THE delightful lather from Ivory Soap is due to several things. First, is the high quality of the soap. Second, is its freedom from unsaponified oil. Third, is the nature of the lather's formation—an endless series of minute bubbles, light, lively, copious.

Appeal From Pulpit
In Carleton Presbyterian church last night, Rev. Dr. Morrison made a stirring appeal for men by the call of the blood of Duval and other New Brunswickers who have made the great sacrifice asking them to join the colors. "He died," said the preacher, "as a victim of German outlawry and murderous inhumanity, a great hearted surgeon and a splendid hero."

Borneo is practically an immense game preserve. The white inhabitants have neither time nor inclination to do any hunting, so that the game with which the country abounds is rarely disturbed. Elephants and rhinoceroses are so plentiful that they are a nuisance to rubber and coconut estates by destroying young trees.

If a nail is driven into a tree trunk it will always remain the same distance from the centre of the tree and from the ground.

THE GERMAN WAR COMMANDMENTS

"Thou Shalt Have No Other Thought Than War" The First — "Thou Shalt Kill" is Another

Berlin, Aug. 6.—(Correspondence of The Associated Press).—Of the numerous "war newspapers" that have made their appearance in camps, barracks, and headquarters on the various battle fronts, none has been more successful than the "Liller Kriegszeitung," published in Lille, France, the headquarters of the Sixth Army under command of Crown Prince Rupprecht of Bavaria. Success is due largely to the personality of its editor, Capt. Paul Oskar Hoecker and Baron von Ompedda, two well known German authors.

After forty weeks of publication, the editors have selected the best from the 400 issues and have put it out in book form.

The little book is jammed with poetry and prose, with clever illustrations and sketches, and excellent photographs, all of which have appeared in enlarged shape, in the "Liller Kriegszeitung."

One characteristic article is "The Ten Commandments of the War," by Dr. Karl Wolff, as follows:

"This is the war, my people, that has torn you out of comfort and quiet but also out of sleepiness, doubt and over-eating.

"Thou shalt have no other thought than the war. For its effects will be felt unto the third and the fourth generation, if we weaken, but it can bring blessings unto the tenth generation if we conquer and found the revived world on German principles.

"Thou shalt not take the name of this terrible war in vain, neither in rough jest nor by anything unworthy in picture or words.

"Remember the peace in thy soul, that this confidence may inspire thee when you serve the present and destroy its fearful works. For the future is as a feast day of thy people, an asylum of industry and joy, for thee and thine, for all who endeavor, even for the stranger who dwells within the gates.

"Honor thy father and mother, by dwelling the home and the ground they rest in.

"Thou shalt kill—for the sake of your life, which emanates from destruction. "Thou shalt let nothing be stolen that belongs to thy people.

"Thou shalt honor Germany's women; their sacrifices and suffering without complaint.

"Thou shalt not tolerate false witness against thy people.

"Thou shalt not covet thy neighbor's customs, good and bad, manner of speech and dress, nor anything else made for foreigners. But let German spirit in future go out to the world, strong through the sacrifices, powerful in understanding, to gather the best of all peoples for use at home."

And in the same issue appeared one of the favorite acrostics headed by the question:

What has England and what have her allies to expect from their opponents? The answer is:

T u r k i s h
O s t e r l i n d
The three initial letters T O D make the German word "death."

The second German war loan of 2,000,000,000 marks was so large as to be incomprehensible to the average soldier, so one of them proceeded to make it intelligible by translating it into glasses of beer. Even then the sum was staggering.

Estimating each glass at 20 pfennings, or one-fifth of a mark, the industrious figure achieved 40,000,000,000 glasses of beer. A war strength company of 250 men, drinking a glass of beer apiece each quarter of an hour day and night, would have to keep up drinking beer for 1,887,500 days, or 5,171 years, 85 days in order to drink up the war loan.

OPPOSE FRENCH ON SCHOOL QUESTION.
Ottawa, Aug. 29.—A pronouncement on the Ottawa separate schools and bilingual question, signed by the English-speaking parish priests of this city, was read by them at mass today. It was an endorsement of the educational policy of the Ontario government, which has placed the Ottawa separate schools under the management of a government commission because the French majority of the separate school board for two years defied the department of education in the matter of the rules calling for the teaching of English as the dominant language.

In addition to this, Rev. Fathers Fay and O'Connor referred to the university having removed all the English-speaking priest-professors and lay teachers, with the exception of three out of a teaching staff of forty-three. They urged English-speaking parents to send their children to such colleges as Loyola, Montreal; St. Michael's, Toronto; St. Augustine's, Toronto; St. Francis Xavier, Antigonish (N. S.), and other colleges than that of Ottawa University.
