OVERHAULING "BIG BEN."
Clock Getting First Cleaning For Eight Years.
London, May 19—(By mail)—"Big Ben" was stopped yesterday, and is to be cleaned and overhauled for the first time for eight years. The hands of the great clock on the next fortnight the chiming will be silent, and the thousands of people who set their watches by the clock each day will miss the services of what is claimed to be the largest and most accurate public clock in the world.

The managing director of Messrs. E. Dent & Co. Limited, who made the clock in 1859, stated yesterday that the cleaning should have been started earlier, but the mechanism had been patched up while Parliament was sitting. From three to six men will be employed in the work, and the cleaning will be done in three sections, starting
