FOUR-OARED CREW EVENT ON SATURDAY AROUSES KEEN INTEREST

O'CONNELL TO COMPETE IN THE ROSS CUP RACE

Elaborate Arrangements Completed for Courtesy Bay Regatta

THE four-oared crew race here on Saturday afternoon between Halifax and Saint John, together with other events on the programme, marks a revival of inter-city rivalry in this great sport that for generations has flourished in these two communities, and that huge crowds will witness the events is assured. The Mianas crew from Halifax, is rated as among the best, but the local entry, the McGinnis crew from West Saint John, has been practicing faithfully and in these inter-city bouts Saint John is continually handing a surprise to its sister city, where rowing flourishes mightily, with a half a dozen well-organized rowing clubs. Saint John cannot even boast a first-class boathouse in the city, and yet entries have shown marked natural ability. The result of the four-oared event is, therefore, awaited with interest. What kind of a showing can the local boys without any competition do against a crew that has been through several tests this year?

In the Ross memorial cup race, one of the most important of the regatta, of Halifax. Young O'Connell defeated Harry Giggie and Willie Logan at Chatham early in the year but in meeting the Saint John crew he is facing a stiff proposition. Ronald Ingham, Anthony Belyea, Grenville McCarver and possibly Willie Logan will appear against O'Connell and a great race is anticipated.

In the senior singles, Hilton Belyea and Jack Ward, with Giggie as a possible entrant, the program has a good event, while the four-oared race will be between the Mianas, of Halifax, and the McGinnis crew, of West Saint John. Officials have been appointed and all that is needed is clear weather to make the event a big success.

At a meeting of the committee of the Saint John Rowing Club yesterday with the president, J. C. Chesley, in the chair, reports were received.

CARDS INCREASE LEAD IN LEAGUE

Make Gain Although Idle When Pirates Trounce Reds in Double Header

NEW YORK, Sept. 9.—Rogers Hornsby and his fighting clan of St. Louis Cardinals found it profitable to spend today loafing in New York and looking over their prospective world series opponents, the Pirates. The Cards, for without any effort on their part, the Cards found their lead over Cincinnati stretched to three full games away.

The battered Pittsburgh Pirates, clawed about by the leaders in their violent scramble for the National League flag, yesterday slugged the ball to all corners of the lot, taking both ends of a double header, from the Reds, 6 to 1, and 11 to 0. The vicious onslaught brought the Buccaners to within two points of Cincinnati, although the surge may be too late to catch the Cards, three and a half games away.

Youthful blood injected into the world champions line-up had much to do with the twin conquests, although with the Pirates donning fifteen safeties in the first game, and seventeen in the second, neither was ever in doubt. While Lee Meadows, speckled veteran, kept the Reds in subjection in the first, Carmen Hill, late of the American Association, applied the whitewash brush in the second. Fred Bicknell appeared in the Pirates' lineup and gathered three doubles and three singles during the afternoon. The playing of Cronin, a first year second baseman, was spectacular.

The Boston Braves have been kicked around by the rest of the league in the league, but the New York Giants are not among the bullies. By winning the second game of a double header, 2 to 2, after losing the first five to one, the Braves clinched the season series with the New Yorkers, with 12 wins, 9 defeats and one game to play.

WILLIAMS HITS HOMER

Cy Williams was the hero of a ninth inning rally that gave Philadelphia a run and an 8 to 4 win over Brooklyn. Cy belted a homer with the bases loaded, and the score tied at 4 all. The Yankees may have been covering up the style of play that has baffled them seven games ahead of Cleveland. Certainly the visiting Cardinals saw nothing amazing as Lefty Willet cut down the Yankees 5 to 2, to break Boston's losing streak of seven games.

Cleveland met the same instruction at Detroit, losing 10 to 7, when the chance was offered to gain a full game on the Yankees.

Ideals of Amateurism In The Maritimes Must Be Preserved

ARTICLE TWO of the constitution of the Amateur Athletic Union of Canada, as given in the official handbook, is as follows:

1. The encouragement of systematic physical exercise and education in Canada.
2. The improvement, promotion and regulation of athletic sports among amateurs.
3. The incorporation of all eligible amateur athletic organizations in Canada into such separate branches and representation in this Union as may be deemed best adapted to advance the cause of amateur athletics throughout Canada.
4. The establishment and maintenance of allied membership with organizations of general or special jurisdiction and composed of clubs or otherwise designated bodies of individual members, devoted wholly or partially to physical education or to some specialty in athletics.
5. The establishment and maintenance throughout Canada of a uniform test of amateur standing and uniform rules for the government of all athletic sports within its jurisdiction.

No. 6 deals with gymnasia and that concludes the objects.

BUT like the invisible ties that bind together the component parts of the greatest Empire on earth, there is an unwritten constitution—unseen yet powerful in its guidance; unheard, yet speaking with a mighty voice; unfeeling, yet potent in its influence.

At times it may be observed by the personal actors on the stage—actors who pass and are forgotten as the years slip by but who cannot change that unwritten law any more than it can change the course of empire.

It may be summed up in two words:

"Fair Play."

AN athlete may be the greatest athlete in the world; he may win every event he enters; he may receive the ephemeral plaudits of the crowds, but if he wins by trickery, what does it profit him?

Literally, a man may keep every commandment and break them all in spirit. Physically, a man may be a winner. Morally, he can lose all yet win. Paradox as it may be, it is true. Man is a puny thing compared to the vital principles that govern him.

