The regular session of the Strathcona City Council last night was not fruitful of any business of decided importance. The only question of great interest discussed was that of cheaper electric light rates to be brought about by a collection of past due rates, now amounting to over five thousand dollars, and afterwards a reorganization of the electric light department to permit of expeditious collecting of the rates when they come due.

It was decided to give the fire and light committee power to collect the bills overdue and to take such steps as will insure rates being paid in future, with fifteen days of due date.
