"COOLGARDIE" TO GO TO MAYO IN BRIDAL SUITE

Old-Time Prospector Leaving for North—Expects Much from New Field.

A Vancouver paper says—Going back to what he confidently asserts is "going to produce more in a year than the Klondike ever did," "Coolgardie" Smith, otherwise known as Ernie Smith, miner, prospector, one-time fighter and globe-trotter extraordinary, is leaving for the new Mayo field on Saturday.

And "Coolgardie" Smith is going back in style. He hasn't seen the Yukon since those hectic days of '98, when he was a well known character in a country full of characters. When he joined the famous rush, dropping his pick and shovel in the West Australian fields of Kalgoorlie and Coolgardie to take part in the big stampede, "Coolgardie" Smith was glad to get standing room on a boat headed north. On Saturday he occupies the bridal suite of the C. P. S. S. Princess Alice.

But it isn't because the veteran prospector has become tired to the softness of a city life that he is going back in the best suite the boat affords. "I couldn't get anything else," he explained. "Everything has been taken and if it means I've to be a June bride to get there, why a little thing like that never kept me out of a new field in my life."

He ought to know. Coolgardie Smith has been in every field of note in the world. Thirty years ago he was at the Broken Hill, New South Wales field. Then he took a whirl in South Australia and Queensland. The strikes at Coolgardie and Kalgoorlie in Western Australia found him in the vanguard of the prospectors. He talks the Talk of the South African Rand, and knows the famous blue clay of the diamond fields as well as he knows English Bay beach.

He knows that, too, for Coolgardie is one of the hardy few who takes a walk around Stanley Park and a dip in the Bay every day, despite the fact that they call him a veteran.

Fought All Corners.

The Yukon has seen Coolgardie Smith before. Back in 1898 he fought all corners there. Weight made no difference in the boxing bouts staged in the mining camps. They still tell tales of his exploits in the squared circle there.

"You either could lick him or you couldn't. Weight didn't matter. They just signed you up and you fought them if they were twice your size," he says. Before that he had knocked out the best of the Beer heavyweights around Yukon.

neburg, and in the mining camps of the Rand, and on the Australian diggings he had met boxes of every nationality and size. They say of him that he never lost a fight, and "Coolgardie" Smith claims he is in as good shape today as he was twenty years ago.

He has made several comfortable fortunes in the past, and according to the veteran and his friends he is due to repeat.

Make Big Profit.

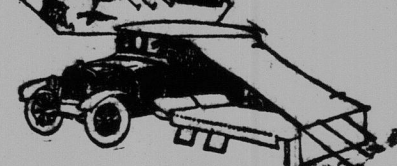

Apparently others who are keenly interested think the field will be big. The Slate Creek Mining Co., Ltd., has taken over $80,000 worth of options alone. The Guggenheims are already operating there, and out of one shipment of 2,300 tons of ore they made over $400,000 at a little better than $100 per ton profit when all expenses were paid. They too have extended their activities and taken a lot of options. The well known Bradley interests have spent over a quarter of a million in taking options alone. There are practically only the three big companies in the field and prospectors are unknown there. That is, at present. For "Coolgardie" Smith and Hugh Harris, one of the best known prospectors in British Columbia, expect to change this, and many old-timers are following their lead.

All Aboard!

Travel Week Commences Monday

Whether the trip you plan to take is short or long, whether you expect to travel by boat, by train, or by motor car, this store is ready to supply you with suitable baggage, wearables and comforts for your journey. It really isn't wise to start away without first looking into such matters as these—they are important and will add greatly to the pleasure of your holidays.

Think You'll Take a Motor Trip?

If so, you're sure to need some of these things:

- Running Board Trunks fitted with two suit cases. These can be conveniently carried on trunk rack at back of car.
- Thermos Bottles, Food Jars, Drinkings Cans, Lunch Kits, and cases fitted for the use of four or six people.
- Reversible Wool Rugs with one side plain and the other plaid.
- Motor covers with or without gauntlet wrists.
- Driving Dusters to save your clothes. Hold-Als and Kit Bags.
- Motor Vests and Scarfs.

