The Hamilton license commissioners have, as did West Kent's, shown remarkable generosity in the granting of licenses at their recent meeting. The Hamilton Spectator says:

MR. LEE'S POSITION.

Says the Ridgetown Dominion:-Mr. Ross in one of his speeches in the Legislature said "the Opposition could not down him in that House as long as he had at his back those Spartans behind him." The Spartans were soldiers famous for their discipline, obeying the orders of their commander, no matter what the result. Mr. Ross knew from long experience the docility and machinelike characteristics of his followers. During the last session of the House Mr. John Lee was one of Mr. Ross' Spartans, obeying the crack of the party whip whenever applied. We have Mr. Lee's own word for it. In his speech at Thamesville Mr. Lee admitted that some of the things done "did not accord with my views," but he supported them in the House, "because we must have party organization." "Many questions came up which I would like to have seen disposed of in different ways than they were, such as the school book question, and the referendum didn't suit me." Yet, like the Spartan soldier, Mr. Lee obeyed the word of party command and voted for what didn't suit him. On his own confession Mr. Lee is a hide-bound partisan, surrendering all his independence on entering the House. Instead of getting up and advocating what he believed to be right, he sits dumb until the division bell rings, when he rises to vote with his party and against his own convictions.

Do the electors of East Kent desire to be longer represented in the Legislature by a "Spartan?" If not, they should vote against Mr. Lee.

POLITICAL JUMPING-JACK.

The Ridgetown Dominion puts i pithily as follows:-

"We extremely regret that, in company with The Planet, we have failed to rise "intellectually" to the position of the Banner-News on the prohibition question. The B.-N. came out in opposition to prohibition and a prohibitory law, ridiculing the arguments of the temperance peopeople. That was before it was known what stand Mr. Ross intended to take and it was thought by many, including our contemporary, that he would find a way of shirking the responsibility for any legislation after the decision of the Privy Council on the Manitobs Act. But Mr. Ross found out that there was "another way of killing a dog besides choking it with butter," Mr. Ross sought refuge in the referendum, and continued to pose as a prohibitionist, Mr. Whitney declared for further restrictions and the better enforcement of the laws on the lines laid down as correct by the Banner-News. Once the leaders had declared themselves, the Chatham paper com-meets our charge of inconsistency and attempting to humbug the temperance people by the declaration that prior to Mr. Ross' adoption of the referendum it was only "dealing with the subject (of prohibition) from an abstract standpoint." To all of which we have just to say that in our opinion the logic of the Banner-News is as lamentably weak as its ordinary editorial language is unnecessarily strong."

WHITNEY WILL WIN.

A number of the newspaper correspondents who are following the campaign for the large Canadian dailies were in the city attending the Whitney meeting Tuesday night.

"Whitney will win all right," was the comment of the correspondents. 'It is surprising to note all over the Province the prevailing sentiment in shebang and is notorious for breach favor of a change. It is a very striking thing that many Liberals are openly expressing indifference as to Ross' success and hinting themselves that the Province will benefit by a

"Then again, as a rule, the Conservatives are very united and enthusiastic. In our work we can generally form a fairly good estimate of the way things are going, hearing and seeing both sides of the campaign, and if the election were tomorrow we would place Whitney as a sure winner."

Come, Mr. Banner, for your own sake, don't you think it's time for a change in your campaign methods?

Abuse and slander do not win Canadian campaigns. Honest advocacy of progressive principles is what counts.

Mr. Pardo preserves silence to the invitation to give account of his stewardship to the ;electors of West Kent.

Now that Mr. Davidson has exposed and labelled the local "Liberal" torgan's falsehood to the effect that he was the most expensive warden the county ever had, the Banner blandly assures its readers that it never said any such thing at all. How's that for "triple brass"?

Sheriff Gemmill, an honorable citizen in whom everyone has confidence, should be appointed to look after the voters' lists in lieu of the late lamented Clerk of the Peace. It would be a manifest injustice to intrust the preparation of the lists to an active

If the Banner hasn't the manlines to go into "apologies," it certainly can make amusing demonstrations of dishonorable "crawling." When its untruth concerning Mr. Fraser's action towards the appointment of colored janitor for Harrison Hall was exposed, it trotted to its little corner again and blurted out last night that, anyway, Mr. Fraser voted with the other members of the Council to adopt the report of the committee who made the selection, although he was not a member of that committee and had nothing to do with the choice. Doesn't the "Liberal" organ begin to see now that its style of campaigning is uneffective and only serves to deteriorate its influence and bring upon it the distrust and disgust of an in telligent public?

