SATURDAY MORNING, MAY 8

Germany's Loss of Moral Restraint

Civilization, or what we have been accustomed to call civilization in the west, is at stake. The destruction of the Lusitania brings this fact vividly before the world. What the world may do in the face of this fact depends entirely on how deep the spirit of what we call civilization has sunk into the character of humanity.

The whole development of the race is of the nature of a contest between the brute in man and the finer thing that we call humanity. The predominance of humanity above the brute is what we call civilization. If civilization is at stake, humanity is at stake. This has been becoming clearer since the Kaiser and his nation have undertaken to impose their will to power upon the rest of the world.

We stated our belief some time ago that a nation that had lost its ability to discriminate between moral evil and moral good in the shape of moral license and moral restraint, was a nation insane. The Germans have adopted the view that the end justifies the means; that their national end justifies any means; and the other nations of the world must consider whether they are willing to allow this contention to pass unchallenged.

If Germany is permitted to set up this standard for herself it is clear that in any future war, with any other nation, the same brute principle of the end justifies the means—justifying any means—would be applied.

After many generations the nations had laboriously built up a code of honor, rules and regulations by which when resort was had to the brute method of war, a degree of restraint would be observed by all who regarded themselves as within the pale of civilization.

The point is not at all that one act is more brutal or savage than another, and many people have missed this important consideration. The point is that certain rules and regulations had been adopted and agreed upon, and all civilized contents were to be carried on under these rules, just as the sport of prize-fighting, which is brutal to some people, became codified and therefore civilized, and capable of bringing its participants under a moral restraint.

ABSOLUTELY NO RESPECT FOR HIS UNCLE SAM

Austria will be scraps of paper and the heavy hand of militarism will take back everything given her.

And how can she expect much consideration from the victorious allies if she stands aloof in their hour of danger, and dickers for some concessions from their enemies?

The "Panama" Exhibit

Canada has established a splendid tradition for her exhibits at international shows, and the present exhibition at San Francisco is evidently no exception among the numerous fine displays that the governments of the last twenty years have made. At Paris, at Buffalo, at St. Louis, as well as at Glasgow and London, and elsewhere, Canada had buildings and exhibits which drew the attention and admiration of visitors of every nation. In this war year, when the roving population of the United States will remain at home and look at their own scenery, it is well that such an excellent representation of Canada's wealth and industry should be found where all traveling Americans are likely to see it.

Returning visitors have only one opinion about the success of the plans carried out and completed for the opening day by Commissioner Hutchinson. If Ontario has not quite the important place in the exhibit which might be expected, it must be remembered that the San Francisco affair is intended to celebrate the opening of the Panama Canal, and Ontario is less interested in this event than her western sister provinces. However, Ontario apples and Ontario minerals and various Ontario manufactures sufficiently keep up our reputation.

Politics have had no place in the work done in the many exhibitions of past years, and it is satisfactory to reflect that in this one department of foreign policy both parties have a single aim. The war and Canada's part in it will attract much attention to our national spirit, and strangers will be able to understand when they see the San Francisco exhibit, that Canada is a land worth fighting for, worth dying for, and worth living in.

After the war there will be a great tide of immigration setting towards our shores, and it is essential that those who move in that floodtide should be among the best that can be got from the races of the world. There are not any that we welcome more heartily than our cousins across the boundary, and the Panama exhibit may allure many more of them to cast in their lot under the old roof-tree.

BANK MUST PAY FOR CLERK'S ERROR

Welland Man Brought Suit for Amount Shown in Pass Book.

NEWS OF OSGOODE HALL

North Bay Storekeeper Fails in His Action Against Insurance Companies.

In a judgment given out yesterday at Osgoode Hall Mr. Justice Clute finds in favor of John H. Adams for the full amount and interest in his claim against the Dominion Bank for $1100.