If you come in we will show you a lot more things you should have—what is, if you would care to look at them.

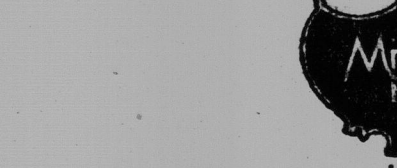

"Incidental"

- Pocket Umbrellas.
- Roll-up Manicure Sets in suede and leather cases.
- Ebony Travelling Sets.
- Fitted Toilet Cases.
- Soap, Face Powder, Cold Cream, Toilet Water, etc.
- Face Cloths and Towels.
- Lots of Handkerchiefs.

By Boat or Train?

Isn't there something you'll need to wear—or to pack in your trunk for use at the end of your journey?

Just a few worth-while suggestions—"let you forget."

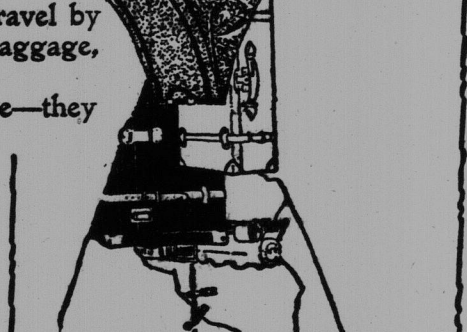

For Men

- A light weight suit tailored to hold its lines throughout the entire trip. We suggest "Society Brand."
- A Palm Beach Suit for the very warm days you are bound to run into.
- White Outing Trousers—or if you expect to be camping or fishing, have some khaki ones.
- A light weight Top Coat, or a "Burberry" Checkered Weatherproof Coat—these are suitable for rain or shine.
- A good fitting Cap.
- A Bath Robe or Dressing Gown.
- Plenty of Neckties and Sport Shirts.
- Non-crease neckties and soft collars.
- A good supply of summer hosiery.
- Knitted Bathing Suit.
- Pyjamas—the one-piece sleeping garment.

For Women

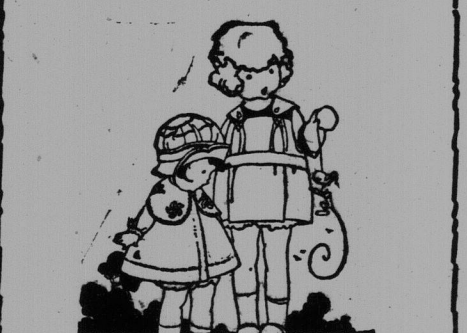

- A Soft Sport Hat of Velour, ribbon or a pretty mixture of hemp and wool.
- You may choose from many shapes and colors.
- A Pretty Wood Sweater to make you comfortable and to wear with your sport skirts.
- A Homespun or Flannel Sport Skirt.
- A few Washable Dresses of different types. There are varieties here suitable for any hour of the day.
- Many changes of Fine White or Dainty colored Lingerie; also a good supply of summer weight knitted underwear.
- A Bathing Suit and Cap.
- Enough Hosiery to save you darning.
- Gloves of silk, kid or fabric; short and long.
- A loose fitting "Burberry" Coat for all kinds of weather.
- A light weight Kimono or silk breakfast coat.
- A good sized Hand Bag to hold all sorts of things.

You'll Need Baggage Won't You?

And when you're buying, the best plan is to buy it of such reliable quality it will stand the strain of many a journey. That's the kind we sell here.

Steamer Trunks, Wardrobe Trunks, General Purpose Trunks, Suit Cases, Travelling Bags and Hat Boxes, in sizes and kinds to best suit your needs.

If You're Going to Take the Children, We Can Fit Them Out, Too.

For Girls—Summery Frocks, Underwear, Sweaters, Hats, Knit Knickers and Mittens and accessories are here in pleasing assortments.

For Boys—Blouses, Wash Suits, Stockings, Overalls, Knit Pants, Clothing and furnishings are showing in the boys' shops.
