The Labrador Strike.

To-day we publish the story of the Labrador strike from the pen of Dr. Grenfell who was present at Indian Harbour at the time and acted as mediator between the parties. The men stopped the loading of a steamer with fish, and to that extent risked incarceration in the Penitentiary for what they deemed to be the good of the cause they were fighting. Outside of this demonstration to put down any strike-breaking, which appears to have been conducted without bodily harm to any one, the men were quiet and orderly, although fully determined to exact what was due to them. They are exasperated at the price they are called upon to pay for their out-fits, and are distrustful that justice is being done them in the way of the prices of their catch. It is evident that a situation is arising not only on the Labrador but throughout the country which demands the creation of some public body which shall keep itself in touch with the market outlook and foreign prices. Such a body must possess the confidence of the whole community, or it will fail to avert trouble of the nature of that which Dr. Grenfell relates. If it is a body composed mainly of merchants and business men it will not displease the distrust which was manifested in this strike and which is often prevalent at other places. It must, therefore, be all-embracing and fully representative of fishermen selling their catch and the merchant buying for the foreign market. Since the despatch of Dr. Grenfell's letter, the strike has been settled. The fishermen found that it was impossible to get the $4.00 a quintal they asked for and called off the embargo on the promise of $3.50 and the rise, which apparently is what the foreign markets warrant to-day. The root of the difficulty is distrust. The fishermen feel they cannot get information as to prices and the outlook of the market on which they can rely. It should not be an insuperable difficulty for a disinterested Board to furnish the remedy.

Fish Carrier Goes Ashore

OFF CUCKOLD'S COVE. Baird's auxiliary schr. Frances, used as a fish carrier, was towed to port in a disabled condition at dinner hour to-day, having gone ashore about half a mile from the Narrows. The Frances left here this morning fish laden for Little Bay Islands. She had just disappeared from the Narrows when the motor engine gave out. There was a strong inshore wind prevailing at the time and the craft began to drift towards the rocks. Finally she went ashore at Small Point, near Cuckhold's Cove. The schooner and crew were in imminent peril of danger, but fortunately there was not a heavy sea running. Two members of the crew managed to get ashore and reported their condition by telephone to the owners of the Frances, Messrs. Jas. Baird, Ltd., who immediately communicated with the Tug Company, who despatched the D. P. Ingram to the scene. The schooner was floated off the rocks successfully and towed to port by the tug. The Frances was found to be leaking slightly but is not damaged much.

Another Robbery

Trunk Stolen From Cabin of Schr. Last night the waterfront thief was again in evidence and stole a trunk from the cabin of the schr. Beatrice M. of Trepasser, laying at Pitts' upper premises. The theft was committed about 9 o'clock, and on board the schr. and down in the forecastle smoking were Denis Fitzgerald, John Waddleton (the skipper's son) and James Curtis. They heard no noise whatever, nor did the watchman on the premises. The skipper himself, James Waddleton, was ashore and came on board about 9:30 going into the cabin. He immediately noticed that a trunk which was there and owned by John Ryan, one of the crew had vanished. He told the other men and on a search being made the trunk was found on the eastern part of the wharf in a square where cattle are hitched up generally. The lock had been picked off and the trunk ransacked but nothing was stolen from it. The thief wanted money evidently but there was none in it evidently. The men did not report to the police as they were satisfied to find everything intact.

Fire at Snook's Arm

A Water Street gentleman received information this forenoon acquainting him that a disastrous fire, of an unknown origin, occurred at Snook's Arm yesterday. The fire broke out in a dwelling house owned by the Capt. Wholman, who was in the building as a cook house and the sleeping quarters of a contingent of men who are engaged at the Snook's Arm whaling station. No particulars as to how the fire originated are to hand, but it is believed that the men lost all their clothing. The building is covered by insurance.

Cable News in Brief.

An airman was killed yesterday at Hanover. Bulgarian officers of the reserve left St. Petersburg yesterday for the front. Roosevelt testified about election funds yesterday before the Clapp Committee, at the time he was President. The second officer of the Amerika on arrival at Southampton to-day said he was on the bridge at the time of the collision with the submarine. The Amerika was proceeding on her course when the red light of the submarine which had just come to the surface was seen too late to avoid collision. The submarine broke in two like a match and sank immediately. Boats were lowered from the liner but failed to find any of the crew. The N. Y. hotel keepers are charging ten cents extra for bread and butter served during meals. It is estimated 70 hotels will make two million dollars a year by the change. It is believed that burglars stole a Murillo worth $50,000 from the home of Mrs. Warner at Philadelphia.

The Frog Man.

GREATEST NOVELTY EVER SEEN. Dave Nicholson is an actor who has puzzled more doctors than any other living creature. This clever contortionist, who will open an engagement at Rossie's Star Theatre, Monday, Oct. 7th, must be seen to convince every one what can be done by years of solid practice. He has exactly the same number of bones in his anatomy as any other human being, and yet most of the medical fraternity claim that it is a physical impossibility for a perfectly formed human being to accomplish what that wonderful man does. Mr. Nicholson has just completed his fifth season with the Barnum and Bailey Circus, which alone proves he must have a wonderful act, to have travelled with such a mammoth show, as only select and picked stars in the business can do so, and Mr. Rossie has to pay him a very large salary to secure his services. He will change his act twice weekly during his engagement. At the finish of his first act he closes with a phenomenal jump off a six foot pedestal, with both feet behind his head. This trick is a peculiarly thrilling one—11.
