CURRENT DISCUSSIONS IN THEOLOGY is the modest title of the Annual Theological Review issued by the Professors of the Chicago Theological Seminary, one of whom Rev. H. McD. Scott, is well known to many of our readers. The sixth volume is now before us. It can be best described in the words of the preface, "The aim of these discussions is to answer the question, which every earnest student of theology and ecclesiastical subjects may well be supposed to ask at the end of each year, viz. What has been done in the different fields of sacred learning during the past twelve months, and what are the latest results of such studies."

"The contents of the present volume are classed under four heads:

I. Exegetical Theology, which is divided into (1). The present state of Old Testament studies, in the Hebrew language and grammar, Textual Criticism, Old Testament Introduction, Exegesis, and Theology, by Prof. Curtis,—(2). The present state of New Testament studies, in Introduction, Text, History, Exegesis, and Theology, by Prof. Gilbert.

II. Historic Theology, which treats of the present state of studies in Church History with regard to Introduction, Historic methods and origin of the early church; the early church, the church of the middle ages, and the modern church, by Prof. Hugh M. Scott.

III. Systematic Theology, or the present state of studies in revealed Theology, both as a system and in its specific doctrines, by Prof. Boardman.

IV. Practical Theology, shewing the present state of studies in Homiletics, both theoretical and practical, by Prof. Fisk.

The value of the work consists first, in the fact that to a busy minister who has not the many new books to search, nor the time to search them, this work presents the present state of studies on all these subjects in brief compass, quickly read and easily comprehended, and secondly, this very review and comparison with the past revives and freshens the previous knowledge of the whole field of Theological study, which in the pressure of practical work is liable to be neglected.

Any of our ministers or others can obtain the book by forwarding the price, $1.25 to the congregational Publishing Society, Boston.

A STORY ABOUT NILSSON.

When Caristine Nilsson first appeared in public, twenty or more years ago, she was a bony and freckled Scandinavian lass, like scores one sees in Western towns. Now she is a magnificent woman, commanding in carriage and countenance.

She is a woman of noble impulse, which was once illustrated at the house of a retired Chicago millionaire near New York. A distinguished company had been invited to meet her at dinner. On entering the dining room she dropped her host's arm, hurrying in amazement to the stately butler, and seizing him effusively by the hand engaged him in conversation, while the other guests stood waiting and the entertainer looked on in astonishment. "That man," she explained to the group, when they were seated "is the son of a kind old nobleman on whose estate my father worked as a day-laborer when we were children. Fortune has smiled on me, while it has frowned on my old playmate, whom I find here under such changed circumstances."—The Lutheran.

It has long been the policy of the devil to keep the masses of the world in ignorance; but, finding at length that they will read, he is doing all in his power to poison their books.—E. N. Kirk.
