

MC 2035 POOR DOCUMENT

THE EVENING TIMES AND STAR, ST. JOHN, N. B., WEDNESDAY, OCTOBER 29, 1913

SOME EMBLEMS OF HALLOWE'EN

(Montreal Mail)
Young people like to celebrate Halloween and begin early to make their preparations. Black cardboard is almost indispensable and is most effective for decorations. Bats and witches, brooms and cats and owls fastened over the lamp shades or hanging by threads over curtains change the looks of a room completely.
If one is skilful in carving it is very easy to make roses and asters from turnips, keeping them white or coloring with beet juice. These could be used most effectively on the table. There must be plenty of mountain ash and much that is yellow worked into the decorations, because both of these are disliked by the witches. Instead of the usual Jack-o-lanterns there might be one, at least, made into a head and face. Remove the rind of the pumpkin and carve as if from stone.

Green and yellow cucumbers, large carrots, parsnips or beets can be converted into very effective candle-sticks for the table. Be sure they stand firmly and hold the candle well.

A few suggestions follow for good things for the supper.
Creamed oysters in individual shells.
Scalloped Oysters in individual shells.
Oyster salad in hollowed cabbage shell.
Cabbage and nut salad.
Potato salad in red pepper cases.

Corned beef, pickled tongue, boiled ham, all sliced thin.
Doughnuts, ginger snaps, cream cakes, chocolate filling.
Ginger ale and mint punch.
Sweet cider.
Red apples, nuts, grapes, peanut brittle, popcorn, toasted marshmallows.
Brown bread sandwiches, cheese sandwiches.
Pickles, olives, celery.

Try This Treatment For Hairy Growth

(Helps to Beauty.)
A single application of a paste made by mixing together a little powdered dichrome and water and applied to objectionable hairs for about 2 or 3 minutes, then rubbed off, takes with it every trace of hair or fuzz. The skin should then be washed to free it from the remaining paste and it will be firm and spotless. This is a quick, painless treatment, but its success depends greatly on using fresh dichrome, which can be purchased only in original packages.

WOMEN MAKE SCATHING ATTACK ON MRS. PANKHURST

Washington, Oct. 29.—The headquarters of the National Association opposed to women suffrage, has issued a scathing attack on Mrs. Pankhurst, declaring that by her actions she is fostering instead of combating the social evil.
The statement concludes: "Her conduct since she was allowed to enter this country a week ago has been anything but encouraging to the people who are earnestly fighting the white slave traffic."

Stomach, Nerves and Throat Restored by Grape-Nuts Food.

The number of persons whose ailments were such that no other food could be retained at all, is large and reports are on the increase.
"For 12 years I suffered from dyspepsia, finding no food that did not distress me," writes a Western lady. "I was reduced from 145 to 90 lbs., gradually growing weaker until I could leave my bed only a short while at a time, and became unable to speak aloud."
"Three years ago I was attracted by an article on Grape-Nuts and decided to try it.
"My stomach was so weak I could not take cream, but I used Grape-Nuts with milk and lime water. It helped me from the first, bulking up my system in a manner most astonishing to the friends who had thought my recovery impossible.
"Soon I was able to take Grape-Nuts and cream for breakfast and lunch at night, with an egg and Grape-Nuts for dinner.
"I am now able to eat fruit, meat and nearly all vegetables for dinner, but fondly continue Grape-Nuts for breakfast and supper.
"At the time of beginning Grape-Nuts I could scarcely speak a sentence without changing words around or 'talking crooked' in some way but I have become so strengthened that I no longer have that trouble." Name given by Canadian Postum Co., Windsor, Ont.
"There's a reason" and it is explained in the little book "The Road to Wellville," in pinks.
Ever read the above letter? A new one appears from time to time. They are genuine, true, and full of human interest.

WHAT PARIS MEANS TO THE AMERICAN DESIGNER

BY MME. OEOILE DILLON

Editor's Note—Mme. Dillon is one of America's cleverest dressmakers. She visits Paris every year and has just returned after her trip to the great houses on the other side.

Most of my patrons are of the generous figure type—the type that Paul Poiret says should go to a doctor and not to him—but when I have dressed them in proper modification of perhaps a Poiret design they look more charming than any woman of fashion that I saw in Paris.

