ADMIRAL BENSON SAYS HE IS NOT UNFRIENDLY TO BRITISH PEOPLE

Unable to Recall Details of Interview

With Sims. Washington, May 6 .- Admiral William Washington, May 6.—Admiral William S. Benson, wartime chief of naval operations, told the senate naval investigating committee today that both before and during the war he had warned Read Admiral Sims not to let his friendship for the British unduly influence his official acts.

Admiral Benson said he could not deny trat he had told Admiral Sims in March, 1917, "not to let the British pull the wool over your eyes; we would as soon fight them as the Germans,"

WOULD YOU BELIEVE 17?

"Would you helieve it." said Barney Parsons, supervisor of the G. T. R. parcel rooms, "a man who was perfectly normal and who had not been inclining even Florida water, got off the train and came to these rooms here and didn't know where he was?"

"Came a knock at that wicket there, and I opened it," he continued. "A man said: "What place is this?"

"Why, the parcel room," I answered. "Yes, may be, but I don't mean that?"

OFF THE RAILS

Four G. T. R. officials in a special train passed through this city, eastward, at 7:00 a.m. today. The party consisted of W. G. Kelly, president of the G. T. R., W. D. Robb, T. L. Bond, and J. E. Dalrample.

Added to Legal Action.

Toronto, May 6.—On the petition of Mrs. Adele Baldwin Moss, Justice Kelly, at Osgoode Hall this morning, made an order adding her four children as parties to the action which she has brought against F. H. Phippen, K.C. and Malcolme Stobie as executors of her former husband, the late Cawthra Mulock, who was a son of Chief Justice Mulock.

Mrs. Moss, who was a daughter of the late Chief Justice Falconbridge, sues to recover possession of 65$ shares of stock of the National Iron Works, which, she says, were assigned to her shares to himself.

The executors take the ground that if the stock is held to belong to Mrs. Moss it will seriously reduce the residuary estate, the sole beneficiaries of wh. G. Refly, president of the G. T. R.. W. D. Robb, T. L. Bond, and J. E. Dalrample.

"CHIECKENS AM TRAVELINGS."

Thousands of baby chicks are traveling daily over the railroads in the hands of the express companies. Although the price of eggs and the cost of feed is exceedingly high, more chicks are being moved this year than ever, according to J. C. Andrewes, agent of the Canadian Express Company. Every night the local depot offices are filled with perforated cartons bearing broods of motherless, chirping chicks.

A system of centralized hatching seems to be growing in favor, according to the officials of the companies. Many chicken raisers who formerly ran setting hens to bring forth chicks, now ship the eggs to hatcheries, where tens of thousands of eggs are set at one time. PARISIANS SUFFERING BECAUSE OF SHORTAGE

OF SMALLER COINS

Paris, May 6 .- The shortage of small change, which Parisians have almost accepted as a permanent thing, has caused the authorities to postpone the "mothers of large families day," set

WHAT WILL THE PRICE OF COAL BE NEXT YEAR?

Nobody knows. No wage agreement has been made as yet, except that whatever the advance is it will be retroactive to April 1. I should get my name on somebody's waiting list if I were you.

carefully, cleaning the office window, a task which had not been done since the building was erected. The length of time which the job was taking made them wonder still more. Every member of the staff, however, curbed his curiosity while ever and anon a low chuckle broke from the lips of their boss, and while smiles were seen to wreath his face. They could

some time ago, but they wanted to know what the excise would be. Prices of tobacco and cigars were bound to go up in any case.

Cathering near they saw the reason for the strange workings. On a truck just outside of the window sat a young couple apparently suffering from the pangs of love. They sat close with their fingers entwined, and looked long into each others eyes. Every little while she sighed. FOR MIDDLESEX COUNTY
