the direct cause of the stoppage. The liabilities of the firm are, direct, about $30,000; indirect, about $60,000, mostly good paper under discount. The assets are estimated at about $20,000 surplus. At a meeting of the creditors of the firm held on Tuesday afternoon, a committee, consisting of Messrs. W. Simpson, A. M. Cassels and C. R. Black, was appointed to confer with Mr. Chapman, who will continue to manage the business until an arrangement is arrived at, which will probably be done at an adjourned meeting, to be held on Tuesday next.

IN A NEW ROLE.—The local agent of a volcanic life insurance company, who has figured in the courts considerably of late, was nearly made the victim of his own chief weapon of offence on Wednesday last. He met on the Place d'Armes with a former acquaintance who luckily or unluckily, was supposed to have expressed an opinion as to the character of the suits-at-law which the voluble agent had recently lost. A torrent of Billingsgate was immediately let loose, which not only drowned the voice of the splashing fountain and

"The cars rattling o'er the stony street," but the reverberations from the front walls and towers of the Parish Church sounded like a Dominion Day explosion of fire-crackers. A crowd was soon attracted, to whom the agent, wildly gesticulating and waxing more and more wrathful and eloquent, shot forth his tale of woe, when there appeared on the scene a quiet-looking individual, said to be on the search for one of the inhabitants of St. Vincent de Paul, reported to have recently left for parts unknown. It required the persistent assurances of a bystander to save our friend the agent from being hurried off as the escaped lunatic. "Pauvre homme!" said a compassionate Canadian, "il a étudié l'emprunt Français."