By the way, Mr. Pardo isn't writing any letters to the electors of West Kent defining his position on public questions. But, then, Mr. Pardo is another Spartan who blindly follows his political leaders.-Ridgetown Dominion

This mild-mannered and sociable great home journal has been crushed again. Listen:

The Planet has yet to learn this elementary fact in campaign warfare and that is why, in its championship of Mr. Fraser, Mr. Pardo's opponent in this contest, it falls into a most heathenish rage, and, in the language of Holy Writ, not only imagines but says many vain, not to say unkind, things. Touching in its inimitable way on the reference of the Banner-News in a recent issue to the attitude of Mr. Fraser and his place of residence toward the colored people, this pharisaical sheet that yelps daily for a "cleen campaign," and whines when it is whipped for daily and flagrant breaches of its own campaign ethics, the paper that turns a member of its staff loose to indulge his persona inanities against the city's long-suf-fering residents, said yesterday, etc., etc., etc., ad infinitum.-Banner.

GREAT ENTERPRISE

Canada Will Soon Control the World's Paper Supply.

THE ATLANTIC PULP AND PAPER CO

Natural Wealth of the Dominion the Great Factor - The Company Will Have Ample Capital and Valuable Property - Able Men at its Head.

Nothing so helps the prosperity of a country as the steady development of its natural resources. Industries may by the energy of individuals, or the slothfulness of other nations, be built up in spite of the lack of natural wealth, but such instances are, how-ever, very rare. Great Britain is peronly nation under the sun which has successfully done this, but she was specially favored by boundless coal and iron, an intelligent and ener-getic race, and the slothfulness of European nations. Canada possesses boundless natural wealth, and so the development of that wealth has been proceeding by leaps and bounds. The exhaustion of the United States spruce forests has directed attention to the almost boundless extent of Canada's wealth in this direction, so that the Dominion bids fair to control the pa-per trade of the world. To develop that wealth by converting it into pa-per the Atlantic Pulp and Paper Company, Limited, has been formed. The capital is placed at $3,000,000, of which $850,000 of 7 per cent. cumulative preference stock is offered to the public at par, payable as fully set forth in the prospectus. The directorate of the company is composed of Messrs. W. C Edwards, M. P., the Ottawa lumber Edwards, M. P., the Ottawa lumber-man; R. Y. Ellis, vice-president of P. W. Ellis and Co., Toronto; Chas. H. Waterous, president of the Waterous Engine Works, Brantford; R. H. Thompson, paper merchant, Buffalo;
A. J. H. Eckardt, Toronto; Charles
Lyman, president the Lyman and Knox Co., Montreal; J. W. Wardrope, lumberman, Montreal; Wm. M. McIntyre, paper manufacturer, late me-chanical superintendent of the Lau-rentide Pulp Co., and W. R. P. Parker, barrister, Toronto. The company has secured a spruc wood limit on the Baie des Chaleurs wood limit on the Baie des Chaleurs, extending to 193,200 acres, and it is estimated that the supply of pulpwood will last 65 years. As, however, spruce reproduces itself in about 28 to 30 years, this means really an inexhaustible supply. Since the issuing of the company's prospectus offers have been made for the entire output of paper from the mills. So that it is quite evident the success of the Atlantic Pulp and Paper Company is abundantly assured. When it is mentioned that power in abundance is at hand on the Little Cascapedia, that there is an ample supply of clear water available, an essential in paper-making, that living in the locality is cheap, wages reasonable, the shipping facilities unsurpassed, and the manager a gentleman of great experience in this business of the company are of the most en-couraging description. The demand for shares has been most satisfactory, and the subscription books of the con pany will close at 4 p.m. on Wednesday, May 7. The prospectus of the company appears in another column. Further information and application forms may be had from Sutherland and Cameron, Ottawa, or from the National Trust Company, Limited, Toronto, Montreal, or Winnipeg.
