

3 ¹⁰

To Donald
from Finlay

The first Communion in Ashfield was held on the farm of Alexander MacKenzie about half way between the Lake and Kintail and the next communion services were held in the bush on Red Duncan MacRae's farm near the Lochalsh school and was held there for about five years then at the bush at Hemlock city school to be more central then in the bush behind the manse then in bush on Donald MacIntyre's near the church then in the cedar grove shown in the picture in this book when the congregation being all able to understand the English held the services in the church