—Elsewhere in this issue will be found a letter from Mr. Howe,

Middleton, regarding the marking

of historical sites through the province. The Monitor would suggest one historical spot which might very appropriately be designated—the locality called Bloody Creek; a little to the west of Bridgetown, where the English, French and Indian engaged in a sanguinary battle in the early days of the Province. Doubtless there are other localities that will suggest themselves to our readers, and the Monitor would be glad to receive correspondence on the subject.

—The Monitor regrets to note,

the laxity allowed by parents and the civic authorities in regard to children, both boys and girls on the streets at night. A number of children are, in the habit of racing

the streets after dark and frequently are found at the railroad station when the evening freight comes in, where they race shouting up and down the platform. If such laxity of conduct is permitted in children of tender years, who ought to be in bed at an early hour, and who disregard even the ringing of the cur-few, it will be only a few years before they will become incorrigible. If parental authority cannot deal with them police authority

should lend it aid.

—Two of our young men who went to Maine last week with the expectation of obtaining work, returned home after a few days unsuccessful search for remunerative positions. Probably they will find themselves just as well off in the end. A journal commenting on the desire of our young people for change remarks:—

"Half the people who have left the Maritime Provinces to go to the United States—perhaps more than half—would have been a great deal better off if they had remained at home. They seem to have thought that if they could only get to the place of their desire, making a

NEW YORK STATE

FELT THE STORM.

New York, November 4.—A storm of midwinter intensity, which came booming up the Atlantic coast last night bringing with it sharp gales heavy falls of snow and rain left to-day a broad trail of broken wire communication along the seaboard.

Telegraph companies were beset with difficulties in all directions. The storm was apparently severest between Baltimore and Washington all wires being down between those cities.

Pennsylvania suffered from a soggy, clinging snow, and wires across the state were either down or worked only intermittently. Early communication with Chicago was obtained by way of Boston, thence to the west. A heavy fall of snow was reported in Scranton, Pa., and the contiguous territory.

Communication with eastern points were affected by the storm which brought down the snow coated wires.

Lame back comes on suddenly and is extremely painful. It is caused by rheumatism of the muscles. Quick relief is afforded by applying Chamberlain's Liniment. Sold by all dealers.

A Level-headed Judge

(Hamilton Times.)

Judge Scanlan, of Chicago, does not believe in treating crime with leniency. A thug proven in his court the other day to have held up at pistol's point helpless woman and robbed them of their valuables was sentenced to life imprisonment.

Nor did Judge Scanlan appear to stand in awe of the maudlin advocates of the "brotherly" treatment of criminals. He did not even provide for occasional bouquets, or any of the other "adorments" of penal life which are coming to be regarded as the criminal's due. Nay, he vigorously declared his wish that all such criminals be treated to the punishment which he inflicted on the convict before him, and wished the case given every publicity as a warning to the disorderly and lawless element.

The judge's course may not fit in with some modern notions of justice and criminal reform, but it meets with hearty approval from the healthy-minded, law-abiding people of the country, many of whom are thoroughly disgusted with present day methods of dealing with crime.

As the Detroit Free Press recently put it:—

"We no longer believe in punishing criminals in these enlightened days. The weak brother who wanders from the narrow path of rectitude is more to be pitied than blamed, in the modern acceptance of sociology. He should be sent to a glorified Sunday school class, where precepts of righteousness should be instilled into his darkened soul and where he would be taught in a three weeks' course to recognize the error of his ways and to go out among his fellow criminals as an apostle of the better life."

It's a very beautiful thought, and it appeals to no one with more conviction of its absolute truth than to the thugs and robbers who profit by it.

It is high time that the administration of justice of the United States was reformed in the interest of law, order and the safety of life and property in the republic. Already in Canada we feel the beginnings of the evil of attempting to excuse crime and to exalt the criminal. The influence of such a sentiment is evil. Judge Scanlan's grasp of the situation shows that he realizes the dangers of some modern tendencies, and feels that the lives of the enemies of peaceful society should not be made pleasant or those of the honest citizens.

And Canadian lawmakers and courts should take a similar view.

THE MOST WORK FOR THE LEAST MONEY.

The late Hon. David Davis once said: "Each year every local paper gives from $100 to $5,000 in free lines for the benefit of the community in which it is located. No other agency can or will do this."

"The local editor, in proportion to his means, does more for his town than any other ten men, and in fairness, man with man, he ought to be supported, not because you happen to like him or admire his writings; but because a local paper is the best investment a community can make. It may not be brilliant or crowded with great thoughts, but financially it is more of a benefit to a community than a preacher or a teacher. Unhappily now, we do not mean morally or intellectually but financially, and yet on the moral question you will find the majority of local papers are on the right side of the question. Today the editors of local papers do the most work for the least money of any men at work."

Golden Wedding Anniversary

An interesting event occurred at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Phineas Whitman on the day and evening of the 31st of October, 1910, being the fiftieth anniversary of their marriage. All the children and grandchildren were present excepting one, making a family reunion of twenty-one. The beautiful day tended to heighten the pleasure of the season.

The visiting hours were from 2.30 to 5 o'clock with a reception in the evening. A large number of the community were present.

A presentation address read by Rev. A. H. Whitman in behalf of the family opened the program. The gifts consisted of gold pieces and bank bills. The deceased brother of the groom, Alfred Whitman, of Waterville, anticipating the day had left a legacy to Mr. and Mrs. Whitman.

These were augmented by other presents from friends and neighbors. And what was better than material gifts was the congratulations of those present as well as absent friends.

