Royal Welcome Homeward Tendered to Capt. Jenkins

Rector of St. Jude's Returns to City After Year's Service with the Army.

"FOE BEATEN EVERYWHERE"

Great Reception Tendered By Soldiers' Aid, Ministerial Alliance and Others.

Threefold was the welcome home extended last evening to Capt. the Rev. C. E. Jenkins, who returned to the city after an absence of slightly over a year, during which time he served as chaplain of the 58th battalion under Lt.-Col. Genet of this city, and later upon hospital work in England, until under the terrible strain under which he labored so incessantly for the good of his fellow soldiers, his nerves gave way, and he was compelled to seek convalescence among home surroundings.

Threefold was the reception received by Capt. Jenkins, who, as a soldier of the King was welcomed home by the representatives of the Ministerial Alliance, the Soldiers' Aid Commission, and the local clergyman by members of the local Ministerial Alliance, and as a pastor by his congregation, who were last evening in attendance at the G.T. R. station before the time of his arrival, and no sooner had the form of Capt. Jenkins appeared in the doorway, as the train drew to a stop, a general chorus of shouts announced his presence to all. Accompanied by Mrs. Jenkins, who had journeyed to Montreal for the occasion, and by the members of the Soldiers' Aid Commission, the entire party was conveyed at once to the rectory of St. Jude's church, where the formal welcome was given.

In his capacity of chairman of the Soldiers' Aid Commission, Ald. J. S. Dowling extended a hearty welcome home to Capt. Jenkins, calling attention to the fact that the return of the returning clergyman's congregation, as was also the previous mayor, Mr. J. H. Spence.

Mayor Bowly, welcomed you back to our city, Captain Jenkins," stated May. "Bowly. "In you is embodied the essence of a British citizen, one who has done his bit for the Empire, who has given of his best in voluntary service. On behalf of the city, I heartily welcome you back to Brantford."

Rev. Llewellyn Brown, representing the Ministerial Alliance of the city, Rev. Llewellyn Brown, of the First Baptist church, next spoke briefly, expressing the great pleasure which was his to welcome a brother minister back to Brantford. The Ministerial Alliance took a just pride, in Capt. Jenkins when he had been called aside from his regular duties in the hour of need, which his special qualifications had been recognized by the authorities.

The speaker expressed his confidence that Captain Jenkins had done his duties in as full measure as his health would permit, and assured him of a warmer part than ever in the hearts of Brantford's clergy of all denominations. True it was that all the churches were being drawn closer together, into a better mutual understanding, through the war, and the example of Capt. Jenkins who had come forward in the hour of need and answered the call of the Empire would serve to knit still closer the binding ties.

Captain C. E. Jenkins is a speaker of simple yet powerful eloquence, meliorated by the mingled sentiments filling his breast. Captain Jenkins replied to the speakers, assuring them that though there was indeed a tale to be told of the war, the present was neither the time nor the place suitable for such.

"It is a long way from the front line trenches of Sanctuary Wood in Brantford," stated the speaker, "and every inch of the way is fraught with stories innumerable which may never be told. I appreciate the welcome of all of you, and my only regret upon this glad occasion is that I have been unable to bring back with me the thousands of gallant fellows who are still at the front. Splendid specimens of manhood in every way, and those sent from Brantford in such bountiful numbers, the finest among them. The word 'home' has an ineffably sweet sound at the best of all times, and I can only regret upon this glad occasion that I have been unable to bring back with me the thousands of gallant fellows who are still at the front.
