Shooting 20 Miles

The German achievement in bombing Dunkirk from a distance of at least 20 miles is causing much discussion in artillery circles. The French say that the shells which fell in the little coast city travelled 23½ miles. Nothing like such a range has ever been accomplished before, but American experts say that it will now be possible to shoot heavy projectiles 30 miles. Thus says The New York World, Constantinople might be bombarded from the Black Sea, Trieste from Italian soil, Ceuta from Gibraltar and Dover from Calais.

A number of the world's most important straits are bridged in theory. A little more and Toronto could be shelled from Niagara-on-the-Lake. Happily the greater the distance the more difficult it is to find a small target. It is, moreover, a fact that a few shots from a great gun such as that used by the Germans against Dunkirk put it out of business by destroying its rifling. Lastly the mobile aeroplane is most effective in locating and destroying such giant engines of war before great havoc is wrought. For one reason or the other we hear no more of the cannon which last week did such long range work against Dunkirk.

How We Get The News

An exchange says—"Day before yesterday a perfectly nice lady called us up with tears in her voice reproached us for not mentioning the fact that she had a friend visiting her last week. We told her that she had not let us know that she had a visitor. Then she said, "Well, you should have known. I thought you were running a newspaper." Some people seem to think that our five senses are augmented by a sixth that lets us know everything that happens. Dear lady, editors are only human, or at least almost human. If you have a friend visiting you, if you are going away, or have returned from a visit out of town, if Johnnie falls and breaks his arm, if your husband chops his toe instead of a stick of wood, if anything happens that makes you glad, or sad, happy or made, call us up. Tell us about it. That's the way to get it in the paper.

ACTION OF SINGLE SPOONFUL SURPRISES MANY

Watford people who bought the simple mixture of buckthorn bark, glycerine, etc., known as Adler-i-ka, are surprised at the INSTANT effect of a SINGLE SPOONFUL. This remedy is so complete a bowel cleanser that it is used successfully in appendicitis. Adler-i-ka acts on BOTH upper and lower bowel and ONE SPOONFUL relieves almost ANY CASE of constipation, sour or grassy stomach. ONE MINUTE after you take it the grasses rumble and pass out. Be Big

Are you one of those "little fellows" that you can put a hundred of in a peanut shell and it will still rattle? These little shrivelled up shrimps jump and throw their tails and try to make believe that they are whales. How some of them get into our public bodies is hard to understand, but there they are in churches, lodges, town councils, and even on the floor of parliament matching their lilliputian ideas with those of real men. The other day a rich farmer got up in one of our township councils, and talking about the war and its costliness, said it cost him ten dollars already. That is his sizing up of the greatest war the earth has ever seen on which hangs the fate of empires and civilization. Be big. Don't be a two-by-four-business man, politician or family. "The hand of the diligent (or liberal) maketh rich" in more ways than in the pocket.

Consistency, Thou Art an Eighty-Cent Agate

"Hello, Bill. How are things?"
 "Great. How are you, old top?"
 "Never better. How's the wife?"
 "Fine. Head over heels in this Red Cross work."
 "Yep. Mine, too. Let's see, her mother is here, isn't she?"
 "Yes. Quite prominent in her town in the movement for peace in Europe. Member of some big committee, as I recall."
 "Daughter well, I suppose?"
 "Very. She's in charge of the local branch of the work of relief for the starving and wounded in the war zone."
 "Terrible war. Too bad."
 "Yep."
 "Going to the peace mass meeting to-night?"
 "Can't get away. Gotta be at the plant. Running nights now."
 "Yep, so are we. Gotta big order yesterday—$4,000,000 worth of war supplies."
 "That's good. We're away behind ourselves. Oughta had 2,000,000 brass shells ready for shipment yesterday. But we'll have 'em out to-morrow."—Detroit Times.

Nearly all children are subject to worms, and many are born with them. Spare them suffering by using Mother Graves' Worm Exterminator, the best remedy of the kind that can be had. m

Several ladies sat in their club one evening, discussing the virtues of their husbands.

"Mr. Bingleton," said one of them, referring to her life partner, "never drinks and never swears—indeed, he has no bad habits!"
 "Does he never smoke?" someone asked.
 "Yes, he likes a cigar just after he has eaten a good meal. But I suppose, on an average, he doesn't smoke more than once a month."

Some of her friends laughed, but she didn't seem to understand why.
 Miller's Worm Powders prove their value. They do not cause any violent disturbances in the stomach, any pain or griping, but do their work quietly and painlessly, so that the destruction of the worms is imperceptible. Yet they are thorough, and from the first dose there is improvement in the condition of the sufferer and an entire cessation of manifestations of internal trouble. m

Making the Little Farm Pay

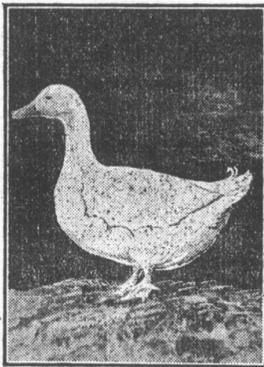

By C. C. BOWSFIELD

Duck farming is becoming more profitable year by year. People are learning that ducks are the hardest of domestic fowls and are the easiest to feed. Matured ducks of the larger breeds are worth $1 to $1.25 each dressed. The feathers add a few cents to this.

