Eighty-third Convocation of Acadia

Largest Graduating Class in History of College

The Baptist church was filled to capacity on Wednesday morning when the eighty-third convocation of Acadia University was held. At 10 o'clock the faculty, board of governors, alumni and students gathered at the library and marched to the church. On the platform were the president, faculty and those receiving honorary degrees. The processional march was played by Miss Hortense Griffin as the graduating class took their places in the centre of the auditorium. One stanza of "Our God, Our Help in Ages Past" was sung with fervor, and Rev. Z. L. Fash, of Fredericton, led in prayer. John Burt Bishop, of Auburn, N. S., gave a truly able address on Radio-Telephony, proving his ability by his successful treatment of his subject in a purely popular manner. Equally exhaustive and lucid was Miss Kathleen Fitzpatrick's presentation of the "Problems of the Modern City", while Mr. Lumsden's speech on "Canada's Imperial Debt" was a masterpiece, and the vast audience learnt something of the evils, perils and difficulties, as well as some of the possible remedies, of our present financial situation as a nation.

A FINE MUSICAL PERFORMANCE

One of the finest musical entertainments heard in Wolfville for a long time was given at the Opera House at 9 o'clock last Sunday evening under the direction of Mrs. Richmond. The programme which was all rendered by pupils of Mrs. Richmond, included solos, duets and trios and concluded with Dudley Buck's Festival Te Deum in E flat with a chorus of thirty voices. The entertainment was put on with very little special preparation, all the numbers being taken from the actual work of the pupils. All the singers were, apparently, at their best and the large audience which completely filled the house enjoyed a treat which will not soon be forgotten. Mrs. Richmond deserves the hearty congratulations and thanks of those who enjoy good music for the opportunity afforded. We cannot do better than present the program in full:

The Collegiate School

Acadia Collegiate and Business Academy Closing

Exercises in connection with the closing of Acadia Collegiate and Business Academy took place in the Baptist church on Sunday evening. This grand old institution which this year celebrated its thirty-second anniversary well deserves the large place which it holds in the esteem of the denomination and which was evidenced in the large attendance on Monday evening. Practically every seat in the large auditorium was filled. On the platform, besides the members of the faculty of the Academy were Mr. J. G. Mackay, of Montreal, and Dr. I. B. Oakes.

Interesting throughout, the program showed that time and thought had been spent in the preparation of the various numbers. The program was as follows: Processional march, Miss Bernice Sproule, Miss Ora Annis; opening prayer, Rev. J. H. MacDonald, D. D., C. B. E.; vocal solo, "The Winds in the South Today," Miss Evelyn Duncanson; essay, "The Mission of the Business Man," Donald McDonald; essay, "Class Prophecy," Miss Myra Alcorn; essay, Canadian Universities and the Great War," Preston Warren; essay, "The Valedictory," T. A. Kibbutnik; vocal duet, "Where My Caravan Has Rested," Miss Barbara McNeill and Miss Frances DeWolfe; address to the graduates, J. G. MacKay, Esq., M. C., Montreal.

Mr. MacKay, who is a graduate of Acadia of the class of '15 and well known in Wolfville was introduced by Dr. Archibald who recalled his entering the Academy ten years ago, his graduating from the University his going overseas and his winning the Military Cross.

Mr. MacKay referred to the pleasure he experienced in being present at these exercises after such a long absence. He referred to the events in connection with his time at Acadia and said that he would never forget Dr. Cutten's advice at graduation of his class and he wished to pass it on, namely, not to think that their education was completed when they graduated; it only enabled them the better to continue learning and educating themselves. Three things he especially stressed, to impress upon the young men of the class, and urged that they should go out into the world with open eyes so that they may see it as it is, with open minds so that they might learn that which is essential, and with open hearts so that they might receive as well as give the necessary love and sympathy which all so much needed in the world today.

Dr. I. B. Oakes, who for twenty-two years faithfully filled the position of principal of the Academy, congratulated Dr. Archibald and the graduates upon the excellence of work done and wished for them all possible happiness and prosperity.

