to appeals to their creed or class prejudices made to them by demagogues. The way in which the O'Donohoe appointment was resented in the last election by Catholics is the best proof of it.

John O'Donohoe is now a senator of the Dominion of Canada. But he gained the position by trading on the Catholic vota. The Catholic electors of Canada have gained no advantage by his preferment. It is simply a sop thrown to him because he led the conservative party leaders to believe he into possession of some of Mr. O'Dono. hoe's juggling in this respect and we will now proceed to lay a hitherto unpublished page of his record before our readers : In 1876 tenders were called for the construction of section 26 of the Welland canal. Among the bids put in was one from John Carroll of St Catharines for $100,000. for $117,000 from another Brooks, Ryan and Brown, and another for $166,000 from Ferguson and Mitchell. A partner of Mr. Carroll's in his tender was Mr. O'Donohoe. Mr. O'Donohoej as soon as he found that Mr. Carroll's bid was the lowest, managed through some unknown means to induce Mr. Page, the chief engineer, and Mr.

Trudeau, the deputy minister, and without the knowledge of Hon. Alex. Mackenzie. kissing. the minister of public works, to have the Carroll bid set aside and Carroll allowed to take the job at Brooks, Ryan & Brown's figures of $117,000. Of course Mr. O'Donohoe had to first secure the acquiesence of this firm, which he did by some means at present unknown to the public. As we have said, Mr. Mackenzie was altogether ignorant of the fact that the contract had been given to Mr. Carroll and his partner at Brooks, Ryan & Brown's figure, but not content with this Mr. O'Donohoe was emboldened to go to Mr. Mackenzie and trust abortive effort to stifle free discussion. against Mr. Carroll's wish and try to induce that gentleman to set aside the Brooks, Ryan and Brown bid of $117,000 and allow Mr. Carroll to take up the contract at Ferguson & Mitchell's ligures of $166,000! Mr. Mackenzie was astounded and told Mr. O'Donohoe that he was the only man who had ever made a dishonest proposal to him while he had been prime minister of Canaada. Mr. O'Donohoe, sit appears, realized that he had made a mistake and he began apologizing to Mr. Mackenzie and said that he was merely the attorney of Mr. Carroll. Mr. Mackenzie replied that no honorable attorney would consider it his duty to make a dishonorable proposal to any one. Mr. Mackenzie thereupon realized for the first time the circumstances of the case and immediately called upon Mr. Carroll to undertake the contract at the original figure of $100,-000. Mr. Carroll was bound to do so and it appears he carried out that contract in which O'Donohoe was a partner. Their profits on this $100,000 contract as afterwards learned on unquestionable authority were $30,000, which shows that Mr. O'Donohoe had tried to get $117,000, and then $166,000 for a job that was executed

We do not need them as landmarks of antiquarianism, we can study that branch of history by itself. Cumbrous orthography has got to up in presence of the telegram and shorthand. The humble origin of the surplice does not teach humility to the ecclesiastical pride that will only admit its fellow christians to a "street acquaintance," And so of the problems in connection with the editorship lawyer's wig, the judge's ermine and all of the Globe-a question that is receiving the other survivals, let us have no more a good deal of attention in the columns of of them, with the exception perhaps of