The new skirts which have much room about the hips and are very narrow about the bottom. When a gown is cut properly in this style it will be found that a deep slit at the bottom is not needed.

Almost all gowns will have some kind of a tunic or overdress and fur will be worn more than in any other season that I have known.

Personally, I think the tendency is toward hoop-skirts, although many of the Paris designers are showing Oriental trousers. Many of the tunics are already wired about the hips and it is logical to think that this stiffening will droop towards the feet.

All fabrics are of the softest possible description. The new material called duvetine is like a piece of chamois skin. Plush and velvet will be much worn. Whole velvet gowns and wraps being perhaps the most fashionable mode of the winter.

Very few trains are seen even on evening dresses and in Paris one house is trying to introduce a train on the front of the dress which lies between the feet and out behind. I do not think this will become popular on this side.

This is to be a color season. The brightest of colors will be worn even in the street. Brick-red, flame-yellow, emerald-green, yellow-brown, kings-blue and all the "sharp" tints will be worn.

MRS. LEES, MAYOR

City Beautifying, Tree Planting, Abolishment of Slums Her Ideals

Mrs. Lees, Mayor of Oldham, England, has done a wonderful work in what has been called the ugliest city in Great Britain. The Literary Digest says that the faith that industrial communities need not be ugly, and that the homes of unskilled workers need not be slums in the germ, is impressed by her notable example. The tenure of Mrs. Lees inaugurated a new impulse toward civic improvement. "Beautiful Oldham" was the motto she gave to young and old alike in her efforts to change the outward aspect of physical conditions. As Mary E. McDowell pictures her in The Continent (Chicago), Mrs. Lees seems to be endowed with religious zeal, a reformer's energy, and a saving sense of humor. She had three strikes on her hands at one time, yet did not call out the militia. She settled the strike of the municipal street railways after, as she said, "we had talked thirteen hours, she laughed together." Her story as Miss McDowell gives it, runs in this way: "Oldham is monotonously ugly, and more hopelessly ugly than is the Chicago stock-yards district, for our houses are temporary, while theirs are of stone, well built and permanent. We talked about this town of 47,000 people, mostly textile mill-hands, are the great mills with their tall chimneys that pour their smoke over the place, adding gloom to the monotony. When, twelve years before, Mrs. Lees's husband died, leaving her with a fortune made from cotton weaving, she told her daughters that they were free to leave Oldham if they wished and she would go with them. But with that fine sense of social obligation that seems to have developed best in the older communities, they said: "No, we must not go away. We owe it to Oldham to stay here and serve her."

SAINT LUKE'S MISSION

In spite of the heavy rain last evening, there was the usual large congregation present to hear the missionary, Mr. Newton, deal with the interesting subject, "The Plan of Salvation" based on the text, Exod. 12-18, "When I See the Blood I Will Pass Over You." In the Passover, to which this text refers, the lamb was to be slain and its blood sprinkled on the door posts of their dwellings and, seeing this, the angel of death would pass over.
This sets forth the truth of how suffering is connected with sin, and how that in the deliverance from the sin substitution is necessary. This principle of substitution, where one life takes the place of another, is common in history and experience and therefore ought not to be so difficult of acceptance. Why some people object to the substitutionary theory of atonement is really the fact that they are trusting upon their own merits, while the plain teaching of the scripture is that we must trust solely for our redemption on the merits of the crucified Christ.
There are 81 women employed as railway brakemen in the United States and ten as baggage-men.

WINDSOR

USE THE WANT AD. WAY

Scientific Wrinkle Remover Easily Made

(From Ladies' Favorite Magazine.)
A few dermatologists have long held the secret that a certain product, known to the drug trade as saxolite, had the property when used in solution, of instantly reducing wrinkles. Any one can readily make this same solution by dissolving an ounce of powdered saxolite in a half pint of witch hazel. Bathe the face in this—and note the immediate transformation! The skin tightens, becomes firmer—deepest wrinkles at once begin to smooth out. This action will of course also reduce hanging cheeks or double chin.
When the hands show signs of aging, the skin becoming coarse, creased or flabby, bathe them in the solution. Since the recent publication of this formula, men and women all over the country have taken advantage of the information, according to reports, with most satisfactory results.
