Autumn Dress Goods

French markets selecting one of the of the prostrating effect of warmer choicest stocks of Dress Goods ever shown in Toronto. The goods are here, and the values are exceptional, whether in the cheaper lines or the finest and most novel makes. WE GLADLY MAIL SAMPLES TO ARY PART OF CANADA.

Serges.

Black and Navy Serges in 42-iach, 46-inch, and 58-inch, will be largely worn for skirts and suits. We have a wonder in value at 25 cents, all wool and fast dye; a variety of makes come at 30c., 40c. to 95c, direct from manufacturers; they beat all others for value.

Tweeds.

Evidently manufacturers have expected a great run upon tweeds this fall. Our counters are piled with them; new effects, new combinations of colours, new weaves make them seem irresistible. Fancy a good wool tweed, 42-inch, new designs, at 25 cents; special bicycle tweed at 30c., and others at 35c., are extraordinary value, and worth 65 cents a yard. This week will see a great hole made in these lots.

Ladies' Cloths.

A special bargain in all wool French cloths, new colours and black, 44-inch wide and only 50 cents.

A lower-priced line, all wool, and in choice colours and black, to be run off quickly at 30 cents a yard.

Black Goods.

Cords and Henriettas, are in all prices, and lower in price than they will be later, as prices are advancing.

Moreens

Black and Colored Moreens at 35c., and specially wide, say 40-inch, at 50 cents.

Frieze Suiting

A new thing this reason for jackets and unlined skirts, 50-inch, lots of body, in greys, browns, greens, etc., from 60 cents. These will have a big run.

How Jenny Lost Her New Hat.

Jenny's cousin Dick was going to the brook to catch some trout, and he told Jenny she might go, too. He gave her a nice rod and line, and she went off with him, full of glee. They caught some fine trout under the trees, and then they stopped to rest and eat their lunch, which they had brought in a look for a nice place to fish. He told smile brightened up her face, and a

Jenny to stay there and wait for him, and watch his hat and the other things.

Jenny got tired of waiting, and she put her hat and parasol with Dick's things, and ran off to play.

When he came back, he found a cow with Jenny's hat in her mouth, and another cow had trampled on the basket, until it was spoiled.

He called Jenny, and said to her: "Now, see, Miss, what you have lost by not doing as I told you to do. The cow has eaten your nice new hat.'

"The hateful thing!" said Jenny. "The cow was not to blame," said Dick. "That hat was made of straw, and cows think they can eat straw whenever they find it."

Weak and Nervous

Describes the condition of thousands THREE buyers have spent two of people at this season. They have months in the English, German, and no appetite, cannot sleep, and complain weather. This condition may be remedied by Hood's Sarsaparilla, which creates an appetite and tones up all the organs. It gives good health by making the blood pure.

Children have no idea how much they can do to help or encourage grownup people who have the care of them. I do not mean by assisting with the work, although in many cases they can do that too; but a child's word or action has often brightened the path of an elder who was overworked or bowed down with sorrow.

I knew a teacher who had taken a position in a strange school. Many of the children there were not quiet and mannerly, but she determined that her class at least should learn to behave well in the school-room. She taught her scholars to attend quietly to their lessons, and never allowed whispering during school-hours. Her class was always in good order, and the children studious and attentive. But she had accomplished this result by persistent Figured Mohair effects and Crepons, in large or small designs, as well as Bedford pleased with her success, sometimes she wondered if the children thought her too strict, and feared that they might dislike her on that account.

One day on her way home from school she was bothering herself with this question, and as she felt very tired too, she was not in the happiest of moods. Suddenly she heared her own name mentioned. Looking around, she saw several little girls seated on a rock in a field near the street through which she was passing. They had not seen their teacher, so they kept on talking in the same loud tone. " I like Miss-, don't you?" said

"Yes, I do," was the reply, "but isn't she awful particular?' "I know she is, and I like it," stoutly declared the child who had first spoken. "I think it's nice for a teacher to be strict. She keeps the class quiet, and that's what we want. Don't you know they used to make so much noise before she came that we couldn't do a thing? Now we take comfort and learn a good deal. I think Miss is afine teacher." It was only a little girl that had spoken, a girl about ten years of age, also," she said to herself, as she quick-After they had eaten lunch, Dick but the words were very dear to the ened her step and passed on to her said he would go down the stream, to teacher who had overheard them. A home.

One of many recommendations from the clergy:

The Deanery, London, Ontario, 26th December, 1894.

To Messrs. J. S. Hamilton & Co., Brantford:

Gentlemen,—The "St. Augustine" you sent is exactly what I have been anxious to get for some time past. I have never met with any wine so admirably suited for communion purpose. Yours faithfully,