This sounds like a preachment but it is well to state the real truth and get down to fundamentals in such a time as this when the amateur union governing the Maritime Provinces, and particularly New Brunswick, is passing through the fire.

If the M. P. U. has any good in it—and this paper believes it has much that is good—it will be purged of the elements that are holding it back from doing its proper work in this sphere.

If the mold needs re-casting, well and good.

If it is necessary to repair it, let it be done in a spirit of fair play—the basis of amateurism.

THERE are many definitions of an amateur, but the old homely one that an amateur is one who plays for the love of the game goes to the heart of the matter.

For the love of the game and its future, let amateur clubs sink personalities in a desire to do what is right.

It is charged—and this paper has given prominence to these charges—that a wrongful act was committed at the annual meeting of the M. P. U. This cannot be hid under a bushel. The strong searchlight of public opinion in its desire for fair play has centered on this annual meeting and this paper believes it is right in reflecting public opinion to the extent that it has asked for an investigation.

It is necessary and possibly painful at times that personalities must play a large share in doing the work of the Union but a condition of affairs has arisen beyond the control of personalities and the unwritten law now is operating.

Fair play is being demanded in justice to all concerned, to the men who are charged with the responsibility of carrying on this work, to the men who make the charges and those concerned, to the sporting public and every member of every amateur athletic club in the Maritime Provinces.

If the officials in charge believe an inquiry under oath would lead to nowhere in securing a remedy, The Telegraph-Journal suggests to them a special, extraordinary meeting of the M. P. U. to deal with the situation.

It is for the Executive to decide.

But whatever decision is made it must be done with dispatch. The Maritime Union must set its house in order before the next annual meeting of the C. A. A. U. and strangely enough this meeting will be held in Saint John.

In the writer of statements, cross-statements, counter-statements, slurs and innuendoes, the real gap in the wall may be lost sight of and confusion be the result.

Amateurism is here to stay. It is bigger than the men who guide it. So long as there is one boy left in Canada with a love for a game, so long will there be amateurism and what it stands for. But there will be lots of boys for generations to come.

Amateurism stands for something finer than the mere winning and losing. It stands for something better and nobler than its critics give it credit for. They look at the person and lose the truth.

In their hour of trial who are ready to take a firm, determined stand for the good of the game, for the love for the game and for its future.

Let them speak now!

FIFELED STOPS HUMBERT BRADY; PARIS IS VICTOR

Syracuse Boxer Fails to Come Up for Sixth Round

The 1,000 fans who assembled in the Armory last night were pleased with a fight program in which George Fifeled, of Toronto, Canadian welterweight champion, defeated Humbert Brady, of Syracuse, N. Y., in a scheduled ten-round battle, when Brady refused to respond to the bell in the opening of the sixth round on account of a severe injury to his nose.

As far as the fight went it was full of action, both fighters showing plenty of science, gameness and both willing to mix it at all stages. Brady, who was an unknown fighter to local followers of the ring, proved a worthy opponent to the champion and was willing to give and take all kinds of punches and made a hit with his clever boxing and his willingness to swap punches with the Toronto fighter.

While the first and second rounds were about even, Fifeled had a shade in the third and outpointed Brady in the fourth and fifth, especially in the latter round, when he went after Brady, causing considerable damage. With a straight left to the nose he caused the damage that resulted in Brady refusing to leave his corner when the bell sounded for the sixth round.

It is understood that Brady's nose is badly damaged that a great amount of blood was passing into his throat, making it difficult for him to breathe, and there was every chance, it is said, with a heavy punch, that his nose would be broken.

The decision delivered was taken favorably by the large crowd present and all were satisfied that as far as the fight went it was one of the best witnessed in the city some time back. McLeod was the referee; Edward Money and James Neil, judges; Elmer Graham and Sam Gorman, with Charles Gorman master of ceremonies.

Frank O'Leary was the referee of the preliminary and semi-final bouts and these contests proved of interesting, as considerable cleverness and good fighting resulted.

THE PRELIMINARIES

Earl Penney and Bobby Mason appeared in the ring for the preliminary and showed plenty of action in a bout of four two-minute rounds. Penney was awarded the decision on points.

The semi-final was a scheduled six-round bout between Gordon Paris and "Young Dempsey." This bout was full of action and the willingness of both men to mix matters pleased the audience. They were well until the first part of the fourth round when Paris got Phinney on the ropes and with a hard punch to the stomach, followed with hard right and left swings to the jaw, had Phinney wabbling and to prevent a knockout, the referee stopped the bout and gave the award to Paris.

DOYLE DENIES HE CANCELLED BASEBALL GAME HERE MONDAY

SWEEPING denial that he ever cancelled the game scheduled for here on Labor Day between Moncton and the Water Department was made by Samuel F. Doyle, president of the M. P. U., over the long distance telephone yesterday. "I will pay $500 to the long distance telephone company if I gave orders cancelling this game," said President Doyle. Respecting the charges made by A. W. Covey that two professionals sat in at the annual meeting of the M. P. U. at Amherst, President Doyle said he would give his decision shortly.

"I was waiting in Moncton by these two men," said President Doyle yesterday, "and was told by them they would not play two teams in Saint John. I deny absolutely that I told Manager Jarvis of the Moncton team that I had cancelled the game, as related by W. E. Stirling in referring to his brother. I will give $500 to any charitable institution in Saint John if it can be proved that I ever gave orders cancelling this game. As for the charges made by Mr. Covey, there is a certain procedure to follow and I have the matter under advisement."
