Toronto, Oct. 24.—11 a. m.—Strong westerly winds, mostly fair and a little cooler. Friday, westerly winds and fair.

LOCAL

The Gordon Store, the Fur Store.

Mrs. Samuel Stover, of Windsor, is the guest of Mrs. Piggett, LaCoeix street.

The infant child of Mr. and Mrs. Geo. McMahon passed away yesterday. The funeral arrangements had not yet been completed this morning.

Mrs. Wm. Wrigley, of VanAllen avenue, gave a social evening last night in honor of Miss Francis Herries, who will leave shortly for Hamilton.

Clinton Coffey, of Battle Creek, Mich., who has been spending the past few days shooting at the Eau was forced to return home yesterday afternoon on account of the serious illness of his father.

Next Tuesday evening, the annual inspection of the 24th Regiment will take place on Tecumseh Park by Col. Peters, D. O. C. of London. If the weather is inclement, the inspection will take place in the drill sheds.

John Cartier, the popular head salesman in the carpet department at the C. Austin store, is receiving the hearty congratulations of his many friends. John's home on the corner of VanAllen avenue and Selkirk street has been brightened by the arrival of a seven-pound baby girl.

BYRAM CAMERON

A very pretty wedding took place at the residence of Mr. and Mrs. Arch. Cameron, 3rd concession, Hurwich, yesterday, when their daughter, Miss Lila, was united in marriage to Mr. Frederick Byram, son of A. N. Byram, of the Best Goods Company, this city.

The ceremony commenced precisely at six o'clock, the wedding march being rendered by Miss Abbie Cameron. The drawing room in which the function took place was handsomely decorated for the occasion, and the bridal party stood under a floral bell, while Rev. J. W. Hoyt tied the nuptial knot. Miss Fern Cameron was bridesmaid, Miss Pearl Cameron flower girl, and Mr. John Cameron acted as groomsmen.

The groom's present to the bridesmaid was a pearl brooch, and to the flower girl a beautiful crescent, and to the best man a pearl pin. A tasty bridal supper was afterwards served in the dining room, and Mr. and Mrs. Byram left on the 9:38 for western points.

On their return to this city they will take up their residence on Patterson avenue west.

He who would be a great soul in the future must be a great soul now.

It is better to run the risk of wasting your sympathy than to hoard it.

MARY AND HER LAMB

No. 6

Said Mary to her little Lamb:
"The autumn days are bright,
Yet I am feeling very blue—
I'm sure I'm just a fright."

P. S.—"Something!" rejoined the lamb with that smiling complacency which always characterized him. He gave his gaudy green tail a shake. It was dyed with Eclipse dyes—2 packages for 5c at Radley's.
"What you need, Mary, is a bottle of Radley's Female Tonic. It costs only 50c and will do you 50c worth of good."

MAY LOSE MONEY A PLEASANT TRIP

Blight & Fielder According to Report Stand to Lose on London Pavement

London, Oct. 24.—Blight & Fielder stand to lose the sum of $1,000 on the Kentucky rock asphalt macadam pavement on King street, from Wellington to Malthead.

At least, this was the statement made by one who is supposed to know, at the city hall Thursday.

Asked if he had heard anything of the matter, City Engineer Graydon declared that he has known for some time that the contractors were behind and would lose heavily on the work.

It seems that the job was absolutely new work in Canada and that the contractors figured the price down below cost.

Mr. Graydon claims that even though the roadway may not be all that some people expect, the residents of King street have at least a pavement which is worth all they paid for it.

The roadway is at least a first-class macadam, the engineer said. "Moreover, it was the class of roadway asked for by the people themselves."

Blight & Fielder, when interviewed this morning, knew nothing of the report, and said there was nothing in it.

VERY DEAR QUAIL

Game Warden W. D. Wigle, of Leamington, was in the city today and a welcome caller at The Planet office. Mr. Wigle, on Tuesday, prosecuted parties for shooting quail during the close season. The evidence was based on quail shot by the said parties on Thanksgiving Day.

The case came before Police Magistrate John McR. Selkirk, of Leamington, and on account of the culprits' apparent ignorance of the game laws they got off easy. They were fined $7.85 each.

The season for quail is open from Nov. 1 to Nov. 30, both dates being inclusive. Mr. Wigle is doing his duty in seeing that the Ontario game laws are strictly observed.

