Nine More to Be Tested in Shooting and Three Others Selected To-Day

FOR SERVICE IN SOUTH AFRICA

Names of the Successful Applicants and of Those Who Have Chances.

The scores of enthusiastic applicants, each consumed with anxiety lest Col. Otter or Major Naturess might find him unqual fied in some respect for service in the new regiment of Canadian Mounted Rifles. which besieged the recruiting offices on the occasion of the formation of the first detachment, weré noticeably absent yesterday, when the second quo a was being chosen. A sober half hundred were all who applied. Of these, eight had been previously examined and found suitable, and they were given first chance. No excitement prevailed. During the day 27 men were examined and passed the medical test, 18 of whom also passed the riding and shooting trial. Nine others will be tested in shooting, and the three new men chosen to day, when all will be sworn in. They will leave on Thursday evening to join the advance corps at Halifux.

The applicants who have been successful in pasing both tests are:

GRAND JURY WANT- CHANGES

Think Magistrates Stould Be Given Wider Jurisdiction.

The grand jury of the December Ses McDougall yesterday. Regret was ex pressed that the time of the court was occupied with some trivial case, and it wa mended that the legislature be askel to give magistrates wider jurisdiction to deal with such cases.

Regarding gambling, and the case G.

Samuel James, tried but not convicted, because he was liable unless he collected more than enough money to pay for re-freshments, the presentment says: "We suggest that such amendments be made as will make it clear that those who al-low their premises to be habitually used for gambling purposes are criminally liable. Common gaming houses should be brought within the summary jurisdiction of police

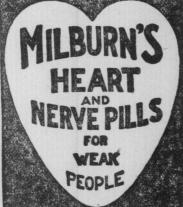

Speaking of visits to public penal and charitable institutions, the report recom-mends that the 60 insone persons in the jail be removed to same institute at once Twenty consumntives are being cared for at the House of Providence, and the juris of the opinion that the municipalities should grant this institution the same amount that is given to the hospitals for consumptive cases.

Referring to the clause on gambling.
Judge McDougall said he had conferred with the highest authorities about passing a law for the suppression of gambling and it was agreed that to frame a law sufficiently extensive would be a very difficult matter. This law would necessarily affect dealing in stocks and nublic sentiaffect dealing in stocks, and public senti-ment at present was far too strong to al-low the passage of such sumptuary mea-
