Mr. Lawrence Clark. London's new fire chief, arrived in the city from Hamilton today, and at 3 o'clock in company with the mayor, Ald. Matthews. chairman of No. 3 committee, and a number of the aldermen, made a tour of the three fire halls, was introduced to the acting chief, John Aitken, ar the men, and duly installed as chief of the London fire brigade.

Before starting out on his trip, Chie Clark was closeted with Mayer Beck for half an hour, and it is understood that the new man fully understands the city expects of him. He made no statement today, and appears to be an exceedingly astute, clever fireman, and just the class of man the city has been looking for. Before leaving Hamilton Mr. Clark was presented with a handsome gold