Collins owns a store in Welland, and he alleged that he deposited the amount claimed with the bank between July 24, 1914, and September 28, 1914. The defendants denied that they had ever received the money, but the passbook produced at the trial showed that between July 24, 1914, and August 14, 1914, an entry had been made for the amount, and bore the initials of a clerk named Burrows, who denied receiving it, and stated that a mistake had been made.

It was shown that several mistakes had been made, one of which charged Collins with drawing two sums of $40, whereas he had only drawn one. Counsel for the bank submitted that as the plaintiff was in the habit of attending and betting on horse races, he was to a certain extent discredited, but his lordship stated that because a man was in the habit of betting it is no reason why he should not be believed.

Insurance Companies Win.—Mr. Justice Middleton gave judgment in the action of Philip Adams of North Bay against the Hudson Bay Insurance Company and the North Western Insurance Company. The plaintiff was the owner of a store on Oak street, North Bay, and in the claim he stated that he held policies for fire insurance with several companies in the following amounts: North Western Co., $2000; Hudson Bay Co., $1000; Hartford Co., $500; and Canada National, $2000.

A fire occurred at his store on April 26, 1914, and the insurance adjuster declared that the loss was $3845, which amount was paid with the exception of $154.62. Afterwards the adjuster discovered a policy of the Hudson Bay Company for $1000, which had expired on April 28, and declared that if he paid the premium the policy would be revived. Accordingly Adams presented a cheque for $157.70 to the company, but it was refused.

A Second Fire.—On May 28 another fire occurred at the store, and the adjuster awarded him $210 for damages. The plaintiff asked that the two amounts of $3845 and $210 should be paid by the other companies and have them settled with the Hudson Bay Company afterwards.

The Hudson Bay Insurance Company stated that as the policy had expired before the fire occurred it was not liable for loss. His lordship was of the same opinion and dismissed the action.

Mortgage Case.—Application under the Mortgage Act was made before Mr. Justice Middleton by Emma Gilbert, Emma Jane Gilbert and Gilbert Royce, executors and trustees of the estate of George James Gilbert, for confirmation of redemption proceedings ordered by the master before the act came into operation on April 8.

The opposing parties concerned in the application are E. R. Reynolds and Mattie Reynolds, John A. Carlaw and the Imperial Bank.

The master's report allocated the first mortgage to the plaintiff, the second to Carlaw, and the third to the bank. The defendants Reynolds are owners of the equity of redemption.

Matters of the estate dragged on until an order was made on March 15, fixing the date of redemption for April 24, sixteen days after the Mortgage Act became operative.

His lordship states that there is no reason why the redemption proceedings should not be confirmed, and makes an order which allows the redemption mortgage to be foreclosed unless the second mortgage redeems and provides that upon the second mortgage redeeming he may foreclose unless the bank redeems; and if the bank in turn redeems it may foreclose unless all the arrears mentioned are paid up.

She Suffered for Nine Long Years

Then Dodd's Kidney Pills Cured Madame Belanger's Rheumatism.

She Also Had Backache, Headache and Other Troubles, But They All Vanished When She Used Dodd's Kidney Pills.

ST. AMATEUR, Gloucester Co., N.B.—May 7.—(Special).—Cured of Rheumatism from which she had suffered for nine years, Madame Pierre Belanger, a well known and highly respected resident of this place, is telling her friends that she owes her new lease of health to Dodd's Kidney Pills.

"I want everybody to know that I used Dodd's Kidney Pills for Rheumatism and that I am perfectly cured," Madame Belanger says. "I suffered from the Rheumatism for nine years. I also had backache and cramps in the muscles. I had a bitter taste in my mouth especially in the morning and I was troubled with headaches."

"When Dodd's Kidney Pills cured my Rheumatism all my other troubles vanished too."

Rheumatism is caused by diseased kidneys failing to strain the uric acid out of the blood. Madame Belanger's own condition is symptoms of Kidney Disease. Mrs. Belanger cured her kidneys with Dodd's Kidney Pills and naturally they all vanished.
