Kronprinz Wilhelm Reported Captured

New York, Sept. 2—Sir Courtenay Bennett, British consul general in this city, announced this afternoo that we had been informed by a trust-worsely friend that the North German Lloyd seamer Kronprinz Wilhelm had been captured in nearby waters by the British flotilla of cruisers and taken, a war prize, to Bermuda. His information, he said, had not been confirmed, but he thought it true.

Tht Kronprinz Wilhelm sailed from New York, with darkened lights and all the coal she could get aboard, on the night of August 3, a day or so be fore the declaration of war between Germany and Great Britain. She has not yet been reported as arriving at any port. The impression prevailed a. the time of her departure that her mission was to furnish coal to German cruisers in the North Atlantic.

The British cruiser Suffolk, coaling at Halifax ten days or so later, reported she had sighted the Kronprinz Wilhelm transferring coal in midocean to the German cruiser Karsrune a day or two previous. The Suf folk surprised the two vessels, her officers said, and both the steamer and the German cruiser fled. Suffolk pursued the cruiser and the Kronprinz Wilhelm was soon lost to view. From that day to this, the whereabouts of the Kronprinz Wilhelm have been unreported.

Will Annihalate Austrian Army

Rome, Sept. 2-Despatches receiveu here from Vienna say that the great battle, in which 3,000,000 men are engaged on a front of more than 300 miles in north Galicia and eastern Russia, today reached its heat of fury. Today marked the eighth day of what is called the "greatest battle in the history of the world." The battle line, according to the despatches received here today, extends from Prussia to the Dniester River.

The presence of Russian armies has been noted in the region of Dmize for some days. The line, according to former reports, extends south attempted to approach the Baltic by the entrance through Skagerrak through Thorn, which the Russian and Cattegat. war office has claimed has been captured, down to Lemberg, and further south to Sambors, in Galicia.

Lemberg, the despatches received here today, declare was abandoned by the Austrians early today, after the bloodiest fighting of the eight days of sanguinary conflict. It will be immediately occupied by the Russians, if it has not already been.

The tide of battle, the despatches assert, has unmistakeably turned in continues with great violence. ### Taking Advantage of German Weakness German Losses

Paris, Sept. 2-An air of great uncertainty continues in the face of the ed to exist an easier feeling arising troops operating in the north. There is nothing to confirm this excepting the fact that Lille, Tourceing, and made that the losses are very heavy, other exposed points, are reported and one instance is given where a part of England he was when he saw free of the enemy. London, Saturday, Sept. 5-The Chronicle, in discussing the cryptic statement issued by the press bureau relative to the German destroyers and torpedo boats which have arrived at Kiel in a damaged condition, says:

"Kiel is at the Baltic end of the canal sixty miles from the North Sea by the waterway.

"There may be three theories to the significance of the above re-

(1) That the damaged and sunken destroyers and torpedo boats were engaged in the Helgoland battle of August 23. Brunsbuttel at the North Sea end of the canal, is where the Elbe estuary opens out into Helgoland Bight.

(2) That they had been engaged in the Baltic with Russian who was captured in the recent naval warships.

That they had been engaged in the Baltic with British ships. "The first theory is the one generally adopted, especially as there been no news of any further naval action. "At first it would seem remarkable that damaged boats should have traversed sixty miles of the canal to Kiel while the east entrance to the Jade, Weser and Elbe, protected Wilhelmshaven, Bremerhaven and Cuxhaven were close at hand for refuge, but it should be remembered that Kiel is Germany's headquarters for repairs. "Against the second theory is the report that Russia, effective in the Baltic, has long been bottled up. Against the third theory is the fact that there has been no suggestion that the British fleet has even British Casualities
