism, but there or reference to Catho say that all the stra religion of the presen boy do not affect us those who ignore C and Catholic systems

GENERAL PRINC

writer lays down a principles, that of th very good. Of cours be taught, if it is school-boy should be ligion. But they con best of all, that can brace all, nor near

'All moral teachin

ously, has one or m cerity, and found paragraph :

place before the re

of the School Boy."

of the

"Contemp

really are, I lament for the bubble of other days, and I wonder where they have gone to; but experience has taught me not to wonder that they were only bubbles. BUBBLES I'VE SEEN. - I can count along the pathway that I have rod such a vast number of human bubbles that are to-day (save as concerns their souls) just as if they had never been. The first time, as young man, I took part in a trial, 1 remember with what awe bubbles rise

I looked upon the judge, how I admired the Crown lawyer, and how I almost en vied the notoriety of the prisoner. That is many years ago. The very Court House in which that event took place no longer exists-it was a huge bubble that went the way all other frail things of earth. judge, the sheriff, the Prothonotary the crier, the High Constable, turnkey, the jailer, the chief bailiff, the crown prosecutor, the two lawyers for the defence, the prisoner, the foreman of the jury, the doctor who gave medical evidence, and all of anticipation of their realization. And to-day, as I tread the city curbstone and see myself and my past as they in chains of successes all linked to elaborate vindication of Swift; but each other, all beautiful in their having determined that his character form and all different in their tractiveness, and I admired them in of Swift, they could not support continued panegyric.

-0.5		caused by carelessness or overcharg-	only a Catholic, but one who drew	son to a vicarage, who was not qua-	the others whose faces I can remem-	strong?	each member of the
		ing. I have heard lawyers say that	his grandest inspiration from , the	lified for it in all respects, whatever	ber, have long since gone away	Strong ?	observing certain res they spend most of their time per-	Church.	their interests and however recom-	forever from this sphere; they were	Now other bubbles brim the cup,	free-will, shall we sa suading clients not to go into court,	And the second states and the second states and the		bubbles and nothing more, and they	And still my envelope comes up :	ligion, to curb his se and such advice is always the act of		to a person for whom Lady Carteret			instincts. Man mus a friend. But, of course, if men and	IN JAPAN, where the regular Ca-	was very "importunate, at the same	has said all that can be said in ex-1	sublime and beautitul, and a perpetu-	come unselfish, pure, tholic hierarchy was established in	time declaring to her ladyship that it		al succession of violent emotions. All	forgiving, for truth, cate. But the popular Dominican is	ing the penalty of the law, they	1901 by Pope Leo XIII., there are	it had been in his opower to make	As a critic Sheridan has not al-		effacement are in th not only an artist in painting, as his	must remember that there is no room		the gentleman a Dean or a Bishop he	ways been successful. Swift's style		ful things, and their exhibits, "Spoils of the Orchard,"	in this world for lost tempers. Re-		would have obliged her willingly, be-	ways been successful. Swite's style was, beyond all precedent, pure and		man the power ove venge always costs dearly, and there		cause, he said, deaneries and bishop-		that his soul was a constant prey accomplished musician, a practical	are few more expensive luxuries than		rics were preferments in which merit	precise, yet void of of mainearce of		and others. God is teacher of brass-working, and an ex-	spite.	of colleges and convents conducted by	had ono concern, but the merit of a	grace and partook in some instances	gloomy passions, arising from such a	of strength, directly ponent of the art of lace-making. It		religious orders.	vicar would be brought to the test	or the prine and	view of things. And it is the ten-	mediation of the Red would seem that everything he touch-	RETIRED PERMANENTLY It		every day."	author.	view of things. And it is the	ever be the creed und es he adornes. And these are all	will be remembered that for a long	THE CENSUS OF INDIA shows		Those who wish to appreciate	dency of almost all his writings	and to teach the you mere accidents in his life-for his life		that the growth of Christianity has		Swift's character with justice, must	communicate the same passions to the	of God, His mercie is devoted to the poor, to God's min-	rapse of years no access of	been greater, in comparison, than	and Vanessa," he has certainly re-	derive their information from his vol-	reader; insomuch that, notwithstand istry, and to preaching. Such the	more to raise the standard of	that of the entire population. In 1872		uminous writings, which undoubtedly	ing his erudition and knowledge	which we can send t work of one Catholic priest.	theatre and to set an example of	the Christians in India numbered 1,-	leaves Swift's character as liable to	place him among the most illustrious	the world, his additues as a population	meet even that some 599,098, of whom 1,246,288 were	censure as he found it. When he al-	ornaments of literature, as an au-	orator, and man of business,	trinity of evil, the w i gin ganyn mi h hefen				I i the second a shility OI	energy of his style, the eloquence of	and the devil. Hono
	A SAD SCENE The week before	when she married the Count de Na-	har 9 092 941 of whom 9 664 318 are	iows that he had a love for valessa,	inorhoustible	some of his verses, and his extraordin	self-denial: does it no last the Redemptorist Fathers of the	varro, she retired from the stage,	ber 2,923,241, of whom 2,664,318 are	and none for Stella, and that he kept	and the second sharitable con-	nary talents in wit and number,	that; whether we ta Boulevard de Menlimontaret. Paris,	gave up the glory and allurements of	natives. Of all the latter humber	up a correspondence with Vanessa	that are he formed of his	is reason to doubt whether by	tablet of stone, or t according to a report in an exchange,	public life, and became the' model		which it was necessary to conceal	the state of the second tongency	ing his works, any person was	Jesus Christ ? If we were ejected from their monastery by	matron, the network of a supply		from Stella, he placed his here in a	of his writings will not. I fear, dif-	much improved in piety of sea	have all, and we give the official liquidator, accompanied			situation more irreconcileable with	fer much from the opinion of a cele-	ence." by a strong force of police. The Re-	press of the country intimated that	the Law of Associations in France, it	honor and humanity than perhaps he		• • • demptorists only made a passive re-	Mary Anderson would probably , re-	is calculated that fifty thousand teach	intended; and although his account	which for wit and humor never loses	Greift	A MASS OF DETA sistance. Yet all their property was	turn to the United States for a tour	ing sisters, thirty thousand teaching	of the whole transaction is minute	relish for wit and humor, never loses sight of more important considera.	This is an estimate of Dean Swift	ter, on this, enter taken from them, and they were left	of Shakespearian readings. A letter	male religious have been ariven from	and interesting, it is doubting when		The IVed With	detail, absolutely without a shelter or the	was sent her by James W. Morrissey	the country, and their property aban-	ther it was ever read without feelings	tions. "In Swift we see a turn of mind	hard opportunite	garding the smaller s means to procure one.	offering to secure a grand success for		of a very different kind from what he	"In Swift we see a turn of mind	forming sage judgments regarding	temptation to lie in her and to devote part of the pro-		meant to excite. Dr. Johnson has	I very different from that of the and		Punishment, and so
	WORDS OF PEACE - Speaking at	ceeds to charitable purposes. Cardinal	THE EMPEROR OF CHINA has	noted the affair with more levity; ha	able Thomson, little relish for the		and the second gift.