Baccalaureate Sunday

Favored With Ideal Weather Conditions and Attended With Inspiring Services.

Baccalaureate Sunday at Acadia is always a most interesting occasion and with weather conditions ideal this year was no exception to the rule. The day was a delightful one—a real taste of summer with sunshine, balmy breezes and apple-blossoms everywhere.

It was expected that the seating capacity of the Baptist church, where the exercises were held this year because of the loss of College Hall, would be taxed to the utmost, and at 10.30 there were few seats to be had. Some of those present remembered the old days when the baccalaureate sermon was always a function of the Wolfville church. On this occasion the large Sunday School room and ladies' parlor were thrown open to the audience and all the room available was necessary to accommodate those who came to attend the exercises. "Chanson Russe" by Smith was rendered by the organist as the prelude while Miss Hortense Giffin played the march for the seniors who filed in and took the seats reserved for them in the centre front.

The grand old hymn, "How firm a foundation," was sung and prayer was offered by Rev. Dr. MacDonald, after which Rev. Dr. Goucher, of St. Stephen, N. B., read appropriate passages from the epistle to Timothy. "Lift Thine Eyes" from "Elijah" was delightfully rendered by Misses Harris, Nichols and DeWolfe, and prayer was offered by Rev. Norman A. McNeil. The Glee Club of the Seminary, under the direction of Mrs. Gregory, sang "O Holy Father".

The speaker was Rev. A. N. Marshall, D. D., pastor of the First Baptist church of Ottawa, who gave an interesting and able address on the subject of Godliness. In the course of his sermon he said: "Godliness is essentially Manliness for Godliness in Christ was Manliness in the Ideal. Godliness is an achievement and not a gift and thus can be illustrated by references to athletics. There is no danger of excess in the athletic ideal, providing you give the ideal proper content.

Our text first contrasts with athletics and then parallels in the contrast. We have the partial against the complete. Life cannot be expressed in physical terms, not yet alone in mental. Hence for life's realization Godliness is essential. In paralleling athletics the text says that we are to give at least as much attention to our spirit as to our heels. There are two supreme claims of Godliness, first, the present life and, second, the life to come. There are two misconceptions which make some doubt the claim that Godliness is the best for the present life.

First, a misconception of Christianity. Not realizing that we only give up in order to get something better. Second, a misconception of what life is. So many think only of the sordid, when thinking of life, but if Christ is historic, no one can see life till he has seen Jesus. As to the life to come there is the sense of victory in a moral struggle and the Godly man feels an assurance that he must not die, and this witness of the life to come is the greatest and highest we have.

Dr. Marshall then turned to the graduating students and said: "All of this development of personality suggests the contribution you must make to your day and generation, for the Godly character is the biggest gift you can have to bestow. Standing on the edge of your career, know that for the most simple service that greatest consciousness is necessary."

He then quoted: "I ask not Heaven, till earth be thine, no glory crown while work of mine remaineth here, till earth shall shine among the stars her sins wiped out, her captives freed, her voice a music unto thee, for crown, more work give thou to me, Lord here I am."

The Vesper service at 4 p.m., under the direction of Conductor Marsh, of the Acadia Seminary staff, was a treat to those who attended. The cantata, "Ruth," was sung with Mrs. Bartheaux, Mrs. Gregory, Miss Frances DeWolfe, and H. L. Parsons as soloists, and the playing of the Acadia orchestra added to the pleasure of the service.

At the evening service, under the auspices of the College Y. M. C. A., there was again a large attendance. Rev. A. T. Kempton, pastor of the Broadway Baptist Church, Cambridge, Mass., was the speaker, and his drama sermon made a profound impression on the large audience. Rev. Mr. Kempton, who is the son of the late Rev. S. B. Kempton, D.D., so well known and so highly honored and esteemed, took as his subject "Paid in Full". On the basis that "things seen are mightier than things heard," the preacher impersonated the parts of the different characters of the story, which made the sermon very powerful and easily remembered.