Ducklings grow fast and reach a nice roasting size at two months, it being quite common to get a four pound fowl at this age. They are a great delicacy then, and as they bring a higher rate per pound than when matured it is considered most profitable to market them at a weight of three to four pounds. Their feed up to this time should consist mainly of bran or shorts wet to a thin mash with skim milk, adding a little cornmeal. Stale bread or crackers soaked with skim milk will also do nicely. They need a clover patch to run in. Garden stuff is excellent. A little cracked corn is needed in the last two weeks. In raising ducks to an age of six or eight months considerable grain is required in addition to the mash and green stuff.

From time of hatching to five days old provide the following mixture: Cracker or bread crumbs and cornmeal, equal parts by measure; hard boiled eggs, 15 per cent of the total bulk of crackers and meal; sand, 5 per cent of the total of crackers and meal. Mix with water or milk and feed four times a day.

From five to twenty days old the following mixture: Wheat bran or shorts, two parts by measure; cornmeal, one part; rolled oats, 50 per cent of this bulk; beef scraps, 5 per cent; sand, 5 per cent; green food, 10 per cent. Mix with water to a dry, crumbly state and feed four times a day.

AYLESBURY DRAKE

From twenty to forty-two days old the following mixture: Wheat bran or shorts, two parts by measure; cornmeal, one part; beef scraps, 5 per cent of this bulk; sand, 5 per cent; green food, 10 per cent. Mix with water to a dry, crumbly state and feed four times a day.

From forty-two to seventy days old the following mixture: Cornmeal, two parts by measure; wheat bran or shorts, one part; beef scraps, 10 per cent of this bulk; coarse sand or grit, 5 per cent; green food, 10 per cent. Mix with water to a dry, crumbly state and feed four times a day.

Of all ducks for farm and practical purposes none stands higher in popular esteem than the White Peking. It is valuable for raising on a large scale and is the most easily raised of all. It is a very timid bird and must be handled quite carefully. It was imported from China in the early seventies and has steadily grown in popularity since its introduction into this country.

The White Aylesbury ducks are second to the popular Peking for market purposes and are bred in large numbers in Europe. In this country they are not so extensively bred as the Pekings; neither have they been found so good as the latter.

The Colored Ronen duck is called deservedly popular throughout this country and is considered one of the most profitable varieties to keep. By some raisers the Cayuga is considered to be as good as the Peking for early markets, and the claim is made that it can be grown as cheaply. The Indian Runner is best for egg production, but is not equal to the others for meat.

Ducks should have a snug shelter for nights. A swimming pond or creek is not needed, but they need a trough for splashing and washing. They consume a lot of clean water. Ducks usually lay their eggs early in the morning, and they often prefer to drop those eggs in any mud puddle about the barn lot, or as they swim in the creek. But if a house is provided they will lay in their nests if kept up until 9 or 10 o'clock in the morning. Nests can be made for the layers along one of the walls by nailing little boards about fifteen inches apart to this wall. These form a sort of stall, into which you place straw. Nail a low cleat along the nest fronts, close to the floor. This prevents the eggs rolling out and does not hinder the duck stepping into her laying stall.

Keep the Bull In Bounds.

The bullpen is a necessity on every farm. It is unwise and injudicious to allow the bull to run at liberty with the cattle.

 "Ah, then that accounts for her being on the fence!"

The Drawback.

"Elsie says there was only one drawback to her wedding."
 "What was that?"
 "She says her father looked too cheerful when he gave her away."—Exchange.

Occasion For Dunning

An exchange says—We presume that many people think the newspaper men are persistent duns as they keep reiterating, "look at the label on your paper," "move up the date," "you are back on your subscription," "pay what you owe," "pay up," "pay us." Now, let the farmer or business man place himself in a similar business position and see if he would not do the same. Suppose a farmer raises a crop of one thousand bushels of wheat, and his neighbor should buy a bushel, and the price was two dollars or less, and the neighbor says, "I will pay you the sum in a few days." As the farmer does not want to be small in the matter of small things, he says, "all right." Another comes in the same way until the whole of one thousand bushels are gone to one thousand different persons. No one purchaser concerns himself about it, and, of course, that could not help him any. He does not realize that the farmer has frittered away his crop of wheat in little dribs and that he is seriously embarrassed in his business because his debtors treat it as a small matter. But it all would pay him promptly, which they could do as well as not, it would enable him to carry on his business without difficulty. The above comparison is too true of the difficulties that a newspaper man has to contend with.

It Rubs Pain Away.—There is no Inimient so efficacious in overcoming pain as Dr. Thomas' Electric Oil. The hand that rubs it in rubs the pain away and on this account there is no preparation that stands so high in public esteem. There is no surer pain-killer procurable, as thousands can attest who have used it successfully in treating many ailments. m

Leather Medals

Leather medals were originally conferred as a genuine mark of honor. When King John of France, captured at Agincourt, was forced to pay Edward III. of England a ransom of 3,000,000 gold coins to effect his release, he was left without precious metal for coins or decorations. So he found it necessary to pay the palace expenses with leather money. He also used leather medals when he wished to confer honor on some nobleman. The custom quickly arose of presenting "leather medals" as a burlesque distinction.—The American Boy.