A RUMMAGE SALE

All next week, commencing with Monday morning, the Children's Aid Society and the King's Daughters will conduct a rummage sale of old clothing, etc., in one of the stores in the Scane Block, and it is hoped, for the sake of the good name of Chatham in supporting schemes of a philanthropic nature, that the sale will be well patronized. These are two of the most deserving societies in the city, and the work they are doing is so generally known that there is no need of lauding it. Anyone who has any old clothing, which they would be willing to donate to the ladies, are requested to send word to Mrs. J. C. Pritchard, Mrs. W. E. McLaughlin or Mrs. Goodland, and these ladies will do the rest, by sending for the clothes. The work of collecting the clothes is being done this week.

Mayor Marshall Entertains Council to Day's Outing Down the River

Some days ago Mayor Marshall invited the members of the City Council, the City Clerk, City Engineer and members of the press to a trip down to the mouth of the river for a fish dinner, and when the hour for departure arrived yesterday, they were all on hand with the exception of Aldermen Austin, Hensen and Massey, who sent messages of regret that they were unable to leave the city.

The naptha launch "Le Toske" was used for the occasion, and a start was made from Brisco's wharf at 9:30 and C. Bechard's landing place was reached about 11:45.

The trip down the river was a delightful one; the morning was all that could have been desired. To those who had not taken the trip for some years it was made doubly interesting, by reason of the many improvements that have been made and are being made by the farmers owning property on the banks of the river. Many handsome houses have been erected, lawns are being made beautiful, and there are many proofs in other ways which show that the farmers realize that money spent in beautifying their surroundings is not lost, and that in a few years the banks of the Thames will be made still more attractive, and our city will become better known by our American cousins as an attractive summer resort.

At different points along the river hundreds of tons of sugar beets are being deposited ready for shipment to Wallaceburg or Michigan, which in the near future will be brought up the river to a factory located on the borders of our city.

Upon reaching C. Bechard's fishing house, this jolly fisherman extended the glad hand to the Mayor and his guests, and pointed to a large box of fish ready for the frying pan. When dinner was served, it was most appetizing, and covered the table being a good fellow, C. Bechard, a cook who can prepare a meal good enough for a king.

By unanimous consent Alderman Scullard was chosen chairman at the conclusion of the repast, and in polished terms he thanked the members of the company to his words the Mayor for a most enjoyable outing and called upon Mayor Marshall for a speech.

His worship went over the most important events that have transpired during his term of office, and said that although he had been kept busily engaged launching a new and rapidly increasing business, he had not neglected to guard the best interests of the city, and only on two occasions had he missed any meetings. He predicted continued success for what he was pleased to term "the most progressive and up-to-date city in Canada," and he felt that no greater honor could be conferred upon a citizen than to be at the head of the Council in a community where activity and progressive ideas were being pointed to as a pattern for other cities to follow by every commercial traveller doing business with us, and by progressive representations from other places who are desirous to visit us from time to time. So long as the present prosperity continues he predicted more paved streets, more handsome buildings would be erected, and that the city would be brought more prominently before manufacturers who contemplate the erection of factories in the immediate vicinity of an ample supply of natural gas.

It had been a great pleasure to be associated with the present Council in the transaction of the city's business, and it was a source of much regret to him that he could not offer himself as a candidate for a continuance of the honor, and a second term, and thanked the chairman for his many expressions of kindness.

The chairman then called upon Aldermen Stone, Potter and Edmondson, who recounted the most important matters that had come before their committees during the present year.

Aldermen Radley and Thompson said while they might be considered the silent members of the Council Board they had regularly attended all committee meetings and had assisted in this way, which was probably of greater value to the city than some of the long-winded speeches of some of their colleagues. City Engineer Jones enlightened the Council upon the difficulties he had to contend with in furnishing light with the present plant, and the necessity of a considerable expenditure in this department owing to the constant demand of an increasing service.

Clerk Merritt came in for many compliments from the different members of the Council upon the excellency of his work and his attention to the requirements of his office, for which he thanked the speakers. John P. Hesse, representative of the Balmforth Packing Company, was also one of the party, and much of the pleasure of the trip was due to his hospitality. He read a most interesting paper on street paving which he had just prepared for distribution, and he had evidently made himself solid with the present Council. He is supported by the excellency of the material he is offering to the public, and in doing his best to educate the public to his way of thinking. The local press was represented and responded.

Alderman Scullard, the chairman, was the last to be called upon, and in response explained his regrets that he was not able to recommend a lower rate for the present year, but under the circumstances it would be unbusinesslike and unadvisable not to meet the current expenses out of the income. He gently intimated that he was a candidate as a successor to Mayor Marshall, and in passing out some compliments to Alderman Stone, whom he expected would be his opponent, said he could not wish him success in the event of the deciding to be his opponent in the coming contest.

The return trip was made in the evening and the party arrived in the city at 8:30 after having enjoyed a delightful outing.