A very nice solo was given by Rev. Mr. Whitman, accompanied by his wife. Next was a reading given by the latter in her best elocutionary style, entitled "Thanksgiving in the West." Next was a fine original poem given by E. J. Whitman, "Fifty years ago". An address given by Miss Annie Fair to which Mr. P. Whitman briefly replied in behalf of Mrs. Whitman and himself closed the program. Refreshments were served both afternoon and evening. Altogether it was an event long to be remembered by all present.

ROWDYISM IS BAD WHETHER BY STUDENTS OR OTHERS.

(From London Echo.)

Rowdism is highly reprehensible, no matter who are guilty of it, but when it is resorted to by university students it cannot be too strongly condemned. The young men who made hoodlums of themselves at the Dorchester Fair may consider themselves lucky in escaping with a fine; some magistrates would have sent them to jail for a time without any option, and it would serve them right. The trouble is that some young fellows have the idea, apparently, that unless they are continually cutting capers of some kind there is danger of the public losing sight of the fact that there is such an institution and such people hereabouts as a university and students. It is all very well to talk of "youthful capers" but it is no fun at all, but that is no excuse for rowdism. If it is a vent to animal spirits that is desired, there are many ways by which this pent-up energy might be employed, and a good purpose served at the same time. It is such energy that is demanded on the farms of the surrounding country, and as many of these spirited fellows are so strangers to the work required there, they should be of real service. The school authorities have wisely taken steps to prevent fool dashes within the institution; the pity is they cannot extend their authority outside.

One reason why Carpenter-Morton Roofing is getting so popular is because it is so easy to put on and wears after it is on. You don't have to keep fussing with it. It does not break through like a lot of cheaper roofings on the market. Once it is put on it stays on, and it lasts and wears. It is guaranteed for years. Karl Freeman, local agent.

RAILWAY GARDEN

The inauguration of the flower scheme by the Canadian Pacific Railway Co., sixteen years ago, has resulted in there now being over 1,500 gardens on the whole system. Railway stations, round houses, divisional offices, section houses, watchmen's gates, morlocking plants, are adorned with flowers, which the men take care of in their spare time. Those employees are naturally amateur, but their taste and example have spread to the communities across the continent. Enthusiasm and success this year have been greater than ever, showing the good use there has been made of the thousands of packages of seeds, plants and shrubs which were distributed early in the spring. A number of prizes were awarded all over the system for the best gardens, and the winners' names will be announced shortly.

Now the Company is sending out over half a million bulbs for fall planting and early bloom in the spring of 1911. The Company purchases all new varieties of flowers procurable, and the markets of the world are sought for seeds and bulbs. Travellers over the C.P.R. are delighted with the green lawns, brightened by flowers, which greet their eyes, and it is a common occurrence for some flower lover from Europe or the United States to drift into the Company's offices with a carefully pressed flower, and in some station garden, to ask the name and how to cultivate it.

Obituary.

MISS ELVIRA PIERCE

On Tuesday, Oct. 18th, Mr. and Mrs. John Pierce received the sad intelligence of the death of their beloved daughter, Elvira, whose death occurred at Halifax, where she had gone three months previous for special treatment. The remains were forwarded to the sorrowing parents on Wednesday.

On the following Friday afternoon a large number of sympathizing friends assembled at the home to pay their last tribute of respect to their departed one. Rev. C. H. Haverstock of Nictau, conducted the services at the house and grave.

The interment took place at Nictau. The casket was covered with flowers contributed by loving friends. Miss Pierce will be sadly missed at her home, where she had been the comfort and help of her aged parents, and also in the Sabbath School and by her many friends in this community.

Besides her grief-stricken parents, one sister and four brothers mourn their sad loss. May God comfort and sustain them in their sad hours of affliction.—COM.

POTATOES LIKE MONEY.

Main Farmer Realizes 21,000 Barrels in Land Trade.

A Bangor despatch says:—There was recorded in Aroostook County last week a real estate transaction in which potatoes figured largely as a medium of exchange. George H. Klipped recently exchanged his farm on the Centre Line road for that of Isaac Kilcollins, receiving 11,000 barrels of potatoes to boot. He then sold the Kilcollins farm to Reuben Vandine for 10,000 barrels of potatoes, thus realizing 21,000 barrels for his original farm of not over 100 acres. The potatoes are worth at present $1.15 a barrel, but later in the season a much higher price is expected.

The old, old story, told times with out number, and repeated over and over again for the last thirty-six years, but is always a welcome story to those in search of health—There is nothing in the world that cures coughs and colds as quickly as Chamberlain's Cough Remedy. Sold by all dealers.

To Our Advertisers

If you want to stay in business stay in the advertising field.

No matter how much business you are doing, keep up the energy that makes it.

You might as well cut off your leg because you are running well in a foot race as to cut off your advertising because your business is too good.

You might as well tell the insurance man that you are so healthy you will drop the policy for a few years as to stop advertising because the orders are piling up.

"Don't need to" is the eventual preliminary to "Can't do it."

The only man who doesn't need to advertise is the man who has retired from business.

The only policy holder who doesn't need to pay his premiums is dead.

WHY YOU SHOULD INSURE IN

THE TRAVELLER'S LIFE ASSURANCE COMPANY OF CANADA

BECAUSE the insured is relieved of further premium payments in case he becomes totally and permanently disabled, through accident or disease. In this event the policy increases in value and will be paid in full at maturity, in like manner though the insured had regularly and duly paid the premiums. We want right men to work for us. ENGLISH LIQUID PAINT

5 Good Reasons why you should use it

- 1—because it is made of 70% White Lead and 30% Zinc White—the ideal proportion.
- 2—because the only white lead used in it is Brandram's B. B. Genuine White Lead.
- 3—because it is the result of 31 years experience in mixing paints for the Canadian people.
- 4—because it is finer, more uniform, covers more surface, lasts longer and holds its color longer, than any other more economical to use.
- 5—because it is guaranteed pure and the formulas printed on every can.
