These two visits referred to were made in May. The first time Boyle came with Checkley he spoke of bills, and showed me a dollar of Canada note, stating that his brother in law was going to get some like it from the other side. He wanted me to lend him some money on good security, in order to be able to get some of the "goods," as he They read a letter in regard to some goods samples were of the "Dominion of Canada Bank"—at least that is what we say in French. They looked good and I have saw Boyle since that until in Court to-day l would have given him the money on the note if Boyle had endorsed it at the time.