The events of the story take place in

Mr. Coleman's home, and the characters are Mr. Coleman, his son Harry, who is very sick, his other son Will, who has been away a long time, and Dr. Burton, the physician and friend of the family. The story is as follows:

Harry Coleman is dangerously sick and his father is sitting in the lonely room when Dr. Burton comes in to talk with him about the sick boy. He can give the father very little hope that his son will live. Only one thing will save him and there seems to be no time for even that to be obtained now.

While the father and doctor are up in the sick boy's room, a young man gains admission to the house and is about to steal some money. The doctor returns at this time and the young man volunteers to help save the fellow who is sick. After he has given his blood to save Harry who was very near death, the doctor comes to the room to find the father and tell him the good news of his son's probable recovery. The father had been seeking for some young man to give blood to save his son but has returned without anyone. He is overjoyed to find what has happened and promises to keep all the promises he has made, in the event of Harry's recovery, to man and to God.

Following the evening service, there was a concert by the Acadia University band, given on the College grounds and greatly enjoyed by a large audience, who were scattered about the campus.

THE MEMORIAL GYMNASIUM

The formal dedication of the new Memorial Gymnasium took place on Monday afternoon. There was a large number assembled and the exercises were full of interest. President Cutten presided and Rev. Dr. MacDonald and Mr. Milton Gregg, V. C., also had seats on the platform. Mr. Gregg was the speaker and his address was most fitting. A former student of Acadia he paid a most eloquent tribute to the memory of the fifty-three Acadia men who made the supreme sacrifice in the Great World War. It is in honor of them that this memorial has been erected. Its presence will instill into every young person who reads the lines that are here written. It will develop those qualities of sportsmanship, of fair play and of strong self-reliance, which are the property of every true Acadian. It is in the value of emulation that the worth of a memorial of this nature it to be found, and every one who reads the lines that are inscribed hereon cannot help but be silently influenced for the better.

Dr. Cutten, having briefly spoken with great emotion, remarking that Mr. Gregg's words were more telling in their effect than could be those of any of them who had not been over there and taken part in the great events as Mr. Gregg had. Then, at the President's request, Pastor MacDonald offered a prayer that was beautifully appropriate to the occasion, after which all present stood up and reverently bowed their heads in silence, and for that moment it seemed as if the honored dead were present! Dr. Cutten made some announcements, and Dr. MacDonald dismissed with the Benediction.

Gym. Instructor Russell led groups of Co-Eds. and Semis. to the floor and gave exhibitions of drills with clubs and ball, including an interesting game of basketball after which President Cutten presented the distinction Athletic "A" to the Acadia basketball team consisting of the Misses Marjorie Wickwire, Jean Foote, Isabel Murray, Marion Brown, Margaret McCurdy, Isabel MacPail, Ruth Hennigar, and Georgia Spicer (Captain). Finally Mr. Russell and a number of his pupils went through a series of gymnastic exercises which pleased the assembly greatly. This Memorial Gymnasium has no equal this side of Toronto, and all were exceedingly pleased with what they saw.

MEETING-OF ACADIA ALUMNI

The annual meeting of the Acadia Alumni Association was held on Monday evening at the College Women's Residence. The President, Prof. H. G. Perry, presided, and the meeting was opened with prayer by Dr. Foote. A number of new members were added. A letter was read from the Acadia Club of Ottawa extending their greetings. The executive presented a very interesting report. The following officers were elected for the coming year: President—Professor H. G. Perry. Vice-President—Rev. D. J. McPherson. Secretary—Rev. E. S. Mason. Neurologist—Rev. Z. L. Fash. Executive Committee—The above officers and F. E. Whedlock, E. S. Robinson, Rev. B. D. Knott, Rev. S. S. Podie, Mrs. M. R. Elliott, Mrs. G. B. Cutten, J. H. Cunningham.
