DOMINION THEATRE

Crowded houses yesterday testified their appreciation of Nat Goodwin in that remarkable film thriller "The Master Hand," which will be shown again this afternoon and evening. The automobile accident is the very acme of realism and the picture must be seen to appreciate what modern photography can do and what the movie actor must dare. The beautiful child scenes, the wonderful dog shown, and above all the fine acting of Mr. Goodwin, one of the most famous actors of this generation, makes this a film of unusual attractiveness. There is also a laugh compelling comedy, a fine series of war pictures and do not forget the Dominion Orchestra in a well selected programme at every performance.

For Friday and Saturday, the feature will be Laura Hope Crews, the celebrated emotional actress in a picturization of the very successful drama, "The Fighting Hope." Laura Hope Crews is not only a very beautiful woman but an emotional actress of the very highest rank, and in "The Fighting Hope" she has a role which calls for her very best.

GIVE UP CANDY FOR THE BELGIANS

Montreal Stenographers Forego the Usual Christmas Gifts and Give to the Fund.

Montreal, Dec. 28.—A group of Montreal young ladies—business women they call themselves—have set an example, which might well be emulated by every young woman in a similar position in the Dominion. In recognition of their services the railroad by which they are employed has, in years past, given them boxes of candy and other little gifts at Christmas. Returning prosperity, as indicated by the increased traffic earnings of this railroad, gave the young women every reason to believe that this Christmas give custom would obtain this year.

Here is where the young women show that they are justified in calling themselves business women. They put their heads together and decided that the equivalent of these gifts might do more good elsewhere. As one of the most deserving causes they selected the Belgian Relief and with little hesitation they made known their decision to the officials for whom they work.

As there is a large number of these stenographers and as the railroad has been liberal with its gifts the Belgian Relief Committee of Montreal will receive from this course a considerable contribution to the cause. That candy money will be sufficient to keep a number of Belgians from starvation through the worst of the winter, the candy means little to the young ladies as far as its natural value was concerned, but one of those boxes of candy, or rather its equivalent in flour, means life to some destitute Belgian woman or her child.

BELGIAN WAR OFFICE NOW IN HAVRE

The Brooklyn Eagle, describing the Belgian seat of government at Havre, refers to the war office as "a stone villa almost at the water's edge, where the Belgian flag flies through the day until, according to military custom, it is pulled down at sunset." "Three or four gentlemen, Baron de Brocqueville, the Minister of War, one or two military chauffeurs, and the staff of the war office stand at attention with their hands at salute while a trench mortar, still grey with war paint, is fired. The bugle sounds the flag descends and is carefully folded and put away for the night. Not until the soldier with the flag has disappeared into the building does one of the staff figures unbind. There is something sorrowful in this ceremony. It is the remnant of a shattered nation, trodden under foot, but undefeated and still maintaining its dignity.

King Albert has never been in Havre.

"Why?" you ask.
"He is in the field with his army." A simple but noble answer and characteristic of a Belgian, as the war has proved.

The description of the ceremony of "retreat," says when the flag is lowered everybody looks toward England—a silent tribute to the country which sent its men to fight with Belgium against the Hun invaders.

While this simple but impressive ceremony takes place there are hundreds of thousands with their eyes to the west. These are the unfortunate, the innocent victims of the war, looking with dimmed eyes to England and to Canada for help. Their faces, blunted by famine and privation, are filled with a mixture of gratitude for what has been done and pleading for more. Mothers are pleading for their helpless children, whom they are watching grow weaker day by day for the want of the bare necessities of life.

There is but one way for them to turn—to the Belgian Relief Committee and in turn there is but one way for the Belgian Relief Committee to turn and that is to Canadians. In Canada's record wheat harvest is the answer. The flour from "Canadian Wheat" is what is wanted and Canadians are asked to give Belgium the wheat she wants—a just debt to be paid these people who held back the tide of invading armies while England prepared to keep them from her shores.

Do not miss this or any of the chapters to follow as you are going to see one of the most sensational conclusions ever attempted in motion pictures. This program will be shown today.

OPERA HOUSE.

Rex Beach's famous photoplay in three acts and nine reels, comes on Friday night for a return engagement of two performances at 7 and 9.

Altogether "The Spoilers" is a great film and one of its thrilling action in its transition from the book to the moving picture stage. In fact, if anything, the photoplay is greater than the book. It is no exaggeration to say that "The Spoilers," as played by William Farnum, Kathryn Williams, Bessie Eytan and other leading moving picture artists is notably the greatest moving picture play that has ever appeared in Canada. It is alive. It is real. It is human. It grips the attention from the start and it never lets go. The action is wonderful and the acting still more wonderful.

The stage effects are marvellous and only secured by the expenditure of hundreds of thousands of dollars.

Those who were unable to see the picture when it was shown here previously should avail themselves of the opportunity and see it Friday night.

SYNOPSIS OF COAL MINING REGULATIONS

Coal mining rights in the Dominion in Manitoba, Saskatchewan and Alberta, the Yukon Territory, the Northwest Territories and in a portion of the Province of British Columbia may be leased for a term of twenty-one years at an annual rental of $1 an acre. Not more than 2,500 acres will be leased to one applicant. Applications for a lease must be made by the applicant in person to the Agent or Sub-Agent in the district in which the rights applied are situated.

In surveyed territory the land must be described by sections, or legal sub-divisions of sections, and in unsurveyed territory the tract applied for shall be staked out by the applicant himself.

Each application must be accompanied by a fee of $5 which will be refunded if the rights applied for are not available, but not otherwise. A royalty shall be paid on the merchantable output of the mine at the rate of five cents per ton.

The person operating the mine shall furnish the agent with sworn returns accounting for the full quantity of merchantable coal mined and pay the royalty thereon. If the coal mining rights are not being operated, such returns should be furnished at least once a year.

The lease will include the coal mining rights only, but the leasee may be permitted to purchase whatever available surface rights may be considered necessary for the working of the mine at the rate of $10.00 an acre.

For full information application should be made to the Secretary of the Department of the Interior, Ottawa, or to any agent or sub-agent of Dominion Lands.

CONSCRIPTION

London, Dec. 29.—The following editorial comments on the question of conscription were made to day by London newspapers:

Standard: Conscription would be popular.

Star: The general views of conscription are unfavorable.

Globe: No one but a fool would question the justice of conscription. It may be regrettable, but it is clearly necessary. Its adoption would have an admirable effect upon our allies.

TURNED UP A HERO.

Boston, Dec. 29.—Elmer R. Getchell, a Medford high school athlete, who disappeared just before he was to graduate last June, has returned to the United States, a veteran of the European war. He said he had spent three months in the trenches at Arras as a member of the Eighth Irish (King's Liverpool) regiment, and he wore a special decoration awarded the few survivors of the regiment.
