Through the kindness of Mrs. B. C. Paxton I have been able to see the play entitled "Her Unborn Child." From the first to the last moment my attention was held and my interest increased until the plot unfolded. It is one of the most impressive productions that I have ever witnessed and cannot fail to do good. It is most timely in its lessons when dangerous teachings are being propagated regarding birth control. It teaches the sacredness of life, the sacredness of motherhood, the sacredness of sex relationships. It seeks to promote a greater confidence and fellowship between parents and children and to impress the necessity of self-control during the most susceptible and critical period in the lives of young people.

I hope that arrangements can be made to have the play produced in every city and town in the Dominion. (Signed) E. I. HART.

Calvary Church, 4201 Dorchester Street, Montreal, April 2, 1918. To Whom it May Concern—

It is with pleasure that I take the opportunity of commending the play "Her Unborn Child" which I have seen in this city and taken friends to witness during the past week or ten days. The subject treated is a difficult one to stage, but it has done in a truly successful fashion. There is not a trace of indecency from first to last. In these days when the stage is becoming so powerful to enforce moral lessons, its presentation throughout the Dominion can do but good. Mrs. Paxton has given herself to the task of propaganda with the ardour of a crusader, and every lover of Canada should be thankful that the subject is in hands that are so capable. (Signed) T. W. DAVIDSON. Minister of Calvary Congregational Church.

MR. JOHN H. ROBERTS, Montreal play censor, temperance reformer and president of the Dominion Alliance, arrives from Montreal today and will have something of interest to say about this remarkable drama which will be most convincing to those who are surprised at the unusual title.

CONVINCING EVIDENCE

Vancouver, B. C., June 29. Mr. George L. Driscoll,

His Majesty's Theatre, Montreal, P. Q.

Dear Sir—"Her Unborn Child," now playing in this city, is best play of season. Title is bold but play is moral and highly approved. Nothing of an offensive character appears in the play.

CHAS. E. JONES, License Inspector.

To the President of the Y. W. C. T. U. Montreal, April 14, 1918. Toronto, Ont.

It is with great pleasure that I add my testimony of appreciation to the many others that have been published re the play "Her Unborn Child" which has recently been so splendidly put on in our city. Mrs. Paxton is to be congratulated on being so successful in introducing a subject in such a delicate, though convincing way, which has so long been ignored by our educationalists. While the cast is an excellent one, and the attention of the audience is held spell-bound by the intensely interesting plot, the lesson of the solemn duty of motherhood and of manly honor, is also conveyed in a way to leave a lasting impression.

All young people of either sex should hear this play, which would impress them as neither book, lecture or sermon could do, towards building up a strong, pure manhood and womanhood. (Signed) DOROTHY M. SPROULE.

DECARIE BEST AT WEIGHT-LIFTING Carried Off the Honors by a Margin of 207 Pounds in Two Nights Montreal, April 24—By lifting a total of 1,787 pounds in eight feats of strength, Decarie, of Sorel Park, Hector Decarie won the honors by a margin of 207 pounds over Gendron, his nearest competitor. Decarie outdid his opponents in the majority of the tests on both nights. Although beaten for the honors, Gendron, who weighs only 145 pounds, being the smallest man in the contest, made even a more remarkable showing than the winner, who is a much larger and more experienced man. In the second feat Decarie established what is claimed a new world's record, raising a bar-bell weighing 150 pounds, eight times from the shoulder. The exhibition given by Travis, the winner of the Brooklyn tournament, was most impressive. Lying on his back he raised with his feet a piano with two men on it, and at the same time with his hands he lifted a bar-bell with three men on it, giving him a total lift of over 2,000 pounds. His finger lift was his best effort. He lifted 501 pounds with one finger, which is close to the world's record.